high lights of the legislative week opening tonight at 9 o'clock are likely to be:

1. The hearing on the Pittsburgh Metropolitan charter bill fore the Senate Judiciary General Committee Tuesday afternoon.
2. Approval by the Senate of the voting machine bill of Senator Frank J. Harris, Pittsburgh.
3. A continuation of the fight against the boost of the gasoline tax from 3 to 4 cents, as proposed by the Fisher administration and Republican organization leaders.
4. Action in the House on the first aeronautic program of legislation ever presented here, including the Howe bill providing $15,000,000 for landing fields in the mountains of Pennsylvania.

CHARTER ASSURED

The decision of W. L. Mellon and other Republican organization leaders to push the Pittsburgh charter through the legislature is generally regarded here as insuring the pass-

6th Ward Alderman Not Yet Selected

HARRISBURG, Pa., March 25.—Gov. Fisher said today that he has made no decision on the appointment of an alderman in the Sixth Ward, Pittsburgh, to succeed P. J. Sullivan, elected to Congress. Only two names have been suggested to his office—John P. McGuire, a relative of Sullivan, and Thomas Slapinsky, secretary of the Polish Board of Trade. William E. Hillgrove, for many years chief lieutenant of the Sullivan forces in the ward and now assistant chief clerk of the Senate, also is an aspirant.

over Dakar between 10 and 11 o'clock this morning had not been sighted by three o'clock this afternoon, but no anxiety was felt as it was thought possible that the machine may have started out over the Atlantic.

The proposed route was Cape Spartel, Cape Juby, Saint Louis and Daker, the pilot intending to land at Dakar only if weather conditions were unfavorable for an immediate attempt to cross the South Atlantic.

It was estimated that the flight from Seville to Pernambuco would take about 33 hours and that consequently the plane would be due along the Brazilian coast about 10 a. m. tomorrow.

The fliers left Seville in a secret take-off yesterday afternoon at 5:42 (2:42 p. m Eastern Standard time) in their Spanish-made airplane, Jesus Del Gran Poder." They have not been reported since.

Their course lay down the west coast of Northern Africa to Capo Blanco, Mauritania, thence across the open ocean probably to Pernambuco, Brazil, by way of the Cape Verde Islands.

OHIO KIDNAPER GETS 20 YEARS

WOOSTER, O., March 25.—Elias Arnold, convicted of kidnaping in the disappearance of 4-year-old Melvin Horst, of Orrville, O., today was sentenced to 20 years in the Ohio Penitentiary. His son, Arthur, convicted on the same charge, was sent to Mansfield Reformatory for an indeterminate term.

Before pronouncing sentence, Judge Starn refused motions for a new trial. The defense indicated that it would appeal to a higher court.

BEAUTY BELIEVED 'BROKE' WILLS FIANCE FORTUNE

NEW YORK, March 25.—(INS.)—The reading of the will of Leila Whitehead, mysterious Texas beauty, who died suddenly Thursday in her palatial Forest Hills home, was indefinitely postponed today when a sister, Mrs. Harris Fondren, collapsed in the office of Attorney Bennett H. Siegelstein upon hearing of the death of another sister in Texas. Mrs. Fondren was confined to her suite at the Hotel McAlpin.

The will was to have been opened today in the presence of Mrs. Fondren and James D. Collins, Miss Whitehead's fiance. Siegelstein, the dead woman's attorney, believes the estate will total $250,000.

Siegelstein's statement is scarcely compatible with assertions made by Collins, who declared the woman was in penury just before her death and had been obliged to take a $15,000 mortgage on her home. Collins, who was a co-occupant of the Forest Hills home, and who benefits from her estate, according to Siegelstein, salu he planned to marry Miss Whitehead as soon as he obtained a divorce, petition for which is on file in Connecticut.

Collins said the girl's step-uncle, John Henry Kirby, multi-millionaire lumberman of Houston, Tex., had cut off an allowanc when he learned of her affection for Collins and of the fact that Collins had been living in the Forest Hills home.

HEAT MARK, 84, RECORD HERE

The heat record for this date and for the month of March were topped by a wide margin this afternoon when the mercury rose to 84 degree.

Up to today the highest point of the mercury on March 25, was 77 degrees in 1916. The previous March high record was 83 recorded March 24, 1910, according to Forecaster W. S. Brotzman.

Light clouds overcast the sky and probably kept the thermometer from mounting to a midsummer mark of the upper eighties, the weather bureau said.

Showers are predicted for tonight. With their arrival the temperature will drop. Much colder weather will follow tomorrow, Brotzman said.

Lindy Lands During Storm; Resumes Trip

GLENDALE, Cal., March 25.—(INS.)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh was flying "northward" from here today, his destination, as usual, unannounced. The Lone Eagle bounded down on Grand Central Airport here last night just as a fierce hailstorm broke over the field. Half an hour later he climbed back into the cockpit and headed north.

ing 4,000 gallons of alcohol and whisky on the second floor, was raided by Federal prohibition enforcement headquarters in the Plaza building.

The place is located in the rear of a vacant store room at 518 Wylie avenue.

Directly behind the store room is a pool room, and back of the pool room was the bar. The raiders said the found whisky and beer in large quantities behind the bar.

In one corner of the basement the cutting plant was found containing esveral hundred gallons of alcohol and moonshine whisky. The brewery was located in another part of the cellar, which also contained 100 or more cases of "high-powered" beer, according to the dry agents.

Hugh Donnelly, alleged door man, Pat Farrell, bartender, and Pat Hays, brewmaster, all of 70 Chatham street, were arrested. Prohibition agents declared they were searching for two proprietors.

Lita Refuses to Talk Of Ex-Spouse Charlie

NEW YORK, March 25.—(INS.)—"I'd rather not discuss Charlie. It is a very touchy subject with me and still a sore spot."

A pained expression crossed the face of pretty Lita Gray Chaplin today when, as she arrived here for a vaudeville engagement, reporters asked her about a widely-circulated report that she and Charlie Chaplin are about to be reconciled. She refused to talk about the comedian, and denied a story that she has been engaged to Roy D'Arcy, film star, and that they had quarreled.

TOWN MENACED BY BRUSH FIRE

UNIONTOWN, Pa., March 25.—Scores of residents of Upper Middletown, eight miles from Uniontown, turned out today to combat a gigantic brush fire which for a time threatened the entire town of about 500 inhabitants.

The volunteer fire fighting squad was composed of men and women who worked frantically for hours to save the town. The situation became so serious this afternoon that the Uniontown Fire Department was called.

Several buildings in the outskirts of the town caught fire, but they were extinguished with only slight loss. For a time, it was feared that the village would be destroyed.

Lady Heath Lands At Penna. Airport

MIDDLETOWN, Pa., March 25.—(AP.)—Lady Heath, flying alone, landed at the United States Army Airport Depot Field here this morning. After a brief stop for lunch, she planned to continue her flight to an unannounced designation, weather conditions permitting.

EXLER ACCUSED AGAIN BY GIRL

On accusations of a 6-year-old girl, Edward Exler, 41, of 920 Madison avenue, was held for court yesterday by Morals Court Magistrate A. D. Brandon. The child was a witness against him.

Exler was released from prison last April after serving a sentence for attacking a young girl in a similar case. Because of the extreme youth of the girl involved in the present case and the nature of the charges, the Sun-Telegraph will not publish her name.

In his trial in connection with the attack on the first girl, Lillian Schadle, 12, in 1912, Exler was convicted of murder and sentenced to hang. Higher courts set the verdict aside, and he was reindicted and convicted on a lesser charge. The girl's body was found at the bottom of the Fall Hollow reservoir, bordering Ardmore boulevard. It was the sequel, the state established, of a visit by Lillian to Exler's butcher shop in East Pittsburgh two days before.

TO BE BURIED TOMORROW

PHILADELPHIA, March 25.—(AP.)—Samuel Rea, who rose from chainman in a Pennsylvania Railroad engineer corps to the presidency of the great railway system, will be buried from the Bryn Mawr Presbyterian Church tomorrow at 4 p. m.

With his wife and daughter at his bedside, he died yesterday at his home in Ardmore, a suburb, of heart disease. He was 73 years old and had been ill several weeks.

BEGAN WORK AT 12

Mr. Rea retired from the presidency of the Pennsylvania in 1925, after 54 years of almost continuous service and nine days after he had celebrated his seventieth birthday.

A son of a colonial Pennsylvania family, he started work in 1867 when he was 12 years old, as a clerk in a store in his native town of Hollidaysburg. Four years later he entered the service of the Pennsylvania Railroad as chainman on a branch line. His advancement was steady, and in 1912 he was elected president of the system.

BUILT RIVER TUNNELS

One of his outstanding achievments was the construction of the Pennsylvania tunnels under the Hudson and East Rivers at New York. For this work the University of Pennsylvania, Princeton and Lafayette College gave him honorary degrees.

After his retirement as president of the railroad he continued as a director of the Pennsylvania and served other companies, and became active in regional planning work as it affects this city and vicinity. In 1926 he received the Franklin medal from the Franklin Institute, considered one of the highest awards that can be conferred upon an engineer.

NEW LOVE LETTERS LIKELY TO BE READ IN INMAN TRIAL

RENO, Nev., March 25.—(INS.)—Promising to go down in the records of this mecca of quick and easy divorce as the longest and most bitterly contested marital battle ever staged here, the trial of the suit of Walker P. Inman, wealthy Duke tobacco fortune heir, against Helene Garnet Patton Inman, daughter of a Kokomo (Ind.) minister, was to be resumed today before Judge George A. Bartlett.

All sessions of the case, one of the first in years to be heard by a jury, have been held behind closed doors.

Mrs. Inman is to press her cross-suit for divorce in which she seeks a property settlement of $250,000.

Through Charles Miller, former chauffeur of Mrs. Inman, counsel for Mrs. Inman brought out that Juva Marconi, noted dancer and recent Reno divorcee, had been a frequent visitor at Inman's Reno apartment during his year and a half residence here.

Mrs. Sarah McKenna, of Brooklyn, witness for Inman, also was questioned regarding alleged attention to her on the part of Inman. These she denied.

It was reported today that Inman might seek to introduce further letters in the case. Two already introduced were poetic love letters allegedly written to Mrs. Inman by John Steele, the actor, who witnesses for Inman have declared Mrs. Inman described as a "lovely fellow" and a "marvelous lover."

vation.

Flying over a hill, part of a wing of the plane was torn off by a tree. The pilot tried to gain altitude, but turned over, crashing to earth against a tree stump. The machine was wrecked.

The bodies were badly mangled. All the men were well dressed and the pilot had evidently been giving a demonstration.

REBELS ROUTED IN MEXICO

MEXICO CITY, March 25.—(INS.)—With Federal troops still holding Mazatlan, after repulsing and inflicting heavy losses upon the rebel force which has beleaguered the city for more than two days, two new government offensives began today for the subjugation of the rebellion in the states of Sinaloa, Sonora and Chihuahua.

At dawn today, General Lazaro Cardenas, leading an expeditionary force of 12,000 Federal troops, moved northward out of Tepic, capital of the State of Nayarit, and headed for Sinaloa and Sonora, with the extermination of the rebels besieging Mazatlan as his first objective.

MARCH ON JIMINEZ

Almost simultaneously, Gen. J. Andreu Almazan, leading 13,000 troops, set out from Bermejillo, in the northwestern part of the state of Durango, and headed for Jiminez, Chihuahua, where the main body of rebels, who recently evacuated Torreon, are still believed to be concentrated.

Gen. Carrillo estimated fully one-fourth of the rebel force under Gen. Roberto Cruz, or about 1,200 men, had been wiped out in repeated attacks upon the federal entrench-

MORE THAN MILLION MOURN AT BIER OF MARSHAL FOCH

FIRE IN MINE DELAYS INQUIRY

Flames flared up again today in the blasted Kinloch mine, and delayed the three investigations into the explosion that took 46 lives.

The fire was reported in a butt a quarter of a mile from the mine's mouth and state, county and federal authorities, ready to begin the investigation, were held up until the flames were subdued.

The flames beaten, the investigators prepared to enter the mine this afternoon. W. J. McGregor, state mine inspector, estimated that four days would be required to complete the investigation.

Twenty acres along the left faces are already sealed. This work was completed yesterday afternoon after more than 36 hours arduous labor. Stoppings were set in for a distance of nearly 5,000 feet. All entries in the fire zone were bricked up to shut off the supply of air.

This work completed, the crews began laying pipe to the repaired pumps in the back of the mine Sunday afternoon.

FUNERALS HELD

It is problematical whether authorities will begin their investigation before the entire fire area is sealed. Neither J. J. Forbes, chief of the safety division of the Bureau of Mines, nor Coroner H. F. Harkins, of Westmoreland County, could be reached this morning.

Nearly a score of funerals were held at Kinloch yesterday, while thousands of sightseers jammed the roads for miles around the little mining village. Two extra squads of state highway patrolmen under Lieut. William Bender and Sergt. H. F. Oldham were on duty coping with one of the worst traffic jams in the history of the Allegheny Valley. Additional funerals are being held today.

Automobiles, jammed radiator to tail light, packed the roads for miles up and down both sides of the Allegheny River in an endless procession which lasted from early afternoon until late evening.

SPROUL AIDS RELIEF

The new "Glory Barn" of Evangelist John W. Sproul, in New Kensington, contributed $109 to the families of stricken miners today, receipts of a special appeal made in the tabernacle yesterday.

Under direction of C. L. Greenlee, general field representative of the Red Cross, three workers of the Pittsburgh chapter, Mercedes Klower, Gertrude Ernest and Charlotte Johnson, today began a canvass to determine the needs of miners' families. Salvation Army workers were helping supply needed food and clothing. Compensation will not be available under the state compensation act before two weeks, it was said.

PLANES TO BOMB REBELS

TORREON, Coahuila, Mexico, March 25.—(AP.)—A federal air force of nine planes was ordered today to bomb the rebel concentration camps at Jimenez and Escalon. Three of the planes were the three Corsair bombers which arrived yesterday from Laredo.

It was hoped to give the rebels bombardment of a sort which has been hitherto impossible because of lack of properly equipped machines, a deficiency remedied with yesterday's arrivals.

MORROW REPORTS

WASHINGTON, March 25.—(AP.)—Ambassador Morrow, at Mexico City, told Secretary Kellogg over the telephone today that he understood the besieged city of Mazatlan still to be in possession of federal troops and that the fighting was over for the present.

Beauty Breaks Three Parasols on Mashers

NEW YORK, March 25.—Worn out by the exertion of shattering three umbrellas over the mashers' heads, Reena Elettel, beauty prize winner, called a policeman when a fourth accosted her. She told the judge she was too tired to hit him.

RIVER VETERAN, 50, IN FRAIL SKIFF, HERO AT HARRIMAN

HARRIMAN, Tenn., March 25.—(AP.)—Tom Atkens, 50-year-old riverman, according to friends and neighbors, emerged the outstanding hero of the tragedy enacted here yesterday when 20 persons were swept to death in the whirling flood waters of Emory River.

Atkens single-handed and in a frail skiff that in normal times would not have been considered safe in a mill pond shoved off into the most vicious torrents ever seen in the valley and carried a dozen persons to safety from their perches in tree tops and on roofs of buildings which were tumbling down stream.

His most thrilling act was his attempted rescue of Lon Branam and his family. Their little home was swept from its foundation and was hurtling down stream when Branam managed to place his wife and one child on the roof.

Atkens spied Branam's wife and child and put out against great odds to bring them ashore. He was unable to close the gap fast enough and they went down together just as the skiff reached their side. Turning he rowed to the opposite side of the pier where he saw human forms in treetops and snatched the four children of Jim Wright from death.

More than once the craft was pulled near struggling men and women only to have them disappear. He would then change his course and turn to another.

Bob Underwood, who operated a coal yard near the river, awoke to find the water in his home, he hauled his own family to safety with a team and wagon, calling warnings as he went. He then went back with the wagon to bring out others, but never returned.

Grace Whalen, night telephone operator, also was credited with saving many lives by remaining at her post and spreading the alarm.

TWO FAMILIES MERGED IN MARRIAGE

MR. AND MRS. FRANK PESTER, MR. AND MRS. ERNEST ARTIS, MR. AND MRS. BERNARD EDGAR

THE REV. D. B. HARVEY

The Rev. D. B. Harvey, evangelist, performed an efficient wedding ceremony at Mack mine, near Waynesburg, when he married Frank Pester and Mrs. Minera Artis; Ernest Artis, Mrs. Artis' son, and Bessie Pester, Mr. Pester's daughter, and Clementine Pester, another daughter, and Bernard Edgar, somewhat of an outsider though a happy bridegroom.

EX-DRY AGENT GETS SECOND PRISON TERM

Today, for the second time in 10 days, Daniel McLaughlin, former prohibition agent and reputed official liquor distributor of the Twenty-first ward, was given a prison term for dry law violations.

Indicted in the county grand jury probe, McLaughlin pleaded no defense to a charge of violating the Snyder act before Judge James B. Drew in Criminal Court and was sentenced to serve six months in the county jail and to pay a fine of $1,000.

On March 16 he was sentenced to two years in the federal prison at Atlanta and to pay a $5,000 fine in Federal Court following his conviction in the North Side rum ring conspiracy prosecution. He was taken today from jail where he is awaiting removal to Atlanta to enter his plea. The jail sentence will take effect following his federal penitentiary term.

Bernard Loeffler pleaded no defense to dry law violations and was fined $100 by Judge Drew. Loeffler was a witness before the county grand jury. His place in Tripoli street was raided by county detectives November 19.

Sleuths Get Suspect In Hit-Run Fatality

WASHINGTON, Pa., March 25.—Curry Butcher, 26, arrested at Ellsworth, Washington county, was turned over to Allegheny County detectives yesterday in connection with a fatal hit-and-run case between Oakmont and Harmarville March 2. Butcher is said to have admitted being in a car which struck and fatally injured a pedestrian, but denied he was driving the car.

De Rivera Too Old For Job, He Avers

MADRID, March 25.—(AP.)—Primo De Rivera, chief of the Spanish directorate, feels that he is no longer young enough to remain at the head of the present regime. The dictator has issued a semi-official note foretelling a change in government and stating that he was not young enough to continue for another five years at his post.

Pfarr, Fire Marshal 16 Years, Renamed

Sixteen years ago today Thomas L. Pfarr was appointed fire marshal of Allegheny County.

Today, on the anniversary, Pfarr was reappointed by Judge James H. Gray.

AMERICAN FLIER, PRISONER OF REBELS, SAYS HE'S O. K.

NOGALES, Ariz., March 25.—(AP.)—Negotiations for the release of King (Buzzy) Morrison, American aviator who was captured by Mexican revolutionaries, were under way here today.

Morrison had been employed to fly for the Federal army at Naco, Sonora. He was taken prisoneer Saturday when he made a forced landing behind the rebel lines.

The flier sent a message through the Associated Press to his parents in Reno, Nev., yesterday. His message was:

"I am o. k. Being treated royally by the rebels. Love, Buzzy."

Harry Karns, mayor of Nogales, said Morrison probably would be turned over to United States authorities here.

Morrison is the son of Dr. S. G. Morrison, of Reno, and is well known in Denver and St. Louis aviation circles. He is 24 years old.

Prince of Monaco Scared by Mob, Grants Pleas

MONTE CARLO, March 25.—(AP.)—The champions of "Monaco for the Monseques" and not for the exploiters of the Casino won a sweeping victory yesterday, much to their own surprise. A party of disgruntled citizens, proceeding with a petition to Prince Louis who rules the tiny principality, clashed with 40 policemen and soundly beat the forces of law and order under the very windows of the ancestral palace of the Prince.

3 DIE AT CHARLOTTE, N. C.

Two men and a woman were burned to death when a plane burned after going into a spin at 150 feet above the Charlotee (N. C.) municipal airport. The dead were Mrs. J. G. Galloway, 22; Frederick Kendrick, 36, student pilot, both of Charlotte, and George L. Vickery, of Highlands, N. C., the pilot. Hundreds of Sunray excursionists saw the accdent.

Captain Arnold R. Rasmussan, 33, adjutant of the Forty-third Aviation Division, Connecticut National Guard, was killed when his plane fell to the roadway within 50 feet of his home at Waterbury. His passenger, Frances H. Smyth, was injured. A dead motor, failing in a high wind, is believed to have caused the tragedy.

A plane piloted by Walter C. Knudsen went into nosedive at 1,000 feet and crashed near Detroit. John Ralston, a passenger, was killed. The pilot is in the hospital in a serious condition.

STUNT BRINGS CRACKUP

Clarence Brown, 22, a naval reserve pilot, put his plane into a loop at St. Louis and didn't bring it out. Brown and his passenger, John D. Pursell, 44, a student pilot, were seriously injured in a 1,000 foot fall.

A Marine Corps hospital plane cracked up on the take off at Charleston Navy Yard. Maj. Edwin H. Brainard, pilot, and his mechanic, Master Sergt. Melchern, escaped with minor injuries. The plane, bound for Port Au Prince, Haiti, was wrecked.

Flying low because of a heavy fog, an airplane piloted by Lieut. Frank G. Fake, knocked down a radio aerial on a housestop in Baltimore and then made a forced landing nearby. Fake and his passenger, Capt. Arthur B. Cook, assigned to the S. S. Langley, were unhurt and were to continue their flight when the fog lifted. The plane was not damaged.

Found Unconscious In Street Near Home

Suffering deep cuts about the head, John Lesko, 30, of 1129 Washington street, Braddock, was found unconscious on the sidewalk near his home early today. Braddock police believe that the man was beaten by footpads.

Lesko is still unconscious at the Braddock General Hospital. He suffered a probable fracture of the skull. Except for the head wounds, there were no signs that might indicate that Lesko had been waylaid by highwaymen.

PIRATE TRAINER CLAIM DENIED

The Pittsburgh Athletic Company, owners of the Pirate baseball club, through Secretary Samuel E. Watters, today denied it had made any contract with William Humphrey, of the North Side, for training service with the club this season. The denial was made in affidavits of defense filed in Federal Court in answer to Humphrey's suit for $5,250.

About two weeks ago, Attorney Thomas E. Whitten, counsel for Humphrey, filed suit against the athletic company for breach of contract, charging that Humphrey was to be paid $150 a week for the training season and also throughout the playing season.

Mike Chambers, trainer of the 1928 United States Olympic squad, is the club trainer now.

MAYOR'S TEN GALLONS

The Mayor of the City of Pittsburgh today sports a 10-gallon hat—or maybe it's for 20 gallons. One Mr. Tom Mix, hero of the western movie, presented it to him at City Hall.

CAPT. GOLDEN ARRESTED IN AUTO CRASH

Charles F. Golden, former city fire captain, who served a jail term for vote cheating in the 1927 elections, ran afoul of the law again today. He was arrested on a charge of reckless driving after a car driven by him had collided with the machine of John Podeska, of New Eagle, Pa., in West Carson street.

On the West End Police Station blotter it was noted that Golden had been driving a car bearing license plates No. 36-695, lent him by Mrs. Lucy Campbell, of 1400 Irwin avenue. A few hours earlier a car bearing that license number had been reported as stolen to North Side police by Ollie Edwards, of 1400 Irwin avenue, city fireman, who said he was the owner.

In the collision, Mrs. Palmyra Vanetti, 30, of 1311 Justine street, a passenger in Podeska's car was cut and bruised. She was taken to the South Side Hospital.

age of some such bill. It will not be the one prepared by the metropolitan commission, but will include the scores of changes agreed upon by Allegheny County officials and politicians at recent conferences. Representative John A. Rhodes has openly announced his intention of opposing any charter measure and an effort is being made to stir up opposition, but the organization strength is regarded as sufficient to put some bill through both bodies.

FISHER RAISES POINT

Gov. Fisher said today that the Harris voting machine bill would not meet with his approval until it has been further amended to provide for submission of the question to the electorate at municipal as well as general elections.

The bill, as originally drafted, contemplated giving local communities the right to vote on the question of adoption of the machines at general, municipal and primary elections. It was amended in committee striking out the primary and municipal features.

Gov. Fisher said he would not press for including the primary provision, but would insist on giving the people the right to vote on it at municipal elections.

AIR PROGRAM AMBITIOUS

The chief bills in the aeronautic program are the Howe Bond Issue bill on which a hearing will be held Wednesday morning, the Turner bill licensing and regulating aircraft, airmen and airports, and the Turner measure establishing the legal status of air navigation. The Howe bill is on first reading and the Turner bills on third.

The Salus bill regulating the sale and possession of firearms is on third reading in the Senate, as is the Schantz bill licensing real estate brokers and salesmen. The administration coal and iron police bill introduced by Senator William D. Mansfield is on second reading. The one presented by M. A. Musmanno in the House is being amended in the judiciary general committee.

Thief Loots Home As Housewife Shops

Mrs. Jack Tondlo, of 910 Arch street, stepped out of the house today to buy groceries. During her absence a sneak thief ransacked the home and took cash and jewelry valued at $285.

2 DEAD, 20 HURT AS AUTOS JAM HIGHWAYS

Hit-run drivers and reckless motorists left a trail of two dead and 20 injured in the rush to the highways on spring's first balmy weekend.

Victim of a driver who failed to stop, a man, about 35, believed through a marriage license which he carried, to be Matthew Ruppe, was fatally injured in front of 2580 West Carson street, early today. He succumbed several hours later in Ohio Valley Hospital, McKees Rocks.

In the man's clothing at the morgue was found a marriage license issued to Ruppe and Sadie Hickey, in Armstrong County. Police are seeking the driver.

KILLED BY TRUCK

The other was Arthur Rose, 35, Negro, of 3140 Penn avenue. He died in West Penn Hospital shortly after being struck near his home by a truck. The driver, T. F. Bentley, 3047 Brereton avenue, was held under bond for the coroner.

Struck by an automobile early today as he was crossing Penn avenue at Trenton avenue George Volpe, 10, 7311½ Tioga street, suffered a probable skull fracture. He was taken to Columbia Hospital, nearby, by the driver of the automobile.

SIX HURT IN HOMESTEAD

Three men and three girls were injured early yesterday when, Homestead police said, a party in Homestead's slumming clubs ended in an auto crash at Eighth avenue and Dixon streets, Homestead. A sedan bearing three couples, driven by Cyrill J. Ward, of Duquesne, struck a truck driven by George Shawkey, of 112 Van Braam street. Police said Ward was racing another car.

In Ward's car, Miss Anna Velosky, of 217 South Fifth street, Duquesne, suffered a skull fracture. Josephine Wavro, of Second street, Duquesne, suffered cuts and bruises. Mrs. Josephine Nolder, of 207 Mendelssohn avenue, Wilson, mother of two children, suffered lacerations and possibly a skull fracture. Ward suffered a skull fracture and severe lacerations.

Shawkey suffered a fractured skull and a brain concussion. Charles Ingram, of 1815 Boulevard of the Allies, riding with Shawkey, suffered severe lacerations. He, with the others, was taken to Homestead Hospital.

MAN WITH BABY HURT

In Leetsdale, Charles McMillan, 45, of Sewickley Heights, was arrested and charged with driving while intoxicated after his car had swerved over the curb and struck Thomas Donohoe, 35, of 311 Beaver street, Leetsdale, who was wheeling his year-old son in a baby carriage. The baby, hurled from the carriage, suffered bruises and cuts, and the father was similarly injured. Donohue was en route to the Valley Hospital to visit his wife who is seriously ill when he was struck. McMillan was held under $2,500 bail for a hearing tonight before Justice of the Peace John Prus, Leetsdale.

A car driven by John R. Gallagher, of 224 Miles avenue, crashed into a car driven by Charles Pecora, of 140 Auburn street, in Bigelow boulevard. The machine of Clyde Nesbitt, of 1128 Moyer street, plowed into the wreckage.

Gallagher, Nesbitt and Pecora and Mrs. Ida Lamb, of Tweed street, a passenger in Nesbitt's car, suffered cuts and bruises. Police arrested Gallagher, who, they said, was unlicensed. Nesbitt, Pecora and Harry Layden, of Kelton avenue, Dormont, a passenger in Gallagher's car. Layden was charged with drunkenness.

Miss Edna Campbell, of Butler, and [illegible] Margaret Atwell, of Grove City, [illegible] cut and bruised when a car driven by Morris Hersperger, of Grove City, collided with a machine driven by Phillip Schwartz of Talbot street, Braddock, at North Negley avenue and Hay street. Both drivers were arrested.

EAST END CRASH

Mrs. Hanna Azoline, of 7306 Idlewild street, suffered bruises and lacerations when she was struck by an auto drven by L. P. Stylinger, of 7306 Idlewild street, at Race and Sterrett streets.

When the machine he occupied crashed into a pole in Frankstown avenue, Oscar Shuey, 28, of 5624 Margaretta street, suffered lacerations and bruises. He was taken to Pittsburgh Hospital.

After he had been stopped for questioning by Motorcycle Patrolman T. Carrington, of Mt. Lebanon township, Sam Jones, Negro, of Bentleyville, attempted to flee, police said. His car struck a curb in Washington road and overturned

Byrd Radios WGY On Receipt of Program

WGY, through its short wave transmitter, delivered nearly 100 messages to members of Byrd's expedition and the Commander was brought up to date on aviation progress through an address by Miss Amelia Earhart.

Alfred P. Coman, of Ithaca, who spoke to his brother in the Antartic, received word that "Dr. Coman was thrilled to hear his brother's voice."

The message from the expedition read:

"The complete program came in wonderfully well on loud speaker. All sitting around the mess table, having dropped snow shovels. Supper delayed long enough to get WGY broadcast."

Scranton Boy Scouts To Aid Reforestation

SCRANTON, Pa.—(INS.)—As an aid to reforestation of this district Boy Scouts of Scranton have purchased a tract of 441 acres in Wayne County as a site for practical experimentation in reforestation. A tentative rotation program of 120 years has been chosen as the best method of improving forest conditions. For the first 10 years the principal object will be to conduct a series of improvement cuttings which will leave the area in the best condition for finally placing it on a sustained and normal yield basis.

BURIAL RITES TO BE HELD TUESDAY

By FREDERIC K. ABBOTT,
International News Service.

PARIS, March 25.—A change of mortuary plans enabled thousands to view the mortal remains of Marshal Ferdinand Foch in the Cathedral of Notre Dame, today.

The body was removed from the arch of triumph to the cathedral 24 hours ahead of the original schedule and it was planned to keep it in semi-privacy throughout the day in a small chapel with only one door. But so great was the demand of the hero worshipping public to get a glimpse of France's famous soldier and so mighty was the throng which kept gathering about the cathedral that it was decided to put the body on public view until 7 o'clock tonight.

SCOUTS STAND GUARD

The body reposed upon a bier, decorated with the French tri-color in the right transept of the cathedral. The marshal's kepi and sword rested with the body. A little group of army officers and Boy Scouts kept vigil.

Late in the afternoon the line of people awaiting entrance to the cathedral stretched from the threshhold across the Seine River Bridge to the opposite bank. It was evident that thousands would be disappointed when the massive doors were closed at 7 o'clock.

Yesterday a mighty host of more than a million filed past his coffin, which lay in state under the Arch of Triumph.

PLANS CHANGED

It had originally been planned that the body of the marshal should lie under the arch near the tomb of the Unknown soldier until this evening, but at the request of Madame Foch, who wished the public tribute to be confined to one day, the coffin was removed to the cathedral under a military escort last night.

Unlike another day 10 years ago, when the marshal rode through this same symbol of victory and was hailed by a throng of cheering, idolizing countrymen, yesterday's was a solemn, silent throng, sorrowfully paying its last tribute to a national hero.

Tomorrow, France will honor her departed warrior with a national funeral. The religious ceremony will take place in the cathedral at 9 o'clock.

IMPRESSIVE ESCORT

Then the marshal's coffin will be carried to Les Invalides for burial under a solemn, but impressive escort. Troops in double file will line the entire route. The greatest military leaders of the world will act as pall bearers. France's president will walk behind the coffin.

Soldiers of every regiment of France and every country allied with her in the great war, will pay a final salute by marching past Les Invalides with colors lowered as his body is interred. Premier Poincaire will deliver a funeral eulogy.

The solemn throng which paid homage to the Marshal yesterday was the largest ever collected in Paris since the victory parade of 1919. About 40 persons collapsed during the day. One was reported to have died.

JOFFRE AT TOMB

An impressive ceremony last evening occurred in the reviving of the undying flame at the unknown warrior's tomb. Marshal Joffre, aged and weakened himself, officiated, while the body of his brother in arms lay at his right hand.

Joffre was accompanied by Marshals Petain, Lyautey, Franchet, Desperey, Gen. Weygand and Paul Doumer, president of the Senate, and surrounded by the banners and delegations of veterans.

After the ceremony all stood silent for a moment and then signed the golden book of the watchers of the flame. They turned and saluted formally the bier of Marshal Foch.

PERSHING TO BE THERE

Five thousand persons will view the service in Notre Dame tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock. Among them will be Gen. John J. Pershing and Ambassador Myron T. Herrick.

But on the march from Notre Dame to the Des Invalides, hundreds of thousands, possibly millions, will stand by the side of the streets and watch the solemn parade, which will be the last public rite in honor of the man who led to victory the greatest army France and the world have ever known.

WALES TO ATTEND

LONDON, March 25.—(AP.)—Because of the great desire of the Prince of Wales to attend personally the funeral of Marshal Foch in Paris on Tuesday, King George has designated his heir to represent him instead of his youngest son, Prince George.

FOCH TO BE HONORED HERE IN SERMON; FLAGS LOWERED

A sermon in French will be preached in St. Annis Syrian Church, Fullerton street, at 11 a. m. tomorrow, when a high mass will be offered as Pittsburgh's tribute to Marshal Foch. The pastor, the Rev. Elias Basil, who was a chaplain in the French army during the World War, will occupy the pulpit.

Dr. A. Leteve, vice consul of France, is in charge of the arrangements for the observance here. He stated today that many French people from the surrounding communities will attend the church services. The church has been decorated with French and American flags.

Flags in the city are still at half staff today and will be so until tomorrow after the funeral services. Mayor Charles H. Kline, on Saturday issued a proclamation asking the public to have the flags at half staff until after the burial. The flag on the city flagstaff in Schenley Park is lowered as are many others throughout the city.

Sun-Telegraph Encourages Savings Bank Depositors

To stimulate thrift, the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph will deposit $10 to the credit of each of the bank books in the following list. If you hold one of these bank books, bring it to the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph office, Gazette Square, and present it to Robert N. Laughlin, cashier.

Name of Bank.	Book No.
Western Savings & Deposit Bank	3,378
Farmers Deposit National Bank	126,451
Brentwood State Bank	S-75
Fourteenth Street Bank	1,134
Union National Bank	949
Colonial Trust Company	40,335
Workingman's Savings Bank & Trust Co	40,925
Mellon National Bank	14,123
Diamond National Bank	44,024
Pittsburgh Trust Company	8,060

The books designated may be presented during business hours any time within a week, but not later than 5 p. m. Monday, April 1.

Any bank in Greater Pittsburgh having savings or thritt accounts may have its passbook numbers included in these thrift gift lists by a request from a bank official to the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph Thrift Department.

Watch tomorrow's Sun-Telegraph for more information of interest to savings bank depositors.

Study the lives of the great and successful men of the age, and you will find examples of thrift.

The Sun-Telegraph is undertaking to promote thrift in Pittsburgh. It urges Pittsburghers to establish savings accounts in the banks, and make regular deposits that they may be provided with funds when a rainy day comes or when large expenditures become necessary.

S. E. ZAKHAR

To encourage savings bank depositors, the Sun-Telegraph is depositing money to the credit of bank books. The numbers of the bank books chosen for these awards are published daily. The thrift gifts range from $5 to $50.

A $10 gift has gone to S. E. Zakhar, of 246 Seventeenth avenue, Homestead, holder of bank book No. 10,633 in the Monongahela Trust Company. Mr. Zakhar has had a savings account for many years.

"Thrift is a fine thing," he said, in acknowledging receipt of his award. "There are few things that will contribute more to a man's satisfaction than to have money in the bank. The Sun-Telegraph is to be commended for its efforts to inculcate this virtue."

Among other recent recipients of Sun-Telegraph thrift awards are George W. Fisher, of 169 Washington avenue, Bellevue, who has received $20 as holder of bank book No. 20,018 of the Pennsylvania Savings Bank, and Michael Joyce, of 418 North Evaline street, holder of passbook No. 28,558 of the East End Savings & Trust Company, who has received $5.

Escaped Man Slain In Duel in Dark Room

DETROIT, March 25.—(AP.)—An escaped inmate of the Mimico, Ont., reformatory, wanted in Toronto for an express car robbery, was killed by two patrolmen in a gun battle at 10-yard range in a darkened room.

The police were summoned after the fugitive, Fred Haight, 29, threatened to kill his 19-year-old wife and fired at residents of an adjoining apartment to whom she fled for protection.

Negro Says He Got $200 as Lunch Money

He didn't steal the $200; it was given to him for "sandwich money," Richard Tracey, Negro, of 313 Larimer avenue, pleaded today in Frankstown avenue police court, where he was accused of taking $200 from M. G. Denholm, of 938 East End avenue. Denholm testified that he was "a bit under the weather" and hired Tracey to drive his car. Police located the money and Tracey was fined $50.

YALE STUDY SHOWS STATE FAILURE TO CUT DIVORCES

NEW HAVEN, Conn., March 25.—In spite of the state's declared interest in preserving the marriage relation, Connecticut grants divorces in 98 out of every 100 cases where there is no contest and in three out of every four contested cases.

This was revealed in the first report on a two year study of court procedure made at the Yale Law School under the direction of Dean Robert M. Hutchins and Prof. Charles E. Clark. The investigation which will continue for four years through aid from the Rockefeller foundation, has drawn the interest of President Hoover who has suggested that it also include a study of law enforcement in the nation.

The report also indicated that the jury was being eclipsed as an instrument of justice in the state and that nearly all criminal cases were being disposed of either by guilty pleas of the defendants or by dismissals recommended by the prosecutors.

The theory that juries in negligence suits were more likely to be swayed in favor of the plaintiffs than judges was completely upset by the investigation. The report showed that judges gave but 23 per cent of the verdicts to the defendants while the juries gave 35 per cent. Fifty one percent of the cases ended in disagreements.

'Auto Speeders' Spree Blamed on Spring

CHICAGO, March 25.—(INS.)—Approximately 800 autoists were to appear in various Cook County speeders' courts today to tell the judge where the fire was.

Innocent spring was blamed for the high record of arrests, all made within 24 hours.

This is a sample of our facsimile picture transmission work. This particular letter was transmitted in 50 seconds. The transmitting and receiving equipment are located in adjacent rooms but the impulses are sent by wire to KDKA where they are put out on radio and picked up at the Laboratory in the usual manner and impressed upon the receiving set. This system therefore contains all of the essential elements to a regular long distance transmission and you can take this sample as typical of the results which are obtainable, excepting in so far as these results may be influenced by fading and static which will come in in long distance transmission.

The signals are taken directly from a typewritten letter by light reflecting from the surface and consequently the transmitting message can be used as filed, without any change. The receiving message is printed as a positive which is immediately available for delivery upon the completion of its development and fixing, which is a matter of a few minutes.

EARNED INCOME TAX PROTESTS MOUNT HERE

Have you signed yet?

Pittsburghers who have not put their names to a petition to Congress, urging a reduction of the tax on earned incomes, soon will be in the minority.

The movement launched by the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph and other Hearst newspapers has met with such overwhelming support that the question of obtaining signatures to petitions remains only a matter of reaching the people. Virtually no opposition has been voiced against the proposal to lift the burden of taxes now resting on the shoulders of wage earners.

The Allegheny County Bar Association was the first local organization to take up the question. A resolution to study the matter was adopted, but the action was not unanimous. A motion was made to lay the resolution on the table. This stirred the friends of the movement, and the motion was lost. Since that time Pittsburgh lawyers have been among the most enthusiastic supporters of the Sun-Telegraph campaign.

W. S. Dalzell.

The legislative committee of the association, William S. Dalzell, chairman, is working on its report which will be presented at the next regular meeting, unless interest in the matter results in a special meeting being called.

Lawyers in adjoining counties are taking up the movement, and statewide indorsement before Congress convenes is in prospect among all the bar associations.

Following the action of the Retail Lumber Dealers' Association, supporting the petitions last week, the movement is spreading among other commercial organizations, and their indorsement will come with meetings scheduled early next month.

Individual petitions clipped from the Sun-Telegraph have reached enormous volume. Word from other cities indicates that the campaign is sweeping the country.

GARAGE PROWLER SLAIN BUT HIS ODOR LINGERS ON

CHICAGO, March 25.—(AP.)—George Root, a chauffeur for the Rodi Towing Service, had just towed a car into the garage. Although it was 3 a. m., he telephoned the boss.

"There is," he telephoned, "an animal in the garage."

"And what," inquired the boss, "do you expect me to do about it? Start a circus or something?"

Root, in no mood for frivolity, snatched up a ball bat and set about the business of dispatching the animal. He discovered at once that he must swing the bat with one hand, the other being occupied with pressing his nostrils so tightly together that no aroma whatsoever entered therein.

Root, fought on, not forgetting to hold his nose. In an incautious moment, the animal wandered in the path of the bat, and his demise was accomplished.

From his home Root called the boss.

"I'll be down as soon as my clothes come back from the cleaners."

You're right. The animal was a skunk.

Fourth's Big Noise Off, Dynamite Thief Jailed

DIXON, Ill., March 25.—(INS.)—George Lehman, 23, of this city, wanted to have a real Fourth of July celebration this year, so he began to prepare early. He stole 75 pounds of dynamite from two Dixon contractors and landed in the Lee County jail.

When questioned by State's Attorney M. C. Keller, he signed a confession in which he said:

"I took dynamite to use on the Fourth of July this year. I have never been able to make enough noise to satisfy myself."

Cuba Gives Medal To Gen. Summerall

WASHINGTON, March 25.—(AP.)—The award of Cuba's highest decoration, the Order of Military Merit, to Gen. Charles P. Summerall, army chief of staff, was made public yesterday at the War Department.

Gen. Summerall is prohibited by the constitution from accepting any medal or decoration of a foreign government and therefore the Cuban decoration will be retained in the custody of the State Department until these constitutional provisions are no longer applicable.

Train Suicide Identified

WHEELING, W. Va., March 25.—(AP.)—The body of a man who committed suicide here two weeks ago by throwing himself under a rapidly moving train, was identified yesterday as Thomas Burns 28, of Martins Ferry, O. His widow, estranged from her husband for three years, established identification.

DISPLAYS GUN, SHOOTS FRIEND

Peter Anthony, 22, of 1217 Wylie avenue, was in the Passavant Hospital today with a bullet wound in his stomach, and believed to be dying. His friend, Joseph Joseph, 22, of 1525 Bedford avenue, was being held to await the outcome of his injuries.

Joseph wept, police said, as he told them how a pistol had been discharged while he was showing it to Anthony last night at Wylie avenue and Logan street. Witnesses said the men were close friends.

NEW LIGHT DEVICE SENDS PHOTOS, NOTES IN FLASH

The day is not far off when you may flash a photograph or a letter of several hundred words to friends in Tokio, Paris, Buenos Aires or any distant point, in less than a minute. This is likely to be made possible by a new picture facsimile transmission system that will send and receive a picture in black and white or halftones of a size of five by eight inches, in 48 seconds. The system and apparatus are being perfected by Dr. V. Zworykin at the Westinghouse Research Laboratories, East Pittsburgh.

His device is also capable of transmitting and receiving written messages at the rate of 630 words a minute. The received messages and pictures are reproduced on photographic paper directly from the original picture or message. The system does not require either a special preparation of the original or a skilled operator for transmission or reception.

WORKED BY LIGHT

Dr. Zworykin's method of picture transmission and reception is radically different from present methods, in that, the scanning of the original picture or message is done by a pencil of light and in the utilization of the light reflected from its surface. The amount of light is directly dependent upon the density of the picture or lettering.

Dr. Zworykin's method operates something like this. The original source of light is focused first on a diaphragm to make the size of the spot independent of the size of the source. The image of the diaphragm, with necessary reduction, is focused on the surface of the picture. The reflected light is gathered by means of a curved reflector, the focus of which coincides with the illuminating point. Part of the reflector is cut away in order to pass the light and the remaining part is brought into close proximity to the surface of the picture.

In this way almost all the reflected light is collected and projected as a more or less parallel beam by the reflector. A flat mirror with a small hole for passage of the illuminating spot intercepts the reflected light at 45 degrees and diverts it to the photo-cell. The optical path of the whole system is short and the construction is flexible for adaption to almost all kinds of scanning systems.

WIRES NOT NEEDED

At the receiving end of Dr. Zworykin's apparatus, a standard bromide photographic paper is wrapped around a recording cylinder and a special helium glow lamp furnishes the light for making the reproduction. For the reception of the picture signals the radio set is a standard receiver. Amplification of weak signals is obtained by radio frequency. To date, a standard short-wave receiver has been used. This employs one stage of radio frequency amplification with a screen grid tube, detector and two audio stages.

Dr. Zworykin's tele-photo system operates with or without wires. He has made exhaustive laboratory tests and has perfected his apparatus to the extent that its commercial adoption is promised for the near future.

U. S. JUSTIFIES SINKING OF RUM SHIP

WASHINGTON, March 25.—The State Department today forwarded to Sir Esme Howard, British ambassador, an official report on the gunfire sinking of the British auxiliary schooner I'm Alone some 2 miles off the Louisiana coast in the Gulf of Mexico, by Coast Guard cutters, resulting in the death of a British seaman.

The report, which was from Capt. A. L. Gamble, commanding the coast guard forces in the gulf, was given the State Department by Rear Admiral Billard, commandant of the coast guard.

Gamble declared the sinking of the I'm Alone by the cutters Walcott and Dexter on Friday "was proper and commendable," and precisely in accord with international law.

CONCERNED OVER DEATH

The most serious aspect of the case was believed here to be the killing of a British member of the I'm Alone's crew. In a statement given the press on receipt of Gamble's report, Admiral Billard was silent on this phase of the sinking.

The Coast Guard contends that the I'm Alone was sunk after a "continuous and hot" pursuit, this being permissable under international law if the pursuit started within the 12-mile limit. Billard told the International News Service that the Britisher was first sighted eight miles from the Louisiana coast.

One important point which the British are expected to want cleared up in the actual sinking of the I'm Alone is whether the pursuit was "continuous."

CARRIED RUM CARGO

It was admitted by the crew of the I'm Alone that the boat carried 2,400 cases of liquor.

First reports to the coast guard headquarters here said the vessel was sighted well within American territorial waters, a shot fired through her rigging, and that being a faster boat than the Walcott, she got away. Orders were sent to Mobile for relay to New Orleans, for the Dexter to join in the affair.

Both cutters were "in at the death," some 200 miles away. The British might hold that the element of time between firing the shot through the rigging at eight miles from shore, the sending of orders to the Dexter to reinforce the Walcott, and catching up with a faster vessel 200 miles away, would lay open to question the continuity of the pursuit.

LONDON SILENT

LONDON, March 25.—(AP.)—The British foreign office will make no statement or unofficial comment concerning the sinking of the British schooner, I'm Alone, by a United States coast guard vessel until it receives a full report from Sir Esme Howard, the British ambassador at Washington.

The affair appears to British officials as a most serious rumrunning incident if unofficial reports thus far received should prove correct.

The foreign office has been advised of the sinking and informed that Sir Esme has asked the Sate Department for full details which have been promised him.

DR. CHURCH DENOUNCES TYRANNIES OF PROHIBITION

ATTACKS 'HIRED KNAVES,' 'OPPRESSIVE JONES ACT'

Dr. Samuel Harden Church, president of Carnegie Institute, Pittsburgh, who has already contributed a striking expression on prohibition and its manifest evils to the Hearst $25,000 temperance prize contest, makes public today a letter to W. C. Durant on the latter's book, "Law Observance," which contains the main results of the Durant prize contest for the best formula to force the observance of the prohibition statutes.

Dr. Church in forcible picturesque phrase attacks the tyrannies of prohibition and excoriates "hired knaves" and the first effects of the Jones act.

He says to Mr. Durant:

"I have received, with your compliments a copy of your book entitled 'Law Observance,' which I believe contains an account of the prize essay contest inaugurated by you in support of the Eighteenth Amendment. While I respect the sentiments which led you to organize that contest and to publish the result of it, I am at the same time, together with many millions of my countrymen, opposed to the Eighteenth Amendment and to all agitations and movements looking to its continuance.

"I believe that amendment to be not only a violation of personal liberty but subversive of temperance. The men and women who are acting under the control of the purblind Anti-Saloon League to preserve this law are, I believe, governed by fanatical motives in striving to attain by legislative enactments a system of moral conduct which can never be accomplished save by an appeal to the intelligence and conscience of the nation.

"The passage of the Jones law the other day is showing that the country can be made to suffer under a tyranny of law more oppressive than any individual tyranny could be, and already some of the newspapers of the land are calling upon juries to refuse to convict under that Draconian statute.

'Innocent Victims'

"At the same time a law of that kind is bound to find its innocent victims, and the hearts of mature people, who, while opposing the Eighteenth Amendment, are supporting its requirements as long as it exists, are filled with apprehension lest the precious young men and young women of our country, constantly tracked by hired knaves, may be caught in the dragnet of this obnoxious law.

"In fact, a 15-year-old boy in Philadelphia has already received the maximum penalty of five years imprisonment and $10,000 fine, although the judge in this case granted a suspension of punishment.

"I know very well that the men and women who are forcing the passage of these laws, most of them working from perverted religious motives, will laugh in derision when the opportunities occur for the prosecution of these thoughtless young persons. But their malignancy does not make the situation any less tragic.

"Only the other day a minister of the Gospel who happens to be an official of the Anti-Saloon League, published a letter in the newspapers, covertly approving of the life imprisonment of that woman in Michigan who is the mother of 10 children, and who sold a pint of liquor as a fourth offense; and some ministers who used to be moved to sympathy for human frailties now look harshly upon the downfall of their brethren as a good riddance.

"Last week the newspapers reported that 4,000 citizens—presumably good citizens — of New York, who had gone on board the outgoing steamers to say goodbye to their friends, were frisked up and down their backs by the secret agents of the government for arrest in case they might have carried a flask of wine ashore.

'Dogged by Spies'

"In this way every man's path is dogged by spies until the very air is filled with suspicion, and no citizen is free from this degrading surveillance. If these agitators would only promote the frisking of 4,000 rowdies for revolvers, they would put a stop to murder and banditry. But all such crimes are of much less importance to their inflamed minds than the stoppage of the temperate use of liquors.

"I have observed that the first victim of this Jones law was a Negro who sold a bottle of liquor in Washington, D. C., and he will be sent to prison for five years and fined $10,000. If the misguided moral and religious forces of this country had been as persistent in calling for the enforcement of the nullified Fourteenth and Fifteenth Amendments, which provide protection and equal rights for the Negro, as they have been to enforce the Eighteenth Amendment, which is clearly unconstitutional because it embraces an unrepealable statute, this colored man would probably have been brought up under circumstances which would have led him into other business channels than bootlegging.

"As a member of two Protestant churches, I regret to find that this whole agitation seems to be the work of a well organized but immense minority of the Protestant organizations of this country. Our Catholic friends and our Jewish friends appear to have a right understanding of the power of patient teaching concerning the inculcation of moral principles among their congregations, but the whole prohibition warfare is apparently guided by a part of the Protestant ministers of the land, behind whom their congregations are more or less dragooned into active support.

Opponents Cited

"I hasten to say that thousands of Protestant ministers are as bitterly opposed to this insensate prohibition movement as I am. You will find a notable expression of this opinion among the ministers of the Episcopal congregation, Christian and other Protestant churches, and there are also large numbers of individual ministers in the Presbyterian, Methodist and Baptist churches who are courageous enough in the face of pitiless persecution to utter similar views; but when our governmental statistics show that 75,000,000 of the American people have no affiliation whatever with any church, it makes us wonder why this militant ministry should be willing to cause a further alienation by its constant appeals to Caesar.

"But there never was and never can be constructive statesmanship when the church goes into politics. Aside from these trespassing religious societies, we find that the great mass of the representative men of this country, including its bankers, educators and captains of industry, with but one recreant desertion, are actively opposed to the Eighteenth Amendment, and are determined to secure its withdrawal in the interests alike of temperance and liberty, and to array themselves against all further encroachments upon the guaranteed liberties of the nation.

"Out of the heart, and not by the whipping post, will America be made strong, righteous and free."

Man Killed Trying to Stop Gas Leak

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., March 25.—(AP.)—Fred Acton, 47, of 306 Main street, Toronto, O., was asphyxiated at the plant of the International Combustion Engineering Company, near here, while attempting to stop a gas leak in a spiral chamber containing coke. Fred Lengenohl, chief mechanic at the plant, narrowly escaped death in an attempt to rescue Acton.

7 Rules for $25,000 Temperance Contest

The purpose of the contest is to obtain a practicable plan, as a substitute for prohibition, which will secure better actual temperance conditions, which will be more easily possible of enforcement by state and Federal authorities, which will offer less encouragement to crime and tend less to debauch the public service, and which will not so outrage and violate the fundamental rights and personal liberties of American citizens.

The rules and conditions of the contest are simple and are as follows:

1—Every person is entitled to enter the contest, but no one person may submit more than one plan.

2—The practicable plan proposed as a substitute for prohibition must be set forth in an article containing not more than 1,000 words.

3—This contest will close April 30, 1929, and no plan which has not been mailed and postmarked on or before that date will be considered.

4—The articles submitted in the contest will be judged by a committee of eminent Americans, the personnel of the committee to be announced at a later date.

5—The full prize of $25,000 will be awarded to the contestant submitting the best plan as a practical temperance substitute for prohibition.

6—If other plans not awarded the first prize shall still be considered worthy of some compensation by the committee, a second prize of $5,000 and other prizes of $1,000 each may be awarded.

7—Articles submitting a plan to be considered in this contest may be sent to the temperance contest committee, care of the editor of any one of the following Hearst newspapers: Albany Times-Union, Atlanta Georgian, Baltimore News, Boston Evening American, Chicago Herald and Examiner, Detroit Times, Los Angeles Examiner, New York American, Omaha Bee-News, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, Rochester Journal, San Antonio Light, San Francisco Examiner, Syracuse Journal, Seattle Post-Intelligencer, Washington Herald, Wisconsin News (Milwaukee).

WANT DRINKING ENVOYS OUSTED

PHILADELPHIA, March 25.—(AP.)—The Methodist men's committee of 100 of the United States, meeting here yesterday, adopted a resolution recommending that diplomatic representatives to the United States be handed their passports unless they refrain from importing intoxicating beverages.

"It is high time," the resolution says, "that every foreign ambassador shall show respect for the Constitution and laws of the United States by refraining from importing intoxicating beverages which no citizen of the United States, not even the President, has the legal right to do."

Two Boys Jailed As Milk Thieves On Hilltop

Mt. Washington husbands will be a lot more certain of having cream in their morning coffee from now on, police promised today.

Their confidence followed the arrest yesterday of two boys who were accused of stealing milk and cream from the doorsteps of Mt. Washington and Duquesne Heights homes. Police said complaints had been numerous.

Because of the suspects' youth, the Sun-Telegraph withholds their names.

2 CHILDREN KILLED, 4 HURT AS HOME STILL EXPLODES

ALLENTOWN, Pa., March 25.—(AP.)—Two children of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Wallach, of the Northampton Heights section of Bethlehem, are dead as the result of the explosion of a still in their home yesterday.

Wallach told police that it was his first attempt at making moonshine and that he was driven to it because he was unable to support his family on his weekly wage of $18.

The explosion wrecked the kitchen of the Wallach home and as the two children were at breakfast, Frances, 3, and Robert, 4, were the victims.

The parents, both 26, were severely burned.

John Martin, a neighbor, and Harry Soubeer, of Trenton, N. J., who was visiting Martin, also were burned when they went to the rescue of the Wallachs.

Baby Dies as Match Sets Clothing Afire

YOUNGSTOWN, O., March 25.—Paul Phillips, 16 months old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Phillips, was burned to death while playing with an older brother, who was lighting matches, one of which ignited the child's clothing.

Inauguration Shows Profit of $36,100

WASHINGTON, March 25.—(INS.)—The Hoover-Curtis inauguration was a success from the box-office standpoint. The inaugural committee announced that a net profit of $36,100 was realized, and that all the contributors to the original fund will get 100 per cent refunds. The sale of seats along Pennsylvania venue, concessions, etc., brought in $131,000, while the expenditures were $94,900.

Woman Hurt in Crash

ZANESVILLE, O., March 25.—(AP.)—Mrs. Leota Reck, 38, of Dayton, O., suffered a crushed chest and probable internal injuries and her two children, Olive, 18, and Robert, 16, received minor hurts when the Reck car was caught in a jam with two other machines, police say.

TWO CHILDREN BITTEN BY DOGS

Margaret Frobe, 10, of 2675 South Eighteenth street extension, was bitten on the back yesterday by a dog owned by John Schrader, 2653 South Eighteenth street extension. Her wound was cauterized at the South Side Hospital.

Howard Algeo, 12, of 343 Arabella street, was bitten on the leg by a dog owned by Fred C. Potts, 411 Millbridge street. The boy's wound was cauterized by Dr. George G. Shoemaker, of 73 Allen avenue, and he was taken home. Potts and Schrader were notified by police to keep their dogs tied up for 10 days.

THE FAILURE OF THE CHRISTIAN

By THE REV. GEORGE TAYLOR, JR.

THE failure of the Christian does not lie in the opportunities which he meets in his daily experiences, but in his lack of courage to embrace them and identify himself with the Christian movement. He cannot stand the sneer and ridicule of the one who is destroying the religion which he professes to embrace, and in order to be counted broad-minded he compromises his own conscience and tarnishes the ideal of Jesus Christ. These are the days in which the Christian must be a conscience in the community if those who know not Christ are to see His life and desire His way.

VOTE ON ROADS TONIGHT MAY AFFECT "GAS" TAX

HARRISBURG, March 25.—The action of the House tonight upon nine measures designed to put into effect the Fisher administration's program of highway construction and activity may have an important bearing on the question of an increased gasoline tax.

The program, in part, would have the state take over the maintenance of state highways through boroughs and cities and of all bridges on the system. At the start of the session Gov. John S. Fisher said that additional revenue would be needed for this section of the program, the cost of which is estimated at about $13,000,000.

This was denied by State Treasurer Samuel S. Lewis, arch opponent of the proposal to boost the gas tax from 3 to 4 cents, in his latest statement.

LEWIS STANDS PAT

"Even with this additional $13,000,000 which it is proposed to spend," he said, "the occasion for any increase in the gasoline tax is by no means apparent. I believe the revenues at the present rate will be sufficient to continue the peak construction of the past two years, take care of all activities necessitating the expenditure of this $13,000,000, and still have several millions of dollars in excess of the balance which Secretary Stuart deems is necessary to carry over into the next biennium for contractual obligations and working capital."

Mentioning that the impression seems to have gone out that he has been converted to a higher tax, Lewis said, "I want to say as clearly and emphatically as I know how that such is not the case."

The measure boosting the gasoline tax as agreed upon by Republican organization leaders a week ago must be introduced Wednesday at the latest, provided it appears as a separate bill. It would be possible, however, to have some other bill now in committee amended later to include the tax boost. Wednesday is the last day for the introduction of measures in the House. More than 2,500 bills already have appeared.

ONE-YEAR PLAN OPPOSED

Administration leaders are not all serene about the decision to raise the gas levy. Reports that it might be put in as an emergency measure to be in effect one year only indicate the administration has been hearing from irate motorists, and are answered by the statement that one of the 3 cents now assessed against each gallon was an emergency for two years only. "It may be for years and it may be forever," seems to sum up the attitude of the members toward such "emergency" propositions.

The nine administration highway bills are special orders of business tonight, the first at 9:45 and the others at intervals of from five to 10 minutes. Administration leaders, unless they have everything set to steam roller the bills through, have taken a chance on having them all held back. Should a debate develop on the first, it could be interrupted by a call for the special order on the second, and so on, leaving only the last one with little to be acted upon.

SLAYER OF GIRL DIES IN CHAIR

ROCKVIEW PENITENTIARY, BELLEFONTE, Pa., March 25.—(INS.)—Alvarez Miquel, 28, adventurer, who claimed to be the son of a wealthy Cuban sugar planter, died calmly in the electric chair here today for the moment of blind rage in which he shot Louise Jacks, 21, his sweetheart, in Pottsville, Pa., a year and a half ago.

In his death he lost two appeals—one for a respite and the other that he be spared the "disgrace" of electrocution and be hanged or shot instead. Miquel, who made a sensational dash for liberty by shooting himself out of the Schuylkill county jail March 9, only to be recaptured, was pronounced dead at 7:06 a. m. after a lone contact at 7:02.

Miquel made his will yesterday.

He left $1,000 to Sheriff Gordon Nagel, of Pottsville; $2,000 to Margaretta Barket, of Pottsville, a young woman he claimed was his sweetheart and $500 to a daughter, Mary Regina Miquel, 12, of the Isle of Pines. To his daughter, Miquel also left a sugar plantation which he said he owned at that place.

ITALY ELECTION FASCIST PARTY LANDSLIDE

ROME, March 25.—(AP.)—Premier Mussolini and the Fascist party won an overwhelming victory in yesterday's parliamentary elections, returns today showed.

Practically complete returns were 8,506,576 "si" or "yes" and only 136,198 "no" or opposition votes. Lost and voided votes totaled 6,824.

The vote counted represented 89.63 per cent of the total enrollment, as against 58 per cent voting in 1921, and 63 per cent in 1925.

MUSSOLINI CASTS VOTE

As a result of the election, the slate of 400 candidates, representing not geographical constituencies but organizations and industries and the nation as a whole, was elected for the new parliament. The voter had no choice but to vote "yes" for all or "no" for all, since the ticket could not be split.

While Premier Mussolini was voting at Rome yesterday early in the morning Crown Prince Humbert was casting his ballot at Turin. What some regarded as the most remarkable fact of electiton was the great number of ecclesiastics voting. These included several cardinals, such as those of Venice, Florence, Turin and Pisa. Archbishops, bishops and even lesser clergy followed their example, something which could not have taken place before the recent signing of the Lateran treaty.

In some cases the entire body of Fascists in a given locality marched en masse to the polls to vote, with bands playing and banners flying. Many messages from the masters of Italian ships at sea added to the general chorus of approval.

NEGATIVE BALLOTS FEW

Milan, mother city of fascism, had the greatest number of negative votes, 23,156, but they were swamped with 364,153 votes favorable to the regime. Generally speaking, most of the negative votes seem to have been case in those provinces redeemed from Austria by the war, although sizeable negative totals were cast in the larger ports such as Genoa and Naples.

Industrial Turin turned out 7,672 negatives against 227,862 for the regime. Rome voted 251,780 for with only 2,833 against; Bologna, 156,490 for 4,841 against; Naples, 420,021 to 2,272 against; Genoa, 161,195 to 8,229 against.

Seized Dynamite Perils Chicago Court Building

CHICAGO, March 25.—(AP.)—Enough dynamite to have wrecked the Criminal Courts building was found in a store of seized gambling paraphernalia, directly beneath the states attorney's office.

Chief Balliff Charles Mugler, armed with a sledge hammer, had taken a couple of lusty whacks at an assortment of roulette wheels, faro tables and slot machines which he had been ordered to destroy when he discovered the explosive. It consisted of 30 strands of wire, on each of which was a percussion cap and six sticks of dynamite.

Police said the dynamite had been seized in raids on criminal haunts and had evidently been placed in the store room with the gambling equipment by a careless attache.

gas" fuel, the ship is fueled for five or six days flying. The larder has not been neglected this time, and there are 200 bottles of German wines and champagne, 10 gallons of French wines, and lemonade for the teetotallers, if there are any on board.

The meals will be served in two series, since there is not sufficient seating capacity for all at one time.

Lady Drummond Hay, intrepid English woman, intent on learning to pilot the airship, in a smart leather coat, gave a symbolic touch on the bridge to the Graf Zeppelin on its trip to the Orient with a stunning flying cap on the lines of the headdress of the Sphinx, with the wings of the Egyptian god, Osires, on either side, and the Zeppelin insignia, "LZ," wreathed in gold in the center of the forehead.

TWO OTHER WOMEN

Countess Brandenstein-Zeppelin and Frau Toni Sender, vivacious little Socialist deputy in the Reichstag, were among the first to come aboard to inspect their cabins.

Kerr Loebe, president of the Reichstag, declaring that he was looking forward to the time of his life, was one of the early arrivals, as were President Bolz, of the state of Wurtemburg, and former Minister of Transportation Von Guerard.

Dr. Wolfgang Von Weisl, Palestinian, a noted specialist in the Orient, is both physician and correspondent on board. Rolf Brandt, German correspondent, who crossed the Atlantic by air with Lady Drummond Hay and myself, is again one of the journalists of the air.

STOWAWAY FOILED

The British refusal to let the Graf Zeppelin visit Cairo is keenly regretted by all the passengers, who had anticipated with zest the prospect of looking down on the ancient pyramids and the sphinx with their 5,000 years of history.

Desiring to achieve fame as the second airship stowaway in the history of aerial travel, Friedrich Herzog, an Austrian youth of 20, from Salzburg, was arrested last night about midnight while trying to slip into the Zeppelin hangar and hide away in the Graf Zeppelin for the Orient flight.

Young Herzog was soaked to the skin from the steady downpour of rain while waiting in the open for hours, slipping from one cover to another, Indian fashion. He had counted on the intense darkness and had reached one corner of the hangar when he was picked up by one of the alert Zeppelin guards. The guards had been increased on purpose to prevent anyone getting near the great shed.

Herzog is a waiter. He said he was tired of serving people when they eat, which offered so little opportunity to get ahead in the world and become famous.

WANTS TO BE PILOT

"I want to become an air pilot," he said, "but I have no means to learn, and so I decided that if I could become a successful stowaway in the Graf Zeppelin on this flight it would make

Rochester Man Wins Award for Anthem

ROCHESTER, Pa., March 25.—J. E. Roberts, 141 Shields street, was awarded one of the three prizes offered in a recent international anthem competition conducted by the Lorenz Publishing Company, for his anthem, "O Love Divine." Gottfried Federlein, of New York City, and Cuthbert Harris, a celebrated musician of London, England, were the other winners. Hundreds of manuscripts were received. Outstanding composers from France, Germany, Italy and other continental European countries had sent in compositions for the contest. Three others of Mr. Roberts' compositions were accepted for publication. Mr. Roberts is choir director in the First Presbyterian Church here.

CRAZED FATHER KILLS WIFE AND SELF

CHICAGO, March 25.—(AP.)—Prosperity to poverty, poverty to madness, madness to murder—the bottom was reached early Palm Sunday, when a woman shrieked.

"Marie, for God's sake help!"

Marie Carlson, [illegible] jumped from bed and ran to the living room where she found her father, Rockford Carlson, 39, and her mother, Harriett, 35, fighting for possession of a double-barreled shotgun.

"Marie, help me," the mother cried. "Get this gun away from him, or he will kill us."

SHOOTS WIFE TWICE

A shot was fired shattering the ceiling. Finally the women got the gun and took out the unfired shell.

Marie ran upstairs to call the police. She ran back just in time to hear the gun roar again and to see her mother topple from the top step of the front porch and pitch to the sidewalk.

"Don't shoot again," she shouted but her father aimed and sent another charge into the body of his wife, and she lay still.

Marie ran to her mother. Her father disappeared into the basement. When police arrived, they found he, too, was dead. He had propped the gun against the furnace and pressed the trigger with a stick.

FAILS IN BUSINESS

A few months ago the Carlsons were happy. He was president of a roofing company. Business failure struck suddenly. Days of plenty ended. There came a zero cold night when Carlson fell asleep in his car. Mrs. Carlson found him, half frozen. A paralytic stroke followed and it left Carlson seemingly deranged in mind.

Engineer With Erie 41 Years, Falls Dead

MEADVILLE, Pa., March 25.—(AP.)—Michael H. Denlin, 51, Erie railroad engineer, who entered the employ of the company as a water boy when he was 10 years old, fell dead at Warren, O., according to word received by relatives here.

WETS CITE PITTSBURGH AS HORRIBLE EXAMPLE

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS,
Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, March 25.—Wholesale evidence of alleged graft and corruption in prohibition enforcement activities at Pittsburgh is being held up to public attention by the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment as an aid to its campaign to bring about modification of the Volstead Act.

In a pamphlet just made public here by John C. Gebhart, director of research of the association, leading national wet organization, enforcement conditions at Pittsburgh, along with those at Detroit, Philadelphia, New York and Buffalo, are cited to show "what prohibition has done to prosperous and enterprising municipalities" of the country.

"SHOT WITH GRAFT"

Charging that the police department of Pittsburgh is "shot through with systemized graft," the association declared that the police force there is in a state of mutiny insofar as prohibition enforcement is concerned.

Prohibition cases are so numerous in the city that United States District Attorney John D. Meyer has been forced to nolle prosse a thousand indictments, it was declared. People who testify before a grand jury can not later be induced to offer evidence in a trial, the statement added.

All of the various indictments returned by the Allegheny County grand jury against police magistrates, legislators, ward chairmen and policemen were touched on in the Pittsburgh report. Quite a bit of space also was given to the "administration booze," which, it is charged, made its appearance in 1926 after Mayor Charles H. Kline took office.

OTHER CITIES SAME WAY

Commenting on the survey, Director Gebhart said the conditions found at Pittsburgh are representative of those in other large cities.

"If the nation is ever to gain adequate control of the liquor problem," he said, "the power must be returned to the states which they had before the Eighteenth Amendment was adopted. They must be empowered to deal with the liquor question in their own way and devise a system of control which will be acceptable to their citizens.

"Whether this reform can be accomplished simply by the repeal of the Volstead act, or whether repeal or modification of the Eighteenth Amendment is necessary, may be a disputed point. There can be no question, however, of the soundness, in principle, of returning the problem to the separate states."

POLICE VICTIM JAIL BREAKER

DETROIT, March 25.—(INS.)—Fred Haight, 29, formerly of Seville, Fla., who was shot and killed in a gun battle with police, was an escaped convict and wanted for a Canadian mail truck robbery, police learned today.

Haight was shot down after he had opened fire on police, who had prevented him from an alleged attempt to slay his 19-year-old wife, Patricia.

Canadian postal authorities said he was wanted for robbing a mail truck at Mimico last March 2. He escaped from the Mimico Reformatory January 7, where he had been sentenced for assaulting a policeman.

Body of Asquith Put in New Grave

SUTTON, Courtenay, England, March 25.—(AP.)—The body of the late Earl of Oxford and Asquith was exhumed late Saturday night and transferred to a new grave about 20 yards away. Lady Oxford (Margot Asquith) was not present at the removal of the body of her husband.

At the time of the first proposal to remove the body of the late premier, objection was made that it might disturb the Hermon family grave nearby. Lady Oxford gave assurance that there would be no interference with other tombs.

Kemal Allows Year To Write Dictionary

STAMBOUL, Turkey, March 26.—(AP.)—President Kemal has given experts a year to make a new dictionary. Having to reclassify words according to the new alphabet and coin words of Turkish origin to replace the Arabic and Persian terminology which the Nationalists have forbidden, the commissioners are rushed. They are paid 10 cents a word.

Woman Premier For Britain Predicted

LONDON, March 25.—(AP.)—A woman prime minister is foreseen by Gen. Sir Ian Hamilton, who commanded the British forces in the Mediterranean during the war. "The Amazons are going to fling themselves straight into politics," he said at a banquet, "and it will be women's politics from now on, and no peace at all until we get a lady prime minister."

Dr. Smith Installed As Unitarian Pastor

The Rev. Dr. Frank Edwin Smith was installed yesterday as pastor of the First Unitarian Church, where he succeeds the Rev. Dr. L. Walter Mason, who died a month ago. The installation ceremonies were in charge of T. D. Yensen, president of the board of trustees.

Dr. Smith, who was ousted from the Lutheran clergy for alleged heretical utterances two years ago, was elected to succeed Dr. Mason March 6.

Too Many Spring Signs Bring Boy to Grief

HARRISBURG, March 25.—(AP.)—Too many signs of spring sent Kenneth Sanderson, 11, of West Fairview, to the hospital.

The young man was chasing a big butterfly, the first he had seen this year, when he came upon "two green colored snakes." His aversion for reptiles caused him to change his course abruptly and in doing so he fell and fractured his right arm.

Poise and Religion Called World Needs

PHILADELPHIA, March 25.—(AP.)—One hundred eminent men summarized the world's intellectual needs. Some of these needs are defined by them as intellectual genius, poise, dependence on God and more attention to history.

The summary was issued by the American Philosophical Society, as part of the ideas expressed in the first 100 letters received in reply to its recently inaugurated canvass to obtain an "intellectual stock-taking" of the world.

DECISIONS DUE ON PITTSBURGH MEASURES

HARRISBURG, March 25.—A Pittsburgh councilman would be eligible for election as controller or mayor "during the term for which he was elected" under the Coyne bill on third reading in the Senate tonight.

Several councilmen aspired to succeed the late Controller John H. Henderson, but found themselves barred. The Coyne bill eliminates the provision making them ineligible for election to any office "during the terms for which they are elected," restricting it merely to forbidding their holding two positions.

The Schilling bill that would prevent a Pittsburgh mayor or councilman from serving more than two terms in succession is on final passage postponed in the House.

The Rhodes measure increasing the pay of all Allegheny County officials now getting less to $10,000 is on second reading in the House.

The Marcus bill that would eliminate "for the good of the service" as a reason for discharging an employe under civil service is on first reading. The Marcus bill raising the pay of tipstaves is on second reading in the Senate, having passed the House.

The Mansfield measure creating a state parole commission, and two allied measures, are on third reading in the Senate. The Goehring measure codifying the divorce laws is on final passage.

Hurt Leaving Train, Sues for $10,000

WASHINGTON, Pa., March 25.—Sarah C. Pettibone, of Burgettstown, has filed a $10,000 damage suit against the Pennsylvania Railroad for injuries suffered in alighting from a train at McDonald. She alleges negligence in that the train was not stopped so she could get off at the platform provided and that she fell and was hurt when she stepped off on the roadbed.

Man Slain in Liquor Fight, Suspect Held

WASHINGTON, Pa., March 25.—Eddie Bradley, 30, of Bertha, must answer to a charge of murder in connection with the death of George Young, Negro, at Bertha. Bradley is said to have struck Young over the head with a paling during a quarrel over a gallon of liquor which Young was given money to purchase.

SCIENTIFIC EXPERIMENTS MAY END 'DOPE' SCOURGE

WASHINGTON, March 25.—A world without narcotic drugs. Such a prophetic vision may be fulfilled if experiments now being conducted prove successful.

In the chemical research laboratories at the University of Virginia eminent scientists, without fanfare or trumpeting, are endeavoring to produce synthetic compounds to replace dangerous, habit-forming drugs for medical and scientific purposes. The work is sponsored by the National Research Council with money supplied by the Rockefeller interests.

Science, which already has solved many of the world's most distressing ills, thus may prove to be the dominaant factor in smashing the dope evil.

PROGRESS MADE

Progress already has been made in this direction. Novacaine, a non-habit forming coal tar product, now is being used largely as a substitute for cocaine as an anesthetic. The Army and Navy and the big hospitals over the country are discouraging the use of cocaine, which is one of the most evil of the narcotic drugs.

However, prominent physicians declare that for certain limited types of cases, cocaine still is needed. That is why at Virginia an effort is being made to produce a more efficacious substitute.

But the aims of the Virginia experiment go farther. Science wants to know what properties are so peculiar to opium that it enslaves the user who becomes addicted to it. The component parts of opium are being segregated and analyzed to test their chemical qualities. It may be discovered that a chemical can be withdrawn or added to opium to destroy its deleterious effects. The same tests are being applied to the molecules of morphine.

SUBSTITUTES FAIL

On two notable occasions in the past, the world has been buoyed by announcement of the discovery of a substitute for opium and morphine. When a German scientist discovered heroin, it was heralded as the long sought after relief. Physicians everywhere, rather through ignorance than negligence, turned to the supposedly harmless drug and prescribed it to their patients.

And then the world awoke to the dangers of heroin, it was proved to be not only habit-forming but the most harmful of the drug family. It was derived from opium. America since has banished heroin and other countries are proscribing it.

U. S. EXPERIMENTS

A year ago a German announced two new synthetic drugs. They were described to be free of habit-forming qualities. A request was made to allow the drugs to enter the United States as not being under the ban of the narcotic laws. American scientists investigated. The drugs were barred, for they were found to be dangerous.

Now America is conducting its own experiments. The results, Federal health officers hope, may lead to the abolition of narcotics for medical and scientific purposes.

Five Out of Six Fail 'Dry Agents' Tests

WASHINGTON, March 25.—(NS.)—Five out of every six applicants for appointment to the prohibition service fail to pass the necessary examinations, the civil service commission reported to the Senate. Out of 21,000 applicants since July 1, 1927, the commission reported, only 3,530 passed, most of whom were certified for appointment as dry agents. The cost of these examinations totaled $265,000.

The Treasury revealed that hundreds of dry agents were being retained under temporary appointments, despite the act of Congress placing the prohibition bureau under civil service. The salaries paid these men since July 1, 1927, totaled $2,138,000.

MUSIC

Breeskin Ensemble
Y. M. & W. H. A.

PROGRAM.
Sonata, D Minor .... Brahms
Elias Breeskin and Oscar Helfenbein.
Terzetto .... Anton Dvork
Elias Breeskin, Frank Apter and Milton Lomask.
Simfonietta .... Wolf-Ferrari
Breeskin Ensemble.

At the Young Men and Women's Hebrew Association, last night, Elias Breeskin arranged and helped to play one of the most cheerful programs of chamber music ever heard from our local ensembles. Breeskin is a violinist of great vigor and easily led the way for his men into ensemble that was notable for its sturdy rhythms and good intonation.

The violin Sonata of Brahms is more easily digestible than much of his chamber music, especially for a lay audience. Mr. Helfenbein now plays more flexibly than heretofore, but he must have felt himself far too much an accompanist instead of a good half of the sonata. The Terzetto was a fine novelty. Dvork's folk color ever on the surface and very lovable.

The Breeskin ensemble of strings and wind instruments has fine possibilities. The music of Wolf-Ferrari is quite obvious; it is often operatic in swing, but that spirit does not persist long enough to detract from niceties of his better musical self. The tone of the players was somewhat lacking in finesse, but the clarinettist, Domenico Caputo, should be especially commended for many a fluent phrase.

J. FRED LISSFELT.

Yost Quartet
Schenley Ballroom

PROGRAM.
Quartet, Op. 18, No. 1 .... Beethoven
Les Dunes, Lacleuse .... John B. McEwen
Quartet, Op. 10 .... Debussy

The Yost String Quartet closed a most successful season with the concert in the Schenley Ballroom yesterday afternoon. Despite the inviting weather out-of-doors, there was a very good and most appreciative audience which asked for encores.

The program was very sane, an early quartet of Beethoven, two attractive tone poems, and a most red-blooded work of Debussy. McEwen's "Les Dunes" is already known here and has always been a fine touch of color among classics. It would be well to include some of his other works for string quartet which are numerous enough and absolutely strange to us.

The quartet seemed fatigued and although the earlier movements of each number were attacked with vigor, both the Beethoven and the Debussy slumped in tone and rhythm at the end. This group of men has given us much pleasure during the winter and has brought us much worthy music. May the quartet's success continue.

Chester School Girl Spelling Champion

PHILADELPHIA, March 25.—(AP.)—Norma Bram, 17, Chester High School girl, won the annual Pierce interscholastic spelling championship in an all-day contest in which 170 of the best spellers in 35 Pennsylvania and New Jersey schools competed. Ability to spell "delectable" gave Miss Bram the championship over Florence Daube, of Mays Landing, N. J., only remaining contestant, who failed on the word.

Spring City, Pa., High School, and Moorestown, N. J., High School, tied for the team championship. Vineland, N. J., was next and Mays Landing, last year's champions, followed. Girls won all the honors, the two winning teams being composed entirely of girls.

That very night Harold proposed

If ever a girl had felt mean and miserable, it was Helen just the day before the Annual Company Ball. Red-nosed and sniffling, headachy and weak, she little resembled the vivacious Helen that men all called "the life of the party."

She had tried all the old home remedies and some of the new ones. Yet the cold hung on stubbornly and got worse. .... The very next night her cold was gone, her youthful spirits had returned, she looked so fit and fine that Harold proposed!

Millions of people credit GROVE'S BROMO QUININE as the surest and quickest relief for obstinate colds. It is a prescription that has earned world-wide endorsement because it goes to the root of acute coryza (colds and their complications). Mildly laxative, it gently activates sluggish intestines and rids the body of waste and accumulated poisons. Then it tones and builds up the system.

Take the tiny tablets as directed and you will marvel at the speed with which your cold departs. But don't expect such results unless you make sure of getting the right remedy by emphasizing GROVE'S, when asking the druggist for GROVE'S BROMO QUININE. Price 30c.

101 DEAD, MANY HOMELESS IN FLOOD ZONES

International News Service.

ATLANTA, Ga., March 25.—Rampant streams and freakish storms through the southeast today had piled up the appalling toll of 101 known dead, some 35,000 homeless and property damage reaching far into the millions.

Avalanches of water, surging down the narrow valleys of Eastern Tennessee and Kentucky claimed 39 lives.

The Tennessee-Kentucky death list, along with four drownings in Alabama, and 15 deaths in six southeastern states from a series of freakish tornadoes, increased the storm and flood fatalities in the stricken sector to 58 over the week-end.

101 DEATHS IN 10 DAYS

Flood waters earlier in the month claimed 43 lives, caused tens of millions of dollars property damage and made 25,000 homeless in Georgia, Alabama, and Northwestern Florida. Since the middle of the month there have been 101 deaths in the Southeast from floods and storms.

24 DEAD AT HARRIMAN.

Twenty-four deaths were reported by John Davis, chairman of relief work at Harriman, Tenn., while a few miles away, eight Boy Scouts were drowned.

In Kentucky, it was estimated, more than 5,000 persons are homeless.

25,000 ALABAMA REFUGEES

The new flood menace in Alabama was reported improved today. There are still nearly 25,000 flood refugees in Alabama, left by the disaster of 10 days ago.

Fifteen persons were killed by cyclones which struck sections of Louisiana to Virginia, some score were injured and considerable property was damaged.

The Cumberland River was at flood stage as far South as Nashville and low sections of the city were under water.

CHATTANOOGA FLOODED

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., March 25.—(INS.)—Approximately 500 families in the low sections of the city moved to higher ground today when the Tennessee river reached a depth of 37.6 feet at 8 a. m.

The stream was rising at about one-fifth foot an hour, and was expected to crest sometime today, as tons of water shot down from the flood-ravaged sections of Eastern Tennessee.

Findlay, O., Bank Indictments Dropped

FINDLAY, O., March 25.—(AP.)—Twenty-seven indictments against former directors of the defunct Arcadia Bank and Savings Company, which failed November 3, 1927, were nolle prossed in Common Pleas Court following conviction of Ralph C. Willis for complicity in alleged embezzlement. The action was taken at the request of Prosecutor Marcus C. Downing, and clears the criminal docket of all cases resulting from the bank's failure. Two former officials of the bank are serving penal terms. Embezzlement of $273,000 was charged.

Two Held for Court On Lottery Charge

Charged with conducting a lottery, Philip Foglia and Philip Frangone, 29, of 44 Chatham street were held for court today in Central Police Station by Magistrate Thomas D. Jones. They were arrested when police raided the establishment at 44 Catham street as they answered a fictitious murder alarm telephoned to the police operator.

Safe Crackers Work Hard, Get Nothing

WHEELING, W. Va., March 25.—Safe crackers went to a lot of trouble here early yesterday for nothing. They climbed a telephone pole, crossed a ladder into a third floor window of the F. W. Woolworth Company Building, and broke off a safe door with a 16-pound sledge hammer, only to find that an inner door of the safe resisted their efforts.

Store attaches said more than $1,000 was in the safe.

Sweeney, in Fight, Fined by Sweeney

When Sweeney meets Sweeney in Police Court, it means grief for the Sweeney on the wrong side of the rail, it was evidenced in South Side Police Court. Joseph Bennett, 36, of 2751 Stromberg street, and James Sweeney, 26, of 2753 Stromberg street, arrested early yesterday for fighting in front of Bennett's home, were charged with disorderly conduct. Magistrate John J. Sweeney discharged Bennett and fined Sweeney $10.

Man Pinned in Mud By Auto Suffocated

TITUSVILLE, Pa., March 25.—(AP.)—Floyd Darling, 38, was suffocated in mud Saturday night while pinned under his overturned automobile on the McKinney highway between here and Oil City. Verne Spence, also caught under the machine, succeeded in keeping his head clear of the mud until the car was lifted. The automobile turned over when it failed to make a turn. Darling leaves his widow and a son. He resided at Kaneville, near Oil City.

DEATH OF GIRL IN TEACHER'S ROOM PROBED

HAMILTON, Ont., March 25.—(INS.)—Chemical analysis of a piece of candy found clutched in a hand of Eva Coleman, 20, pretty Sunday school teacher, was made today while police held Harold Neice, mathematics instructor at Central Collegiate Institute, in whose apartment the girl died.

Neice told police today that the girl had come to his apartment and asked him to marry her. When he told her he was already married, Neice said, she took a piece of candy from her purse and started eating it. In a few minutes, he asserted, she stiffened and died.

Authorities expressed themselves today as not satisfied that Neice was not, as he claimed, owner of surgical instruments and pills found in his apartment.

Neice lived alone in his apartment. He is said to have been separated from his wife for some time.

CHICAGO STOCK POOL DENIED

CHICAGO, March 25.—(AP.)—R. Arthur Wood, president of the Chicago Stock Exchange, issued a denial last night that a money pool is being formed by Chicago financial interests to make available loans on call to local brokers.

"No money pool has been formed here, nor will there be," Wood declared.

It had been reported Saturday that a $40,000,000 pool was being formed after a conference of bankers and stock exchange leaders, the conference coming at the end of a day in which the bears had their way on the local exchange. Stocks had been dumped on the board heavily as the banks called in loans.

Wood also denied that any orders for stocks listed on the Chicago exchange were being refused by any members of the exchange.

"There is nothing serious or critical about the money situation in Chicago," Wood said in his statement. "Due to pressure put on our local banks recently by the Federal Reserve Board a condition did arise wherein the brokerage houses of Chicago were asked to co-operate with the banks in assisting to bring about a reduction in the loans of our banks from the Federal Reserve Bank. This situation has been met in an orderly manner without the necessity of setting up any artificial machinery."

Gandhi Continues Fight on Eve of Trial

CALCUTTA, India, March 25.—(AP.)—Mohandas K. Gandhi, Indian Nationalist leader, has arrived from Rangoon. He addressed a large gathering, advocating the burning of foreign cloth on the occasion of a Hindu festival today. Gandhi will go on trial tomorrow in connection with burning foreign cloth at Mirzapur Park, for which offense he was arrested on March 4.

Truck Kills Child On Way to Church

FREDERICK, Md., March 25.—(AP.)—Mabel Sparrow, 4, of Catonsville, was killed here yesterday when struck by a milk truck while she and her sister were on their way to Sunday school. Mabel and her sister, Elizabeth, 13, had waited at a street crossing for the traffic lights to change. The younger girl suddenly ran directly in the path of the truck.

Weather Conditions.

Low pressure is centered north of the lakes this morning, with a trough formation extending southward over the central valleys to Texas. The disturbance is producing much cloudiness, but the precipitation was light, and was limited to the region of the lakes. This disturbance was centered over Colorado yesterday morning, and over the southern plains last night. It produced record high temperatures over the central and southern Mississippi Valley states yesterday.

High pressure overlies the North Atlantic coast, and another high covers the Pacific coast and extends eastward over the Central Rocky Mountain states. The temperatures continue above normal over the eastern half of the country, about normal over the central and southern plains, and below normal over the Dakotas and northward in Canada.

River Conditions.

The rivers are falling very slowly. Stage at Franklin is 8.0 feet; Dam No. 7, 11.7; Pittsburgh, 16.4; Dam No. 2, 8.5; Dam No. 6, 16.5, and Dam No. 12, 15.4. The rivers will continue to fall slowly.

Sign This Petition and Help to Cut Taxes

Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph

To the Congress of the United States:

We, the undersigned, respectfully urge that the Congress of the United States give immediate consideration to the proposition that there be a downward revision of all income taxes on all earned incomes such as salaries or fees, or commissions for personal services. We urge this because of the many instances where wage or fee or commission earners sometimes have just a few years of good incomes and prior to and after that period have substantially less incomes. Their period of better earnings which might give the average wage earner a chance to accumulate some capital is heavily taxed and they seldom have a new opportunity for the accumulation of savings which might tend to make more useful citizens of them.

Labor in general, lawyers, doctors, architects, clerical workers, salesmen, dentists, engineers, journalists, accountants, actors, motion picture actors, singers, musicians, and all the other professional people are in the same plight in the matter of earned income as distinguished from earnings on capital, and since they represent a great percentage of the citizenry of the country, we beg the gravest consideration of this proposition. Each signer below hereby enrolls as a member of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph League for the Downward Revision of Taxes on earned incomes and will work with that newspaper toward the end stated.

Permission is hereby granted the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph to list the signer in the proper Labor, Clerical or Professional Division of the said League for presentation of our signatures to the United States Congress for the stated purpose.

The signer is not obliged to make any kind of contribution or to do anything except to give his moral support to this movement.

POLICEGUNNERS TOP BANKERS

State police proved themselves more adept at marksmanship than a team of bankers Saturday night, and as a result captured the championship of the Western Pennsylvania Revolver League. The bankers dropped their pens and cash books to try conclusions with the troopers but found the mounted police more expert with their guns.

The shoot, held at the National Guard Armory at Greensburg, was the second in the championship match. The troopers won the first at the Hazelwood Police Station by a margin of 13 points, the score being: State police, 1,439; bankers, 1,426. The outcome of the Greensburg match was: State police, 1,440; bankers, 1,419.

Highest mark of the match was made by First Sergt. Andrew Hudock of the state police, who scored 295 out of a possible 300. The winning team will receive a trophy.

POLICE STOP SUNDAY SHOW

A theatrical performance by the Yehoash Folk School scheduled for the Lando Theater, Center avenue, was closed yesterday by police who arrested two ticket takers. Sponsors of the performance declared no admission price had been charged.

The men arrested, Samuel Weingarten and Bennie Snyder, of Center avenue, were released on security of $30 each. It was the third time within six months that a Sunday performance in the theater, which is in the heart of the Jewish quarter, had been interfered with by Inspector James N. Hoey's policemen.

Girl Flier's Altitude Record Falls to Man

SYRACUSE, N. Y., March 25.—(AP.)—A world's altitude record for airplanes powered by OX-5 motors, was established at the Syracuse airport yesterday by Edward J. (Red) Devereaux, chief pilot of the Curtiss Flying Service, Inc. Devereaux climbed to a height of about 16,000 feet to shatter the previous record of 11,663 feet, made by Miss Elinor Smith, of New York City.

2 Die in Oil Town Fire

BORGER, Tex., March 25.—(AP.)—Two men were burned to death and a third perhaps fatally burned in a fire which destroyed four business house "shacks" on the main street of this oil town yesterday afternoon. The flames were fanned by a high wind.

2 ROB AUTOIST, FLEE IN HIS CAR

When Charles F. Long, of 1126 Locust street, McKeesport, stopped his machine at River avenue and Sandusky street early yesterday, two thugs leaped on the running board, slugged him, robbed him, and escaped in the automobile.

At the North Side station, Long reported the loss of a watch, $6 in cash and his automobile.

According to Long, one of the highwaymen forced him into a back seat with a gun while the other seated himself at the wheel and drove the machine along River avenue. Near the Sixteenth Street Bridge the car was stopped, and the thugs robbed their victim. Believing Long was hiding most of his money, the men cuffed him and tore his clothing. They then threw Long in the street and sped away.

Mt. Washington Rd. Cleared After Slide

More than five tons of debris which slid down upon the Mt. Washington roadway, at the Monongahela Incline, after Saturday's heavy rain was removed yesterday. Ten men with two teams of horses from the Department of Highways worked for five hours, so that motorists and pedestrians would not be endangered by the slide. Traffic was not tied up for any considerable length of time.

Mail Theft Suspect Faces New Charge

Martin Hendel, who was arrested a week ago in connection with a $125,000 Canadian postal robbery and released under bail, faced a hearing today before Magistrate James J. Lundie, of McKeesport, on charges that he helped to fleece various McKeesport citizens. He was rearrested Sunday, along with Harry Stein. Police said he was carrying a blackjack fashioned of lead pipe.

Safe Robbers Hold Pair Prisoner All Night

CHICAGO, March 25.—(AP.)—Five bandits who kept a jewelry store manager and his wife prisoner in the couple's apartment all night rifled the store and escaped with $1,000 in cash and $29,000 in gems yesterday.

Fred and Elizabeth Lindeman found the five strangers in their parlor when they came home. The bandits threatened Lindeman with a gun and he gave them the store safe combination.

Three of the men departed at dawn, emptied the safe, returned for the other two, and escaped.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Informal Social Events To Amuse School Set Home for Easter

THE world in which society moves is again becoming a pleasant place in which to dwell. With the school set home for the Easter holidays, there's bound to be entertainment, even though of an informal nature, befitting the last week of Lent; and with Easter coming so early, there's promise of an unusually long spring season. And a long spring season means more weddings, I hope. When Easter has come and gone, we shall hear of many wedding dates for April and May, I'm sure.

Do you realize that spring, for spring as far as society is concerned, begins with Easter Sunday, has not been so early in arriving since 1918? Then as in this year, Easter fell on March 31. In 1923 Easter was April 1.

SOME young people, encouraged by the warm-hearted sun, have not waited until after Easter for their weddings.

I wonder if you heard about the marriage of Ruth Haskins, daughter of the Edward Wentworth Haskinses, of Pelham Manor, and Ralph Gascoigne Brown, son of Mrs. Addison Brown and the late Judge Brown, of New York? The ceremony took place Saturday afternoon in the Huguenot Memorial Church, Pelham Manor.

The bridegroom is a brother of Stanley N. Brown, of Murrayhill avenue, who served as best man. Among the bridesmaids was Mrs. Leigh French, of New York, sister of the bridegroom.

A reception at the home of the bride's parents followed the ceremony. After a wedding trip in the South, the Browns will make their home in Wichita, Kan.

AMONG the events planned to entertain the school set home for the holidays is a bridge luncheon Elizabeth Cheek Nicholson, daughter of the John H. Nicholsons, of Shady avenue, will give on Wednesday afternoon in the Twentieth Century Club. The bridge will honor Katherine Burnett, of New York, who'll be her house guest for the holidays.

Elizabeth came out, as I recall, a year ago this winter. She'll be graduated in June from Smith College, did you know?

ANOTHER debutante of 1927 who continued her college career after making her debut is Lucy Coleman Ward, daughter of the T. Coleman Wards, of Walnut street. She came home Saturday morning to spend 10 days with her father and mother. June will bring her graduation from college, too.

FROM now until mid-April the tempo of the brilliant social season in the southern resorts will not lessen. Many entertainments were given during the last week. The Joseph W. Marshes, who may always be found at Ormond Beach during the late winter months, entertained recently with a large putting party on the Barbour Oval, Hotel Ormond.

NEWS of another interesting social event comes from Augusta, Ga. Mrs. James W. Benning, Jr., of Montreal, formerly of Sewickley, and Mrs. J. J. McGill, of Montreal, entertained recently at a bridge luncheon at the Bon Air Vanderbilt in honor of Lady Laura Borden, of Laidsmere, Ottawa, Canada. Lady Borden is the wife of former Premier Sir Robert Borden. Among the guests were Mrs. Benning's mother, Mrs. George Phelps Rose; Mrs. Howard Heinz and Mrs. James M. Schoonmaker.

THANKSGIVING DAY, always such a sought-after date for debutante parties, has been taken by the James Hay Reeds, of Castleman street, for a tea dance in the Pittsburgh Golf Club to introduce their daughter, Frances Prebles Reed. Thanksgiving falls on November 28 this year, you know.

Frances is a student at the Spence School in New York, and I understand that she arrived home for the Easter vacation the latter part of last week.

AGAIN a very late June date has been taken for the Sewickley dog show. The final Saturday in the month, June 29, is the time chosen, and the show will be held, as usual, on the horse show grounds of the Allegheny Country Club, the proceeds to go to the social service work of the Allegheny General Hospital.

MR. AND MRS. J. deS. FREUND, of Shady avenue, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Jane Freund, to Donald Steinfirst, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Steinfirst, of Pittsburgh.

* * *

MR. AND MRS. W. N. OGDEN, of Oakmont, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Dorothy Tiers Ogden, and Morris Scott Verner, son of Mrs. M. S. Verner, of Hulton road, Oakmont.

MISS EDNA JANE HADDOCK, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rollins A. Haddock, Jr., of Ivy street, and Miss Henrietta Robertson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carroll C. Robertson, of Glenmore avenue, Dormont, returned home Saturday from the Harcort Place School at Gambier, O., for the Easter vacation.

THE Ladies' Guild of St. Bede's Caholic Church will hold a bake sale Saturday from 10 to 4 o'clock at 6130 Penn avenue, East Liberty. The committee includes Mrs. M. B. Regan, Mrs. O. E. Fussenegger, Mrs. E. C. Haight, Mrs. James Branagan, Mrs. D. Brigham, Mrs. J. A. Jackson, Mrs. George Mechlick, Mrs. E. A. Keller, Mrs. J. N. Wolfe, Mrs. L. M. Newlin, Mrs. David Page and Mrs. R. W. Neyhart.

THOMPSON CASE SUBPENA SERVED PRINCESS BY RUSE

UNIONTOWN, March 25.—Through a ruse of following the grocery boy to a rear door and then brushing past Gerald Fitzgerald, blind son of the Princess of Thurn and Taxis, Smith Fuller, who stood guard at the home of Mrs. Lenora Niccolls, West Main street, for more than two days, says he served the princess with the subpena which summoned her to appear before Referee in Bankruptcy Watson B. Adair in Pittsburgh in the J. V. Thompson "hidden assets" hearing.

Fuller stated that the summons had been served last week on the day the guards were removed, but for some reason the matter was kept a secret.

According to Fuller, he closely followed a grocery boy to the rear of the Niccolls home, where the Princess had been in voluntary seclusion in dodging a summons and when Gerald opened the door he quickly brushed past him and ran upstairs in the direction of a window from which he had seen the Princess peering earlier in the day. According to Fuller he met the Princess in the hall, quickly read the summons and disappeared without exchange of words.

The princess and Miss Mary Sheplar, both nieces of Thompson will be asked to tell what they know of an alleged cancelled check for $3,000,000. The check is alleged to have been exhibited at a dinner party in New York which the two women attended and represented money paid to the former coal baron as "commission."

The princess and Miss Sheplar, the latter now in New York, it is expected, will appear before Referee in Bankruptcy Watson B. Adair in Pittsburgh, April 4, at an adjourned hearing in the Thompson case. The princess failed to appear at a hearing last Friday.

For the first time in nearly a week the Princess was seen on the street Saturday night.

Pastor's Poems Stir Strife; He Quits

HAVERHILL, Mass., March 25.—(AP.)—The sudden resignation of the Rev. Harry Elwood Hurd as pastor of the Center Congregational Church here after a discussion with the parish prudential committee regarding the printing of his poems in the church calendar has aroused church circles in this city.

Mr. Hurd recently read a letter of resignation from the pulpit, effective Easter Sunday, in which he declared that "he would not bow to the dictator." No reference was made to the matter of his poetry, but it was learned that parish officers had objected to the cost of the large program made necessary by inclusion of his poems. Yesterday a guest minister occupied the pulpit, and the church calendar appeared with a large white space below the notices.

King George's Sons May Govern Colonies

LONDON, March 25.—(AP.)—Appointment of Prince George to the foreign office has revived gossip over the possible future employment of the three younger sons of the King in the service of the country as representatives of the Crown in the dominions and colonies. This is a favorite project of King George himself.

The Duke of Gloucester, who starts his mission to Japan this week, visited the King at Craigwell House yesterday to have a long talk and to say goodbye.

Woman Dies in Auto Crash

HARRISBURG, March 25.—(AP.)—Mrs. Charles Hoy, of Pillow, was killed when the car driven by her husband collided with another machine driven by John Smith, of Rockville. The accident occurred on the Williams Valley highway east of Millersburgh.

Movie Directors Decide Girls' Greatest Loveliness

HOLLYWOOD, Calif.—39 movie directors say that the secret of a girl's attractiveness is exquisite skin. "It is a first essential for the screen star," says Clarence Badger, Paramount director. "Only marvelously smooth skin carries over to the audience," Sue Carol explains. "Lux Toilet Soap leaves my skin gloriously smooth." Nine out of ten screen stars are using this white fragrant soap. And all the great film studios have made it their official soap in all dressing rooms.

The First Hot Breakfast ever irradiated with Ultra-Violet Rays

Quaker Farina given bone-building "health effect" of sunlight which children need

YOU'VE heard of sunshine's power to speed children's growth. To build bones and muscle in little bodies. But do you know why sunlight has this power? And that now a scientist has imparted it to a good hot breakfast food, Quaker Farina, which you can give your children to eat?

Vitamin "D," scientists call the secret of sunlight's friendly rays. This vitamin enables the body to build strong bones and teeth. Children who get it are usually well developed physically. Their appetites are good.

But "sun starvation" is common. 90% of children in cities, say authorities, suffer from it. Children who lack Vitamin "D" show it by undeveloped bones. They don't eat; they are "always having colds." Thus authorities hail with joy a new source of the "sun vitamin." Irradiated Quaker Farina is its name.

Irradiated Quaker Farina is simply this famous hot breakfast food made to contain Vitamin "D" by Ultra Violet Rays, under the Steenbock Process. This Vitamin "D" it can pass on to you. You can buy it at your grocer's—and start your children getting their "sun ration" tomorrow morning!

Quaker Farina is the creamy white heart of the wheat. Of fine flavor, it is quick and easy to digest. And now it contains a health quality no other hot breakfast food can claim! The price remains the same. NOTE: All Quaker Farina is irradiated although some packages are not so marked.

Plenty of sunshine brings happiness!

IRRADIATED Quaker Farina

CHARLEROI FETE APRIL 4

CHARLEROI, Pa., March 25.—The annual banquet of the Charleroi Chamber of Commerce will be held in the Charleroi Elks Club, April 4. Invitations have been accepted by C. F. Taplin, of Cleveland, general counsel of the Pittsburgh and West Virginia Railway, now being built through this section, and Fred C. Baird, of Pittsburgh, general manager of the same railroad.

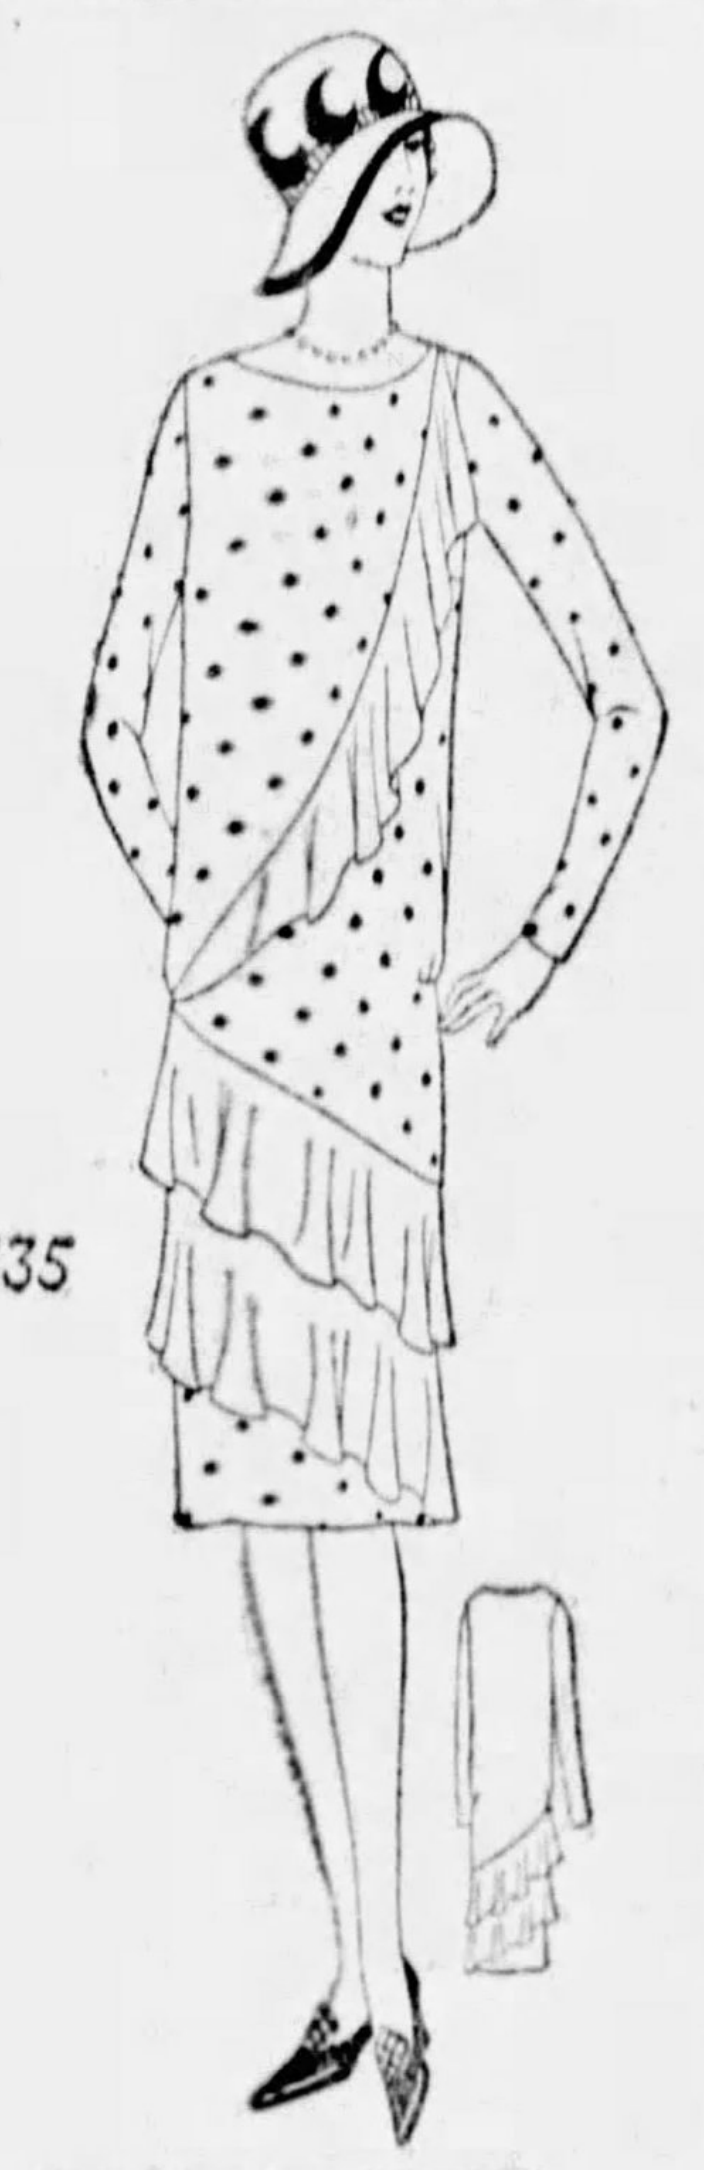
The speakers for the evening are Samuel S. Lewis, treasurer of the State of Pennsylvania and Rabbi Benjamin A. Lichter.

Former Gov. John K. Tener will be toastmaster. Music will be furnished by Al Zeffro's Golden Gate Eight Orchestra.

Woman Twice Made Widow by Trains

UNIONTOWN, March 25.—Just seven years after her first husband, Alexander Gordon, had been run down and killed by a P. R. R. passenger train near Dunbar, Mrs. Rachel Darby's second husband, James Darby, was struck and killed by a Baltimore and Ohio passenger train.

The Sun-Telegraph Fifteen Cent Pattern



A DAINTY FROCK.

Printed silk and crepe are here combined. This is also a good style for gabardine and organdy in combination, or for printed and plain voile together. The dress blouses slightly at the hips. The flounces are arranged on diagonal lines. The upper flounce forms a graceful jabot from the left shoulder to the right hip, where it meets the flounces that encircle the dress. The round neck is youthful. The sleeve is a one-piece fitted model.

This pattern is cut in six sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44 inches bust measure. To make a 38-inch size of one material will require 6½ yards, 39 inches wide. For the flounces of contrasting material 3¼ yards will be required. To finish neck, sleeves and flounces with bias binding will require 8¼ yards. The width of the dress at the lower edge is 48 inches.

COUPON.

This pattern will be sent on receipt of 15 cents (silver or 2c and 1c stamps). Make number, name, address, etc., plain. Send to Pattern Department. The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh, Pa.

MIRTH, TUNES, VARIETY IN THEATERS

"A Connecticut Yankee," musical play, begins its engagement in the Alvin tonight. This attraction played one solid year in the Vanderbilt, New York, and the company to appear here is the original one.

"Nonette," late star of "The Countess Maritza," billed as "the singing violiniste," is one of the featured acts in the two-a-day Keith-Albee-Orpheum vaudeville program in the Davis this week. Harry Langdon and Jay Ward are the headliners.

Seats are on sale today in the box office, Nixon Theater, for George C. Tyler's "Macbeth," with Florence Reed, Lyn Harding, William Farnum and a numerous company. The engagement is for one week, opening next Monday night.

A musical play, "Boom Boom," with a big cast headed by Frank MacIntyre, comes to the Alvin for an engagement of one week, opening next Monday night, with matinees Wednesday and Saturday. "Boom Boom" comes direct from an engagement in the Casino Theater, New York.

The box office of the Pitt is open for the sale of seats for Easter Week, opening the season of the George Sharp Players. The play will be "This Thing Called Love," a comedy of domestic life.

ALL FOX FILMS TO BE 'TALKIES'

NEW YORK, March 25.—(AP.)—The Fox Film Corporation has announced that hereafter it will make only dialogue and sound pictures in its four studios here and on the West Coast and at the same time announced the signing of several stage stars and writers to act and write exclusively for talking pictures.

Metro-Goldyn-Mayer and the Loew Film companies, other Fox enterprises, will continue to produce both silent and talking pictures.

"Not only will thousands of actors be affected," the statement from Winfield Sheehan, vice president and general manager of Fox films, said, "but also scenario writers, title writers, directors and supervisors. While this ill wind is blowing no good for them it means new importance will accrue to speaking actors, singers, stage experts and others connected with the so-called legitimate stage."

Will Rogers, George Jessel and Willie Collier were among the stage stars signed by Fox.

The Fox units affected are one in New York, two in Hollywood and one in Westwood, Cal.

SCREEN STARS :-: BESSIE LOVE :-: IN MUSICAL SHOW

Miss Love, in this scene from Broadway Melody, is depicted as telling Jed Prouty a thing or two. Incidentally, Jed helps with the comedy relief in the production.

Lejeune Elected As Head of School

RICHMOND, Va., March 25.—(AP.)—The board of visitors of Virgin'a Military Institute, meeting here, was unanimous in its formal election of Maj. Gen. John Lejeune, former commander of the United States Marine Corps, as superintendent of the institute to succeed Gen. William Cocke, resigned.

COMPOSERS LURED BY TALKIES

"Tin Pan Alley" is rapidly moving into Hollywood. Noted songwriters and composers are spending much of their time now providing musical scores and novelty numbers for talking pictures.

At the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studio Gus Edwards, who wrote "School Days;" Fred Fisher, author of "Dardanella;" Billy Rose, whose best known piece is "Me and My Shadow;" Nacio Herb Brown and Arthur Freed are working under long-term contracts. In the production of "The Broadway Melody," all-talking film coming to the Aldine, Brown and Freed were "teamed" to prepare the musical score.

"Thematic songs and numbers in sound pictures will be popularized exactly as are the song hits in shows," declared Brown recently. "Song composers throughout the country are beginning to realize the tremendous scope of the talking picture field. The influx of song writers has just begun, and I believe it is only a matter of time until the popular music center will be Hollywood rather than New York.

"I suppose the general public doesn't realize that only about 8 per cent of the songs published ever become hits, in other words, sell in advance of 400,000 copies.

TOM MIX, HARRY LANGDON ON RADIO BILLS TONIGHT

By DARRELL V. MARTIN, Radio Editor

WHEN Tom Mix steps into the WCAE studio tonight at 11 in his six-gallon headgear and other accoutrement, it will mark the movie star's first appearance before a microphone in the East. Just what a wild-riding, six-shootin' movie cowboy can do to entertain an invisible audience is a matter of conjecture, but we presume Mr. Mix will tell us something about "Tony," his wonderful horse.

Harry Langdon, the man of laughs on the screen, didn't tickle our funnybone in his WEAF network broadcast a week ago, but we hope for better results tonight when he follows Mr. Tom Mix to the WCAE microphone. A man may be a riot on the stage or on the screen and still fall short of being a great radio entertainer, and very much vice versa.

PICKFORD FAVORITES

The spirit of "America's Sweetheart" will be wafted to all corners of Pittsburgh tonight at 9 p. m. when KDKA broadcasts the favorite songs of Mary Pickford.

Edith Fleisher, Metropolitan Opera soprano, will be the star of the Family Party, WCAE at 9:30, while Julia Sanderson and Frank Crumit will make their second appearance with the Panatelas Pageant over WJAS at 10 o'clock.

Carmen, heroine of Bizet's famous opera, was not a bad girl but merely a Spanish flapper with a somewhat liberal attitude toward life, believes Devora Nadworney, contralto prima donna of the National Grand Opera Company, who will interpret the role of "Carmen" in a production of the opera over WEAF at 11 o'clock.

TECH GLEE CLUB

Compositions of Harvey B. Gaul, Pittsburgh composer, will be sung by the Carnegie Tech Glee Club, KDKA at 7:01 p. m.

KDKA will also inaugurate a new series of features beginning tonight with a studio recital at 10:30 o'clock and the popular Slumber Music from WJZ at 11 p. m. Hereafter KDKA programs will run until midnight.

Several wires of congratulation were received by Louis L. Kaufman when he delivered the Far North program over KDKA Saturday night. From far up in Canada he received promise of a nice "chuck of deer meat." It was Kaufman's first appearance on the Far North feature since his recent illness.

EDITHA FLEISHER, STAR.
Editha Fleisher, famous European lyric soprano, will be heard instead of Florence Easton in the popular operatic program. Miss Easton, originally engaged as co-star with Alfio Tedesco, the Metropolitan Opera Company tenor, for this concert, has fallen victim to laryngitis and at the last moment finds herself unable to sing. Mme. Fleisher is especially noted in Europe as an interpreter of the songs of Mozart and the operas of Wagner, and made her first appearance in America with the Wagnerian Opera Company. Mme. Fleisher's program will present arias and scenes from familiar operas, with Tedesco, the symphony orchestra under the direction of Carlton Rogers and the opera chorus.

INDIAN SONGS.
The exploration of the Missouri River valley by Pierre de la Verendrye in 1738, who was searching for the ever-receding short route to India, is the theme. Verendrye was the first white man to tread the soil of the present state of North Dakota.
Indian songs by Juliette Gaultier de la Verendrye, a direct descendant of the French explorer, will be a feature. She has a mezzo-soprano voice, studied under Vincenzo Lombardi, a teacher of Caruso, and sings to the accompaniment of Indian tom toms.

Shoes of Burned Woman Fail as Clue

TIFFIN, O., March 25.—Investigation by police of records in all shoe stores here failed to develop any clue to the identity of a woman whose body was found burning along a roadside near Cranford, N. J., a month ago. Shoes worn by the woman bore the serial number of a St. Louis (Mo.) shoe factory which were part of a shipment sold to a Tiffin dealer.

Will Celebrate New Street Lights

Installation of new lights in the district will be celebrated by the Upper Federal Street Business Men's Association at their monthly meeting tomorrow night. Several civic leaders are listed to speak. C. C. Young, president, will preside.

Chapel Discards Candles After 500 Years

LONDON, March 25.—Because King George expressed approval of the idea, St. George's Chapel, in Windsor, after nearly 500 years of candle lighting, followed by oil and gas, is at last to have electric light.

The chapel has always been reluctant to fall into line with progress, especially in illumination, and both the nave and choir have been lighted by candle. Candle-light has cost the chapel between $1,000 and $1,500 a year, and the electric system is expected to reduce the expense.

The King attends the chapel on the three occasions every year when the court moves to Windsor Castle.

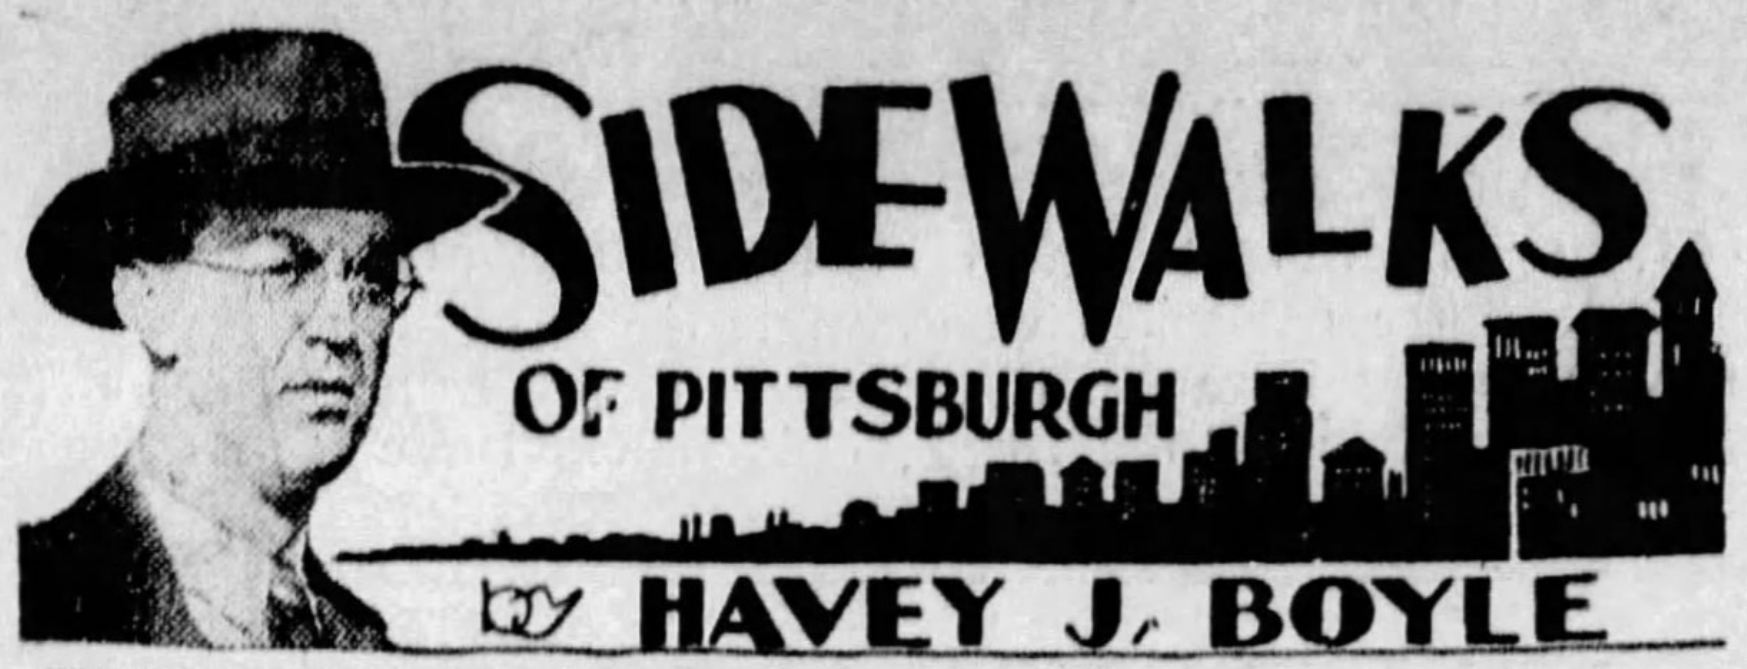
METROPOLITAN DISTRICT NEWS

MEMBERS BOLT MEETING, FEUD STARTED



SIDEWALKS OF PITTSBURGH

by HAVEY J. BOYLE

THE attention and courtesy showered on clients of the movie places are not superficial, by any means. A woman customer complained the other evening that her dress was damaged from coming in contact with chewing gum parked on a seat by a member of her sex. The lady was taken to the matron of the house who removed the stain as well as possible and the manager told the customer the dress would be cleaned at the theater's expense if sent down the next day.

Much fun is made of the saluting ushers, the concern of the floor managers, yet all this must be good stuff in view of the patience shown by movie audiences who line up in front, who stand inside for a time, and who finally must take a seat pretty far to the rear. Such inconveniences, perhaps, need the courtesy that movie people certainly accord to their trade.

A WALK through the lower Penn avenue section will stir the memories of any Pittsburgher. It was in that section where the old Exposition thrived—of fond memory to every boy and girl who went to the Pittsburgh schools. The pupils were granted a holiday each year to visit what they called the "Expo" and there they got a medium of education and a great amount of amusement. It had one or two peculiarities.

For instance, it is the only place I can recall where a specialty was made of the sale of whips. It reflected, I suppose, the horse age in some indefinite way. One would never think of buying a whip until one visited the "Expo." It was a sad day for Rover, the home pet dog, when the boys came back from the Exposition. With whip in hand and harsh voice, the boys immediately turned animal trainers and put poor Rover through paces he could see no sense in. At the "Expo" there was always a spectacle. The one I best recall was a thrilling replica of the Johnstown flood. One of the first cinema pictures was shown there. You got into an improvised Pullman coach and the pictures cast on the screen gave you the sensation of riding.

There were concerts by noted orchestras and famous leaders, afternoon and evening, but those were carefully avoided by the boys and girls, as, excepting the encores, the music was of a classical nature. The only exceptions were budding violinists and piano players, or embryonic barbers preparing to double with the cornet.

A short boat-ride provided other entertainment.

I remember one ridiculous exhibit over which everyone giggled slightly. There was a foolish man who gave short lectures on the possibility of making sounds reach from one point to a distant place without the aid of wires. I forget the name now, but I'm pretty sure it was not then called radio.

THE chapter here about deaf mutes brings word that these people are fairly good bridge players. According to my informant they do not use the finger language nor yet lip reading in their games, but have evolved a system of announcing their bids which saves time. Two fingers over the heart, of course, is two hearts. Three fingers in a gesture of hitting the table means three clubs. One diamond is easy—one simply points to the necktie.

A four spade bid is recorded by four quick motions indicating the bidder is using a shovel. In such a game the informatory groan is, of course, eliminated entirely. I understand the custom, when one deaf mute is displeased with his partner's lead, is simply to thumb the nose. In doubling the practice is to take out a pencil and pretend to insert it into the arm of the one doubled. This is known as giving the needle, which translated, means to double. This has advantages over the signals in oral bridge. The deaf mutes, for instance, when doubling in a business way use the point of the pencil. When it is simply an informatory double the blunt end of the pencil is used.

He will be accompanied by Garret Speer, counsel for the association and Joseph Miller of the metropolitan commission.

Man Injured, 2 Held In Pool Room Fight

Sylvester Gollis, 21, of 47 South Tenth street, is in the South Side Hospital with his hand cut and his eyes bruised, as the result of a fight, police said, with Frank Hines, 27, of 23 Diamond Square, in a poolroom at South Twelfth and Carson streets Saturday night. Both men were arrested and charged with disorderly conduct.

GOLF BALLS' RESILIENCE SCIENTIFICALLY TESTED

Whether the United States Golf Association will decree national adoption of standard specifications for golf balls, depends largely upon results of resilience tests now being made at the Carnegie Institute of Technology. Prof. H. A. Thomas, of the department of civil engineering, has been commissioned by the association to make an extensive research.

He has developed machines with which he has made exhaustive tests. His latest apparatus has enabled him to test the resilience of any standard-make golf ball with extreme accuracy.

In the tests, compressed air at 60 pounds pressure, representing driving power of an expert golfer, forces from a two-inch air gun, at a velocity of 175 feet per second, a hardwood projectile. The projectile strikes the golf ball to be tested and drives it forward with a velocity of about 230 feet per second. The ball is driven through one pendulum and then comes to a stop in a second pendulum. The projectile is retarded in the first pendulum by friction. From scales attached to both pendulums the velocity of the ball is measured and, by computation, the resilience can be established.

Prof. Thomas discloses some interesting facts about golf balls. Pressure between the club and the ball, he says is about 2,200 pounds. The club is in contact with the ball for 1-1200th of a second. The work required to drive a ball 300 yards is equal to the work done in lifting 185 pounds one foot. A golf ball is more resilient if hit at the same spot on the cover where the previous stroke landed. Golf balls are less resilient in cold weather than in hot weather.

MEASURING GOLF BALL'S "BOUNCE"

PROF. H. A. THOMAS TESTING RESILIENCE OF A GOLF BALL

Making a test at Carnegie Tech to find the resilience of a golf ball. The ball is driven with a 60-pound force, shot through one pendulum and caught in another. The velocity is registered as well as the force and from the tests the resilience is computed.

Benefit Planned For School Fund

A post-lenten party for the benefit of the annual school fund, Church of St. Cyril of Alexandria, will be given Monday evening, April 1, in St. Michaels Hall, Pius street, South Side. The committee announces a number of prizes will be given away and that the ticket sale is large.

PUMPKIN BEER, BREAD MAKING LOST ARTS

Long ago, when vegetables were scarce, even in summer, and not to be had at all in winter, the pumpkin was put to extraordinary diversified uses. With it New England housewives made pumpkin bread, now a lost art. Pumpkin also was used in the making of beer, custard, molasses, vinegar and pies.

Small wonder the early New Englanders, as it is related in Peter's General History of Connecticut, considered the pumpkin "one of the greatest blessings and held very sacred in New England."

Since earliest Colonial days the pumpkin has been the homely symbol in America of that season of mellow fruitfulness that separates summer from winter. Although its name is of French origin the pumpkin has become an institution typically American.

The etymology of the word can be traced from the French "pompon" in use before the colonization of America, through the stages of "pompion" and "pumpion" to "pumpkin." And except in print and among precise speakers one today will encounter the colloquial "punkin" oftener than the literary "pumpkin."

ELWYN URGES INSURANCE CUT

A 40 per cent reduction in fire insurance rates is being sought by Elwyn residents, it being contended that with more adequate fire protection provided by the arrangement whereby the Baldwin Independent Fire Company shall answer calls in Elwyn, the conditions exacted by the Board of Fire Underwriters has been met. A letter has been received from the underwriters stating that with the installation of an electric fire siren and distribution of cards of instruction in case of fire, the conditions may be considered as having been met.

The fire company has been placed at considerable expense in installing the additional equipment and is asking that half the amount saved in fire insurance be donated to the company.

Niece Benefits by Will of Uncle

The will of Thomas O'Keefe, 7513 Ormond street, Swissvale, just probated, leaves one-third of a $7,500 estate to his niece, Blanche Shannon, and the remainder to his son, Marcellus O'Keefe, of Bolougne-on-Seine, France. The Braddock Trust Company is named executor.

K. of C. Bowling Tournament Ends

A large representation from other councils in the Tri-State district attended the annual bowling tournament held by Bellevue Council No. 1400, Knights of Columbus, which ended Saturday night. The tournament was pronounced the most successful of the three which have been held.

East Liberty Bank Promotes Employes

Announcement has been made by the Highland National Bank of East Liberty of the appointment of Philip B. Dunn and John R. Abernathy as assistant cashiers. Mr. Dunn has been with the organization since its founding and Mr. Abernathy has been with the institution since 1924.

NEW HIGHWAY GREAT AID TO OVERBROOK

Overbrook residents are elated over the promise of the county commissioners to speed a new highway connecting that borough with the city. This was accomplished after a conference with the commissioners, who declared the highway would be advertised shortly after April 1.

The new road is a part of a vast project costing the county $1,160,000. It will begin at Woodsworth avenue in the West End and split at the Liberty Tubes, one part, known as the south branch to go directly to Overbrook and the other known as the north branch to go to Knoxville.

Residents of the borough going to the city now have to drive up Nobles lane to Brownsville road and thence to the city. With the completion of the new road, the Liberty Tubes and the Smithfield Bridge can be used, making the time consumed in driving to the city not more than 10 minutes.

It is proposed to have the highway completed before next winter.

S. SIDE URGES IMPROVEMENTS

Business men of the South Side are well pleased with the reception by City Councilmen of a delegation consisting of 50 members of the South Side Advancement Association, which at a luncheon held in the Chamber of Commerce rooms stressed the needs of their district.

James J. Buchanon, member of the association, stated the needs of the South Side as the larger business men see them. He cited the improvements already completed, which had been fostered by the association. The rate of taxation in that district is too high, the speaker contended, in view of the many improvements needed.

The five members of Council present made further inquiry into the betterments urged, and the delegation feels that a closer understanding prevails since the conference.

St. Canice Lyceum Rehearses Minstrel

The third annual spring minstrel show to be given by St. Canice Lyceum in South Hills High School Auditorium is now being rehearsed. These revues have been successfully staged for the last two years, but it is proposed that the one of this year shall be of even greater magnitude. "Southland Follies" is the title of the show and it will have the largest cast ever attempted at St. Canice. A number of new and novel features will be introduced.

County Bible School Head Quits Post

John W. Vickerman has resigned as president of the Allegheny County Sabbath School Association, because of lack of time to devote to the work. He is president of the State Sabbath School Association and also general superintendent of the Sunday school of the Bellevue Methodist Episcopal Church. H. E. Cole, ho had been vice president was made president of the county organization, until the next county convention, September 23.

Youth Held in Series Of Store Robberies

Mike Keblish, 17, of 406 Bingham street, arrested by South Side police in connection with holdups of two grocery chain stores and a soap factory office on the South Side, several weeks ago, was held for further investigation by Magistrate A. D. Brandon in Morals Court yesterday.

THREE NAMED AS TYPICAL AMERICANS

ETHEL CLINTON

Miss Clinton, private secretary in a downtown department store who was nominated by her fellow employes. She gets up at 5 o'clock every morning to do household tasks before going to work.

BERNICE BUCK

Seventeen, Miss Buck likes to dance as well as work. Is she the young lady who will be chosen the Typical American Girl? These three are representative of the varied types nominated in this quest.

VIRGINIA MAY PALMER

Her nominator thinks Miss Palmer is the Typical American Girl. She is a graduate of the University of Arkansas, a member of Phi Mu sorority, likes to bowl, read, sew. She is letting her hair grow.

LETTERS HELP TYPICAL GIRL QUEST

In the stack of nominations for the title of Typical American Girl, the Quest Editor finds several interesting letters which may help in the search for her.

One of the most interesting is from the employes of the tenth floor of a large downtown department store who have banded together in nomination of Ethel Clinton, a private secretary. According to the letter of nomination, Miss Clinton "arises at 5 o'clock every morning in order to look after household duties. She is the only support of her [illegible] mother and never has felt it a responsibility, but a real pleasure and privilege, to take care of her home in conjunction with her very responsible duties in business. She has been employed in the store for a long time and has never been known to be late to work or to leave early.

TEACHER NOMINATED

These nominators feel that sacrifice and enjoyment of life are typical of the American girl.

Likewise of interest to followers of this contest is a letter from Mrs. U. G. Palmer, of Verona, who nominates Virginia May Palmer, 22, a teacher in the Norwin High School. Miss Palmer is a graduate of Verona High School and of the University of Arkansas, where she was mentioned favorably in a beauty contest conducted within the school. Miss Palmer, a member of the Phi Mu Sorority, is a brunete with brown hair and eyes.

Bowling, with dancing, bridge and tennis is her favorite sport. Miss Palmer is helping to rear and educate her young nephew, an orphan.

Mrs. Palmer says that the nominee is the Typical American Girl.

Bernice E. Buck, 17, of Sheridan, is another nominee. Miss Buck enjoys all forms of sport and recreation, liking particularly to dance. She is especially fond of dogs, children and swimming.

TIME GROWS SHORT

Are these Typical American Girls? Let the Quest Editor of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph have your nomination for this enviable title right away. The contest closes March 31. This girl may be living just around the corner from you; the Quest Editor wants to know it if she does.

Join the employes of Frank & Seder's department store, the girls of Carnegie Institute of Technology, the employes of Oppenheim-Collins, and many other organizations and individuals and help the Quest Editor in his search.

Jailed After Arrest With Copper Wire

Joseph Carol, 25, of 416 Manor street, waas committed to the county jail for 30 days by Magistrate John J. Sweeney in South Side Police Court yesterday, after Patrolman Carl Steiglitz testified he had arrested Carol at South First and Carson streets with 300 feet of copper wire in his possession.

St. Clair Bank Gets Option on Property

The St. Clair Savings and Trust Company has obtained an option on property opposite its present location, known as 163 Amanda avenue and 105 and 107 Bausman street, Thirtieth Ward. The property consists of an apartment and store room on each of the streets mentioned.

Weidlein to Speak At Pitt Luncheon

Dr. E. R. Weidlein, director of Mellon Institute, will speak at the regular meeting of the University of Pittsburgh Luncheon Club at the William Penn Hotel tomorrow. He will discuss the new adventures in science being made at the institute.

WOMEN TO GET HEARING

The Women's Community Association of the Twenty-seventh Ward has been granted a hearing by city Council at 2:30 p. m. Wednesday on its demand for a traffic beacon at California and Termon avenues. A large delegation of women is planning to attend. Petitions circulated in the district by members of the association bear the names of 175 residents, asking Council to install a light at the intersection, which the women maintain, is one of the most dangerous in the city.

DORMONT FINES 88 MOTORISTS

Eighty-eight motorists of the South Hills appeared before Burgess William S. Haddock in Dormont borough traffic court Friday night to answer charges for traffic violations which they violated last week. All were fined. Eighty-three were fined $1 each for parking violations; three paid $5 each for passing stop signals and two paid $10 each for speeding. Court is held every Friday night.

Bandits Get $5,000 in Hotel

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., March 25.—(AP.)—Three young men yesterday robbed the Nicollet Hotel of $5,000, locked three employes in a vault and escaped. The loot consisted of Saturday's receipts.

Rules of the Quest

1. This is a selective search, not a motion picture popularity or beauty contest. It is an honest and sincere effort to find the Typical American Girl.

2. A National Committee of Judges appointed by Smart Set will make the final decision and make the $5,000 award in New York, at a date set by the publisher of Smart Set Magazine. This committee is composed of Rosamond Pinchot Gaston, Vina Dalmar, Jesse L. Lasky, John Golden, Guy Hopp, and Margaret Sangster, Editor of Smart Set, and a seventh member to be selected.

3. A local committee of judges appointed by each cooperating newspaper will select the regional winner.

4. A candidate cannot propose herself. She must be proposed by some individual or organization. This proposal must be sent to the Quest Editor of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

5. Each candidate's proposal must be accompanied by her photograph, biographical sketch, listing age, weight, height, coloring, education and her social, business and athletic activities. Her qualifications will be considered by the committee of judges appointed by the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

6. The minimum age is 17.

LAUNCH LIGHTS IN DORMONT EASTER

Synchronized stop-and-go signal lights in Dormont borough and Mt. Lebanon will be officially inaugurated Easter Monday, it was announced by Burgess William S. Haddock, of Dormont, and Secretary Frank W. Cooke, of Mt. Lebanon township, today.

However, it was said that the lights would be turned on the latter part of the week so that South Hills motorists will acquaint themselves with the new system.

The lights are located on the main thoroughfares in that section, West Liberty avenue, in Dormont, and Washington road, in Mt. Lebanon.

The installation was made possible by voters of that community through a bond issue. Burton W. Marsh, Pittsburgh's traffic engineer in co-operation with Borough Manager E. O. Garrett and Township Manager Elijah Gray tested and regulated the lights Saturday.

Two sets of light are installed at each intersection. The coordinated system will work like one. In Dormont the lights are located at the following streets Illinois avenue, Potomac avenue, Wisconsin avenue, Dormont avenue and the Junction, all at West Liberty avenue. In Mt. Lebanon, the lights are located at: Shady avenue, Academy avenue, Cedar Boulevard, and Alfred street.

The following lights, although located in Mt. Lebanon township, will be connected with the Dormont circuit and will be operated jointly by the borough and township.

School Cast Will Repeat Playlet

"An Old-Fashioned Mother," a three-act drama recently presented by the Happy Hour Club class of the Brightwood Church in the Bethel High School, will be presented by the same cast at the Christian Church, Canonsburg, on April 16. Mrs. T. H. Hughes is directing the cast.

Bethel High School Plans 3-Act Play

The dramatic club of the Bethel High School is preparing to present a three-act farce, entitled "Mail Order Brides." The playlet is under the personal supervision of Mrs. Margaret Coltman of the high school faculty.

BALDWIN TWP. PERMIT BRINGS DISPUTE

Baldwin Township taxpayers are confronted by a fine legal question, occasioned when three members of the board of commissioners walked out of the meeting to prevent a quorum and thereby kill a motion which had been presented.

The commissioners who absented themselves declared that by leaving the room they must be considered absent and that the quorum of five was not present and any action taken would be illegal. President Simmons, of the board, contends that the three members, Armstrong, Nurnberger and Augenstein, had been present when the meeting opened, that he had not given them permission to withdraw, and that therefore a quorum of the board was present and business could be legally transacted.

The dispute arose over the issuing of a building permit opposed by the three members, who held that the citizens of the surrounding streets should have been notified of the firm's intentions before the permit was granted.

Meeting Held Here By Nash Dealers

More than 160 Nash dealers and service managers from Western Pennsylvania, Northern West Virginia and Eastern Ohio attended the Nash service convention in Webster Hall today. Watchman Bound, Robbers Get $6,100

EASTON, Pa., March 25.—(AP.)—Two men entered the Laubach Department Store yesterday, bound and gagged William C. Horn, a watchman, broke open the safe and escaped with $6,100 in cash. Horn said he opened the door when the men said they had a message for him from a friend. They knocked him unconscious, gagged him and handcuffed him to a water pipe. The robbery was discovered when the manager went to the store.

Students to Debate Metropolitan Plan

The metropolitan plan for Pittsburgh will be debated by students of Bethel High School. D. E. Womer, superintendent of township schools and J. F. Moore instructor in the high school, are advising the opposing teams. Dorothy Mullen and Elmer Bradburn are captains of the opposing teams.

Invalid Who Ran Big Business Dies

NEW YORK, March 25.—(AP.)—Jesse Tyler Dingee, invalid cork magnate, who for 15 years conducted a prosperous business from his bed, is dead. Deprived of the power of movement by arthritis, he used ingeniously arranged mirrors to look at visitors. His telephone had a special mouthpiece and a radio helped him keep in touch with events.

Will Rogers Says

NEW YORK, March 25.

Mr. Hoover is not going to use the Mayflower. After being all fall on those big battleships, getting onto the Mayflower would be kinder like slumming. Besides, Mr. Hoover in all his travels has had to ride on too many boats to get somewhere, without wanting to get on one to go nowhere purposely.

Mr. Coolidge used to get a kick out of taking those senators on it, and watch 'em get sick. I guess they will be selling it now, and somebody will buy it for a rum runner.

They ought to keep it to send our delegations to disarmament conferences on, for in two more conferences we will have to borrow a boat to get there.

Yours, WILL.

Detects Escaping Gas

A SMALL electrical instrument, four inches across and not seven inches high, will, it is claimed, detect an escape of only 1¼ per cent of gas in any tunnel or inspection chamber and automatically warn the nearest telephone exchange.

The BROADWAY MELODY by Jack LAIT

(From a Scenario by Edmund Goulding.)

A GRIM face, with a sinister scowl, under a cap pulled low, lifts itself over the rim of an electric sign fronting the marquee of a theater. Two bandits follow. The voice barks —“Gimme that G—and make it snappy!”

On Broadway a “G” is the pet name for a “Grand,” which is the nickname for $1,000. It seems, then, that this is a stick-up. And so it is—sticking on the sign the electric-lighted letters to form the words:

COMING SOON—
JOSEPH ZANFIELD'S
LATEST and GREATEST
BROADWAY MELODY

“Broadway Melody” is the theme song of a forthcoming [illegible] revue, named for it, b[illegible] Wagnerian interpretation. It is a jazzy syncope, split beat against time and rhythm. Its composer, Eddie Kerns, is a breezy young fellow, dressed gaudy but not neat, a bigtown hick, wise in his generation, who thinks the world is bounded by the rivers that surround Manhattan Island, and that any other place in any other direction is Bridgeport. He has clicked with a new song —and what could be greater than that? He knows “Broadway Melody” is a “natural.” And, if it isn't, the great Zanfield—Zannie to the profession, to all who knew him and thousands who had never even seen him—had taken it.

To the performers who vociferously signified that they would “put in” the song —that they would sing it in their varied entertainment endeavors, Eddie smiled, shook his head, and said:

“Thanks. But not a chance. This number is exclusive— for the Mahoney Sisters.”

“He's a hot song plugger, Eddie is—tossing of that pushover tune on them hoofin' hams,” said one of the disappointed. “Zannie won't let 'em get past the first audition . . . I've seen' em— worked on a bill with 'em in Loew's Perth Amboy last season. Fine song-plugger that sap turned out to be.”

“Song-plugger?” And what, pray, could that be?”

First of all, let it be known, a song per se means nothing. They say that if you build a better rattletrap than anybody in Detroit the world will beat a pathway to your door in South Bend, or words to that general effect. But that doesn't go for songs. A song must be “plugged.”

Every publishing firm has an army of pluggers whose sole business it is to canvass, cajole, harass, beg, bribe, outguess, intrigue, swindle, infatuate, doublecross, wheedle, weary, argue, blackjack, murder or marry performers to “put in” new numbers. These are managed by minor district executives, all under main direction of a generalissimo called the “professional manager” of each house.

Yes, Eddie Kerns was a song-plugger. This he learned the racket. And so he put together “Broadway Melody.” And with its prestige and his position past the gate marked “No Admission— This Means You” he was planning to elevate, to put over and to storm Broadway with the Mahoney Sisters, one of whom was to be Mrs. Eddie Kerns.

Since his rise to fame he has done nothing but think about the Mahoney Sisters. No wonder he finds his blood tingling as he goes to meet them.

The Rochester train is on time and in that train are the sisters, for whose stardom-to-be he wrote his opus, and of whom one is his fiancee.

He squirms, he looks three ways at once. He sees them. Their hands lumbered with suitcases, their hats dislodged from the studied angles achieved by patient preparedness in the coach, they are being buffeted and crowded, but keep edging toward the exit. Eddie goes through center like a Notre Dame fullback, and tears toward Hank, the older of the two. Queenie, the blonde, sees him first, clutches Hank and cries “There he is.” Hank drops the bags wherever they may fall, and is upon him, her arms around him, swarming all over him. He returns the embrace. Queenie, aglow, stands by. As Eddie comes out of the embrace he sees her for the first time; he blinks and chances a second look, then whistles, then exclaims:

“Hey — babe — you've grown up!”

As Eddie kissed Queenie a light of pride and gratification came into the kindly eyes of Hank. Here she was, in New York, with the boy she adored and the sister she idolized, at the gateway of greatness and happiness.

“That sister-kiss wasn't hard to take, Queenie,” said Eddie, again taking in the adolescent charms of the youngster. Queenie blushed with excitement and embarrassment. “Yes, ma'am,” added Eddie, “kissin' a kid like you is like a shot in the arm. . . . Well, let's go.”

“I've got rooms for you at the Princeton,” said Eddie. “I'll just slip you in a taxi, and I'll be around in an hour or so, when you're all unpacked and settled.”

The girls exchanged looks, delighted to be cared for and prepared for. Hank gave Eddie a little grateful squeeze on the arm.

A colored boy answered the horn at the door of the Princeton, just off the Big Street, in the teeming heart of Times Square. They registered and were led to a dingy door, through a dark sitting room, into a roomy bedroom. They swept the suite with a glance. It was magnificent.

Hank threw her hat on the bed. The boy opened a window, then coughed and asked significantly, “Anything else, ladies?” And Hank snapped back, “Yea—some chow.” He pointed to a menu under the glass on the bureau. Hank scanned it and ordered “One coffee—one order fried eggs, make 'em sunny side up.” Queenie added, “And one order of rolls—hard.”

Hank strolled toward the window. Without and below were the fire escapes and back walls of the Forty-seventh street lodging houses, cheap hostelries, and the rear of the Palace, high temple of vaudeville, the dream of performers the world around. Against the skyline were the misty tops of tall buildings afar. Hank drew deeply.

“Look, Queenie,” she said, with almost stage intensity, “New York!”

The younger one nestled beside her and for a while they drank in, dreamily, the prospect, the enchanted bit that symbolized their land of heart's desire. Afar an animated electric sign was jiggling, showing an angular figure of a man exercising in his athletic underwear to proclaim that is was comfortable. They giggled a bit at his antics. Then Hank breathed.

“That's where the light ain't going to read nothing but 'MAHONEY SISTERS' soon, kiddo.” Queenie looked up to see if her mentor and guardian really thought so. “You bet on it,” verified Hank. “Say—let's clean up—Eddie'll be on us and catch us looking like crows. I'll fix your bath, Lady Mahoney.”

Queenie started sliding off her garments in the trained manner of the professional who has many costume changes to make in flashes. Hank, too, was peeling. Queenie left her stockings and underthings in a heap on the floor where they fell, and entered the tub. Hank scooped up the garments and with her own dainties, threw them all into the wash basin, the minor performer's laundry tub. A ring at the door made her glide into an enfolding kimona. She opened the door, and the bellboy, with the food on a lacquered tray, came in. He deposited his burden on the bureau.

“Gee, sorry, I can't get in my bag with my hands all wet and soapy,” apologized Hank. The boy, who, too, had seen some of the life, offered her a cloth. But she wasn't looking. He angled his eyes at her with a disgusted glance, banged the door and left them. Hank gave a haw-haw that Queenie echoed.

The tubbing over and the rinsed things pasted on their own power against walls and mirrors to dry (as is also the custom) the girls fared forth with the toothbrush glass for their coffee, to dine. Hank divided the two eggs and the three rolls expertly and equitably. They munched and sipped and looked at one another. They said nothing, but had they spoken, the words might have been:

“Ain't this a panic? Here we are—in New York! We've got Eddie, and he's got a song, and he's saved it for us and we're to sing it in a show —in a show for Zannie!

“And we'll get our big chance and we'll knock this burg stiff. And all the hams on all the bills we played in the tank-towns and the split-week circuit will groan with envy. But what'll we care? They'll be on the outside looking in; and we'll be on the inside and we don't even look out at them.

“With Eddie for a husband and a brother-in-law who knows how far two pretty, talented, trained song-and-dance artistes can go?”

“Eddie!” gasped Hank, as she drew her robe about her and made for the door. But it was not Eddie. A stout, middle-aged, crinkly-creased-faced man of Hebraic mold stood there, beaming. Hank took a step back, then one fast one forward as she threw her open arms up with a welcome, and cried, “Uncle Bernie!”

Uncle Bernie was a good old scout as well as a clever vaudeville agent. He was no grifter and no Shylock. He had “handled” the Mahoney Sisters since vaudeville infancy. He loved them like a father and they trusted him in kind. He now entered, mopping his shiny bald spot, looking his wards over with pride and satisfaction.

“My—my,” he exclaimed; “soch a big girls you got to be . . . and lookin' at Quinnisie—mine gollies, she's a lady a'ready.”

“Sit down, Uncle Bernie,” invited Hank. “We're just snatching a bite. Eddie's coming over soon—you know him, Eddie Kerns—the composer?”

“Composer? He's a song-plugger. What you want to throw your chances away for on a song-plugger, Hankie, a fine girl like you with such grand prospects in waudeville——”

“Tut-tut, now, Uncle Bernie. I love him and he loves me. We're going to be married. And he isn't just a song-plugger now. He's written a hit number and Zannie has grabbed it and——”

“That's a flock of salami. I heard a'ready too many such mirricles. Forget it. I, now—I get for you something soobstantial. Hold tight, kids, 'cus this is big news: I got you booked 30 weeks—consec'tive—on the Manley Circitt!”

The girls looked at one another and back at him.

“O'course, they's four shows Sat'day an' five Sunday, but it's steady an' in small towns where livin's cheap, with easy railroad jomps, an' you could lay up a benkroll.”

“Thanks, Uncle Bernie,” said Hank. “You're an ace. I always told every act we ever played with that you was the big shot agent of 'em all. But this time—no go. We're here to show New York what we got. We put all our dough in new wardrobe, we're going to get up in Eddie's song, and we're going to knock Zannie —the kingpin producer o' the whole world—dizzy . . . here —look at our new photos.”

“That's—h'm — fine,” he said. “But there's more sister acts in New York slingin' cakes in restaurants than tossin' their hoofs for Zannie . . . here, read them papers over—that's no guesswork—contrac's — 30 weeks —consec'tive—”

“No, Uncle Bernie,” she interjected. “We've worked hard for this big chance, and we'll stick or starve.”

And just then, through the closed door, came the shrill whistle of a fast, crisp tune— “Broadway Melody” — and then the bell—and, with his hat jauntily perched on the side of his head, there stood Eddie—Eddie Kerns, song-plugger, song writer, plugging his own masterpiece wherever he went, as expressing the soul of the true plugger. His whistling was cut short by Hank's smothering embrace. She dragged him in. He bowed to Uncle Bernie.

The girls themselves looked up wildly at the announcement. It had only been a hope, a waking dream. But “set,” in their language, was definite, final.

“Does—does Zannie know it?” he choked.

“Just left him. I says to him, 'Zannie, I got a p'tic'lar favor to ask you—an' again, it ain't exac'ly a favor, it's prob'ly a great thing for you, too.' An' he comes right back with 'All right don' bother me now.' That's all I wanted out o' him, that O. K. business. When Zannie says all right, you can borrow money on it in the bank.”

“Did—did Zannie ever see the Mahoney Sisters?” asked Bernie.

Hank was whirling about by now, dancing, beaming. She stopped before Uncle Bernie, and “vamped” him—

“Oh, you sweet old thing. And you wanted us to bury ourself out in the sticks again, hey? . . . Zannie's show— New York—set! Goodby smalltime, hello Broadway!”

“Vell, it's all very nice— if it comes out. I hope so for all of you. But I guess I better leave you alone to dream on. I'm out o' place in such svell s'ciety.”

Eddie picked up the uke. A smile of reminiscence lit his face. He pointed to an inscription written in the lining of the instrument's belly— “Good luck, kids—Eddie— 1926.”

Hank, still dizzy with the great news, the rosy-hued horizon, broke up the scene—

“Tell us about it—the show—Zannie. When do we start rehearsing? How much do we get?”

“Leave that to me,” answered Eddie, somewhat dreamily, as he slowly took his eyes off Queenie. “I'll —I'm fixin' an appointment with him for you.”

“Made by the best,” smirked Eddie, as he turned the coat to show a label. “And the props—” out came a gilt cigaret case, up came the sleeve to show nearly-platinum links, the other to reveal a wrist-watch, and then a leg of trousers to disclose gold garter clasps!

“And I didn't jump at you when you asked me to marry you two years ago,” exclaimed Hank. “I didn't believe it—you a song plugger. Well, try and get away from me now.”

And she threw herself on his lap and curled her arms about his neck.

Micky's Way By L. LAMAR MATTHEWS Daily Short Story

MICKY was unhappy. She was upset. She was anxious, angry, panicky.

For four years she had been Mr. Collins' esteemed secretary. He had relied upon her, respected her ability, given her his confidence and his friendship. Now Mr. Collins had resigned and a young upstart was in his place.

From the moment that she and young Crane crossed glances she had felt antagonistic. She had sensed his air of superiority and resented his upstage manner. She took no trouble to conceal her indifference to his opinion. She gloated over the fact that he would be compelled to come to her for information concerning office details.

Micky—whose real name was Janice Michael — was made for love and laughter and the good things of life. She was accustomed to being liked and admired by her fellow workers. She was generous, kindly, loyal and wonderfully efficient for a girl of 22.

Now this young Crane had came to spoil everything. Micky had no way of knowing that some busy-body had warned the new manager against her, telling him half-truths that made him distrust her.

“I hate him!” she told Susan Beale, “and the minute I can get another place I'm leaving.”

“Have you tried flattering him?” asked wise Susan.

Micky glared at this middle-aged friend of hers. Was Susan trying to be funny?

“My dear,” continued Mrs. Beale, “I have worked with many different firms. I have changed jobs often—too often. In every organization there is always one man whose very soul you could hate. Take the advice of a veteran scrapper. When said thorn in your flesh presents himself, put on your sweetest manner. Suppress your murderous impulses. Find something about him to admire. And flatter him, child, flatter him.”

Micky kept thinking about Susan's advice. Maybe she was right. She usually was.

On her way to work next morning she racked her brain to recall one admirable quality about Crane.

“He does wear such good clothes. I wonder if I dare mention that.”

She blushed at the suggestion.

A cheerful “Good morning” was as far as she got that day. However, she kept busy and was agreeable and even-tempered all day. Others beside the manager noticed the change in her attitude.

Next day it was necessary to discuss some routine matters with Donald Crane and she managed to convey to him the fact that she approved and admired his methods.

She began asking his advice about this or that, although she was fully aware of the fact that she knew more about the matters under discussion than he knew.

At the end of the week she checked over the compliments she had delivered.

“It's a pleasure to take your dictation.”

“You have a wonderful system.”

“I'm glad you introduced that idea.”

“You can always get things done.”

She had trembled at the crassness of it; but he had swallowed it whole. That gave her courage to offer further sop to his vanity. The potency, the soothing influence of this flattery amazed her.

“He's just a big, lumbering, conceited boy,” she admitted, “and he really has plenty of sense when it comes right down to brass tacks.”

Before the year was over, Mickey had regained her standing as confidential secretary to the manager. And with her co-operation and tactful aid, young Crane developed into an honest-to-goodness manager. Difficulties arose; serious problems confronted him. Through it all she stood by him, giving him the benefit of her own long experience with the firm.

“But I never forget my deference,” she laughingly told Susan. “Mr. Collins was big enough to dispense with deference. All he wanted was service. But these young bosses must have deference— and flattery.”

“Yes, flattery,” echoed Susan.

She was too generous to say, “I told you so.”

Not long ago Susan Beale glancing over the society section of the Sunday News came upon an announcement that gave her pause. She read it through and then laughed softly.

This was the announcement!

"RHEUMATISM GONE; THANKS TO KONJOLA"

"I Shall Never Be Without This New Medicine," Declares Former Sufferer.

What a welcome remedy Konjola, the new and different medicine, has proven to be in countless lives where suffering and pain so long held sway. The records of this master medicine are filled with the happy indorsements from men and women who had abandoned hope of recovery before they put Konjola to the test. Konjola is a medicine that comes to all who suffer, not with promises, but with an array of absolute proof of its merits. Those who would know what Konjola means to seekers after health should meet the Konjola Man, who is at the Dow Drug Company (formerly McCulloch's), Penn Avenue and Sixth Street, Pittsburgh. He is here merely to point out case after case in which this master medicine has triumphed after all else has failed. It is his mission to reveal exactly what Konjola does. This modern compound, supreme in ills of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, and the arch-foe of rheumatism, neuritis and nervousness, contains 32 ingredients—22 of them the juices of roots and herbs of known medicinal value. All of these elements do directly to the ailing organs, cleansing and invigorating them. They enrich the blood and drive impurities and poisons from the system. Then, and only then, is there room for new, abundant and glorious health. After all, the triumphs of Konjola are what mean most to all who suffer. Consider then what Konjola did for Miss Margeret Davies, 20 East Lacock Street, Pittsburgh, who said to the Konjola Man a few days ago:

MISS MARGERET DAVIES)

"My rheumatism is gone, thanks to Konjola, and I shall never be without this splendid medicine. For six years I suffered untold miseries with that disease. Great, corded knots formed on the back of my hands and finger joints. They became so stiff I could hardly use them. The rheumatism also settled in my ankles, which became swollen and sore. Often it was hard, almost impossible, to remove or put on my shoes. My kidneys started acting up, bringing on back aches. With this continual suffering I found it hard to sleep at night. Nervousness resulted and loss of appetite made me weak and rundown in general.

"I had read a number of indorsements of Konjola, and had heard many talk about this new medicine, but somehow I had the idea that nothing would help me. Finally, however, a neighbor suggested that I give Konjola a trial. I had little hope but knew that I could not go on suffering as I was. Well, the surprise this medicine gave me I shall never forget. I had taken it only a few days before I knew that I was headed in the right direction. Gradually my pains became less and less severe, and in three weeks every sign of rheumatism had left me. Today I am as a new person, enjoying life and looking forward to each new day. My kidneys are greatly improved and my appetite has increased. Konjola was surely a life-saver for me. Konjola has certainly won a lifelong friend in me."

Such is the record that Konjola makes wherever it is known. This master compound goes to the root of things; attacks the disease at the source—that is the secret of Konjola's astounding success.

The Konjola Man is at the Dow Drug Company (formerly McCulloch's), Penn Avenue and Sixth Street, Pittsburgh, where he is meeting the public daily, introducing and explaining the merits of this master medicine.

Fungus Growths Imperil Ancient Palace

THE threatening decay of the "Neues Palais," near Potsdam, Germany, was established by governmental building experts on their annual round of inspection. Fungus growths were found under the flooring, which resulted from dampness.

Forbidden to Die

ON the sacred island of Miyajima, in the Inland Sea of Japan, human beings are forbidden either to die or be born. This rule is made by the priests who control the island, which is sacred to three goddesses of the Shinto faith.

Meditations of a Wife

By HELEN ROWLAND

I HAVE just discovered why every man needs a wife, and why most men DO marry, sooner or later. Usually, sooner than they want to and later than they ought to.

* * *

It is the BACHELOR FLAT, which first keeps a man out of matrimony—and then drives him into it.

* * *

Once upon a time, when poor, stray bachelors lived in gloomy boarding houses, and rich ones lived at their clubs, there was no question about it. A man HAD to marry in order to get a home and a housekeeper—a place where he could set up his household gods.

But, with the advent of the bachelor apartment—Eureka!—he saw a way out of tying himself to any one woman for life. And particularly out of untying himself from all of the others!

Yet, alas, like homeopathy, the bachelor apartment has a primary and secondary effect. It appeals to a man because it offers him all the comforts of home, and none of its restrictions. It is a place where he can entertain all the people he likes, whenever he likes and as long as he likes without interference.

* * *

Grand and glorious! Nobody to make him climb into a dinner coat, to sniff his breath, to ask him how the china got broken, or to stop his convivial friends from singing "Sweet Adaline" at 2 a. m.

* * *

Nobody to tell him to put out the lights and go to bed, to ask him who dropped the pearl earring on the divan, to weep when the bathtub runs over or lie awake keeping tabs on him.

And yet—shush!—it frightens him when he discovers that it leaves him at the mercy of ALL women!

Oh yes, he can invite all the people he wants to invite—but he can't keep them AWAY. He can fill the place with charming guests—but he can't make them go HOME!

He can drag in his cronies for a game of poker whenever he chooses—but he can't get them OUT until they please to go.

A man with an attractive bachelor apartment leads the life of a goldfish, and gets about as much sleep as a Pullman porter.

Stray men dropping in at all hours of the night to be amused or fed or put up. Women calling him up on the telephone all day, and dropping in for tea all afternoon. Revelers on their way home from parties, with nowhere else to go, and nothing to do till tomorrow, waking him at dawn!

NOBODY TO PROTECT HIM! Nobody to shoo them away or scare them off! Nobody to save him from the playboys and playgirls! Nobody to see that he gets his sleep, eats his meals and does his work!

* * *

THAT'S what a man needs a wife for! To protect him from himself, and from all the OTHER women in the world! And above all, to protect him from the temptations and torments of the BACHELOR FLAT!

Horoscope

Tuesday, March 26

THE presage based upon the planetary configurations for this day must be fraught with indefiniteness. While the lunar aspect promises a most mediocre and listless state of affairs, yet a solar relationship to the two planets of indefiniteness, surprise and eccentricity make it impossible to define the auguries. Peculiar, subtle, intriguing, unconventional are words to classify the prospect. Change seems imminent, but be cautious.

Those whose birthday it is may have a year of unusual or irregular experiences and events. These are not entirely menacing, but call for discretion, especially as to change or travel.

A child born on this day is likely to be endowed with some subtle or unusual talents and qualities.

KRAFT FOODS Velveeta
Velveeta A Delicious Cheese Food
KRAFT FOODS

Children Love It

Velveeta has made a decided hit with children. And it's a wonderful food for them.

For Velveeta is a new idea in cheese making. It contains more of those precious elements—Vitamins, Lactose (milk sugar), Calcium and other milk minerals—than it was possible to include by old methods.

Velveeta has greater food value and a delicious new flavor. Use it wherever you would use any cheese. It spreads like butter or will slice when chilled. And as for cooking, it melts, dissolves and blends so readily with other foods that there's no comparison. You can buy Velveeta anywhere. Try a package.

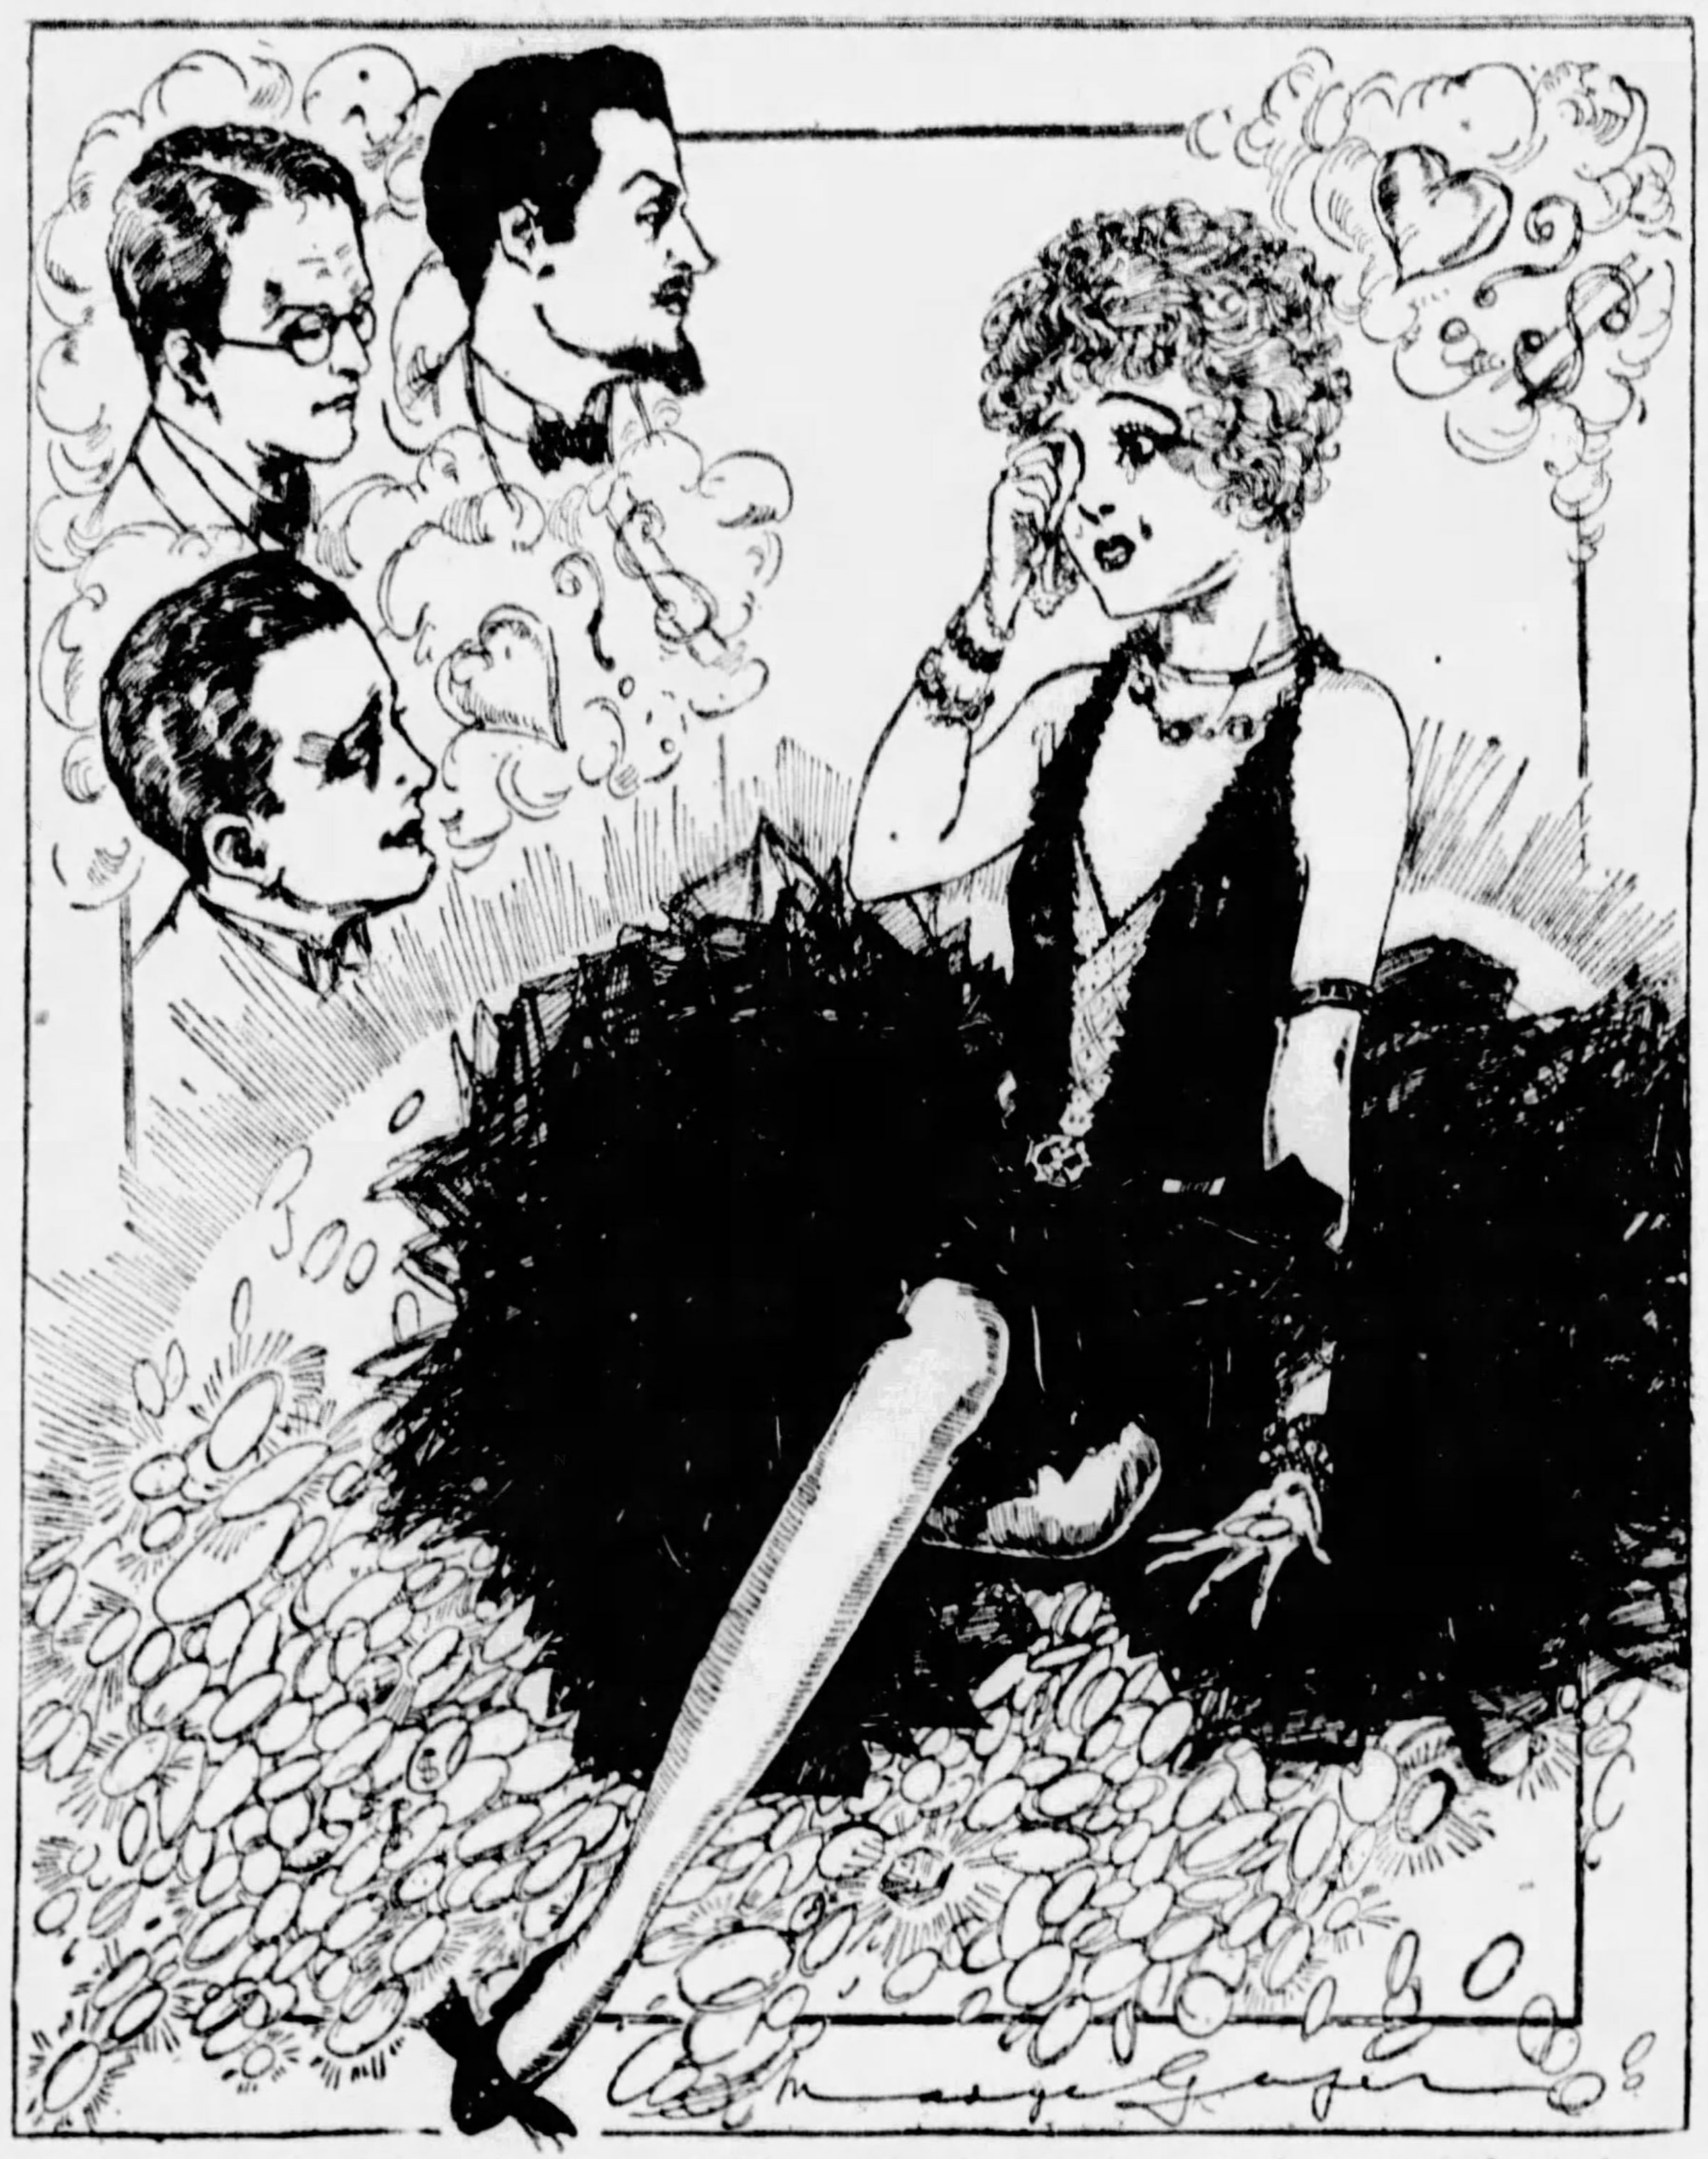
The Dollar Princess -:- By Madge Geyer



POOR little Dollar Princess! What a frightful dilemma she's in. No wonder that she frequently wishes she could change places with the little girl who so pleasantly waits on her in the shop. And the little girl wishes constantly she could change places with the lovely lady who so nonchalantly buys all the lovely things that her own heart desires.

But the little shopgirl has the advantage, for at least she knows when her Bob tells her that he loves her, it's sincere, and that he loves her for herself alone. But the Dollar Princess is ever in a quandry. Because she constantly has the thought before her that those who declare their love do so for the dollars which surround her, and not for her lovely self. So don't envy her! But perhaps some day love will really come to her, and let's hope that she will recognize it. She should, but somehow or other it's rather hard, isn't it?

LOVE'S AWAKENING

A Continuation of Love's Embers

By ADELE GARRISON

Harry Thinks Lillian Doesn't Suspect Ruse Back of Telegram.

I SAW Harry Underwood glance sharply at his wife as she told him of the telegraph messenger's apparent stupidity. I knew that there was but one question sounding insistently in his brain. Had he succeeded in making the telegram plausible, or did Lillian suspect the ruse he had employed to leave Marion and herself together during the remainder of the young girl's vacation?

He knew—no one better—the keen perceptions and resourcefulness of his wife. He also knew her power of dissimulation, and I guessed that it was a bad quarter of a minute instead of an hour he was putting in, as he stood frowning down at the telegram in his hand.

"Anything I can do, old man?" Dicky stuck in in apparent ignorance of the whole episode. But I was sure that the telegram and its reply had been concocted while the two men were absent upon their run to the village in the forenoon.

"No, thank you," Mr. Underwood replied, "unless you want to come down and stand by me while I wreck that telegraph office. That other telegram I sent was an important one—government business, Lil," he tossed the words casually in his wife's direction—"and I suppose they've got the answer confused with this, and think they've delivered the right one. The devil only knows what they'll do with the other answer which will be in code."

"Then you'd better go down and check up on it immediately," Lillian said calmly. "Tell me first, is this telegram from Schwartzman as imperative as it sounds? Must you go into the city and stay awhile?"

"I surely must," he told her and I saw that against his cooler judgment he was believing what he wanted to believe—that Lillian was accepting the telegram without question.

"When do you have to start?"

"I ought to get out tomorrow."

"Count me in on that," Dicky struck in. "I ought to go up to town tomorrow for a week anyway. I'll drive you up in my old bus. I want to lay it up in the service station for a general overhauling."

The mercury in my mental thermometer suddenly rose from the zero mark to which it had dropped at Dicky's announcement of his departure. If he were going to lay his car up, he could not be planning the drives with Edith Fairfax, the vision of which had so tormented me.

"You'll probably lay both of us up in a hospital or a morgue," Mr. Underwood growled, and Lillian put another quiet question.

"How long will you be gone?"

"I haven't the slightest idea," her husband told her. "But you may count on one thing. I'll sneak time enough away from Benny to get back here and drive you and Marion down to her school. But I'll talk to you about that and about your driving the new car when I come back. Come on, Dicky-bird, flap your wings in the direction of the car. I want to get down to that telegraph office."

Lillian looked after the retreating car with amused but tender eyes.

"The darling old liar!" she said. "But I love him for it, Madge."

And there was that in her voice which set my doubts at rest concerning the depth of the affection Lillian Underwood bore her husband.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Acknowledging Gifts

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

1. As I am about to be married I would appreciate it very much if you would advise me just how to thank my friends for gifts. Should I write a note of thanks immediately upon receiving a gift or when I return from my honeymoon?

2. I would also appreciate a short note which would serve as a sample (nothing too gushing).

3. Please tell me also whether a correspondence card should be used for such notes, or regular letter paper.

M. V. W.

YES, the note of thanks for wedding presents should be written at once, if possible on the day on which the present is received. These notes should, as far as possible, be written before the wedding.

2. Thank the sender first for the thought of the present and then for the present itself. "It was most kind of you and Bob to plan so generously for our happiness, and we thank you most heartily"—this, or something of the kind, should be the beginning. Then refer to the present—tell of its beauty or of its usefulness (if that is its idea), or, best of all, of both.

3. It is better to use letter paper. You see, if we use correspondence cards we are apt to curtail our expression of thanks, not to make them articulate (which is probably what mean by "to gushing"). To say too much in the way of thank you is better, far better, than not to say enough!

Wedding Attendants

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

I am going to be married very soon. I intended to have just bridesmaids. Several people have told me that this is improper. The wedding is going to be in the afternoon. Will you please give me your advice?

IT is quite correct for you to have only bridesmaids, and not have a chief attendant, if you wish.

Exchange of Greetings

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Is it proper for the lady or gentleman to speak first? My friend thinks that the man should speak first, but I think that the ladys should speak first.

MRS. G. N. K.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Sleep Necessary to Health and Success.

LOSING sleep is too common a practice. It is just as necessary to renew the nervous and muscular energy of the body as it is to refuel a gasoline engine.

DR. COPELAND

A few weeks ago the country had its interests centered on the "Question Mark." The airplane was attempting an endurance flight, seeking to stay in the air the longest possible time. As a matter of fact, it did break the record, remaining in flight more than 150 hours.

The problem was how to get the necessary gasoline. To solve this two methods were used. The first was to increase the tank capacity. This was done by cutting down the passenger and cargo carrying space.

The second method was to fuel in the air. They succeeded in having other planes approach the "Question Mark" and transfer quantities of gasoline.

By these means this airplane broke the endurance record. But similar methods for man, proposing to increase his endurance and to permit him to stay on his feet day after day, without intervening sleep—such methods are beyond reason. There is no need of applying the question mark to this statement. It just can't be done.

There can be no doubt that long accustomed habit has much to do with the sleep requirements of a given individual. In the country, where I was born, everybody went to bed at 9 o'clock. For persons who have practiced early retiring all their lives, it is almost impossible to stay awake till 11 o'clock or midnight. They have become "set" to the need of 9 or 10 hours of sleep.

"City folks," who habitually stay up to midnight or later, appear to thrive on a lesser number of hours of sleep. But there are few adults who can feel well and be happy unless they get at least eight hours.

It is possible that regularity in observing the determined upon sleeping period is of chief importance. Your own feelings after a wakeful night or a night shortened by a prolonged celebration must prove to you the importance of abundant sleep.

Tired nerves and muscles are bound to rebel against being robbed of the fueling period. You must give them time to store up energy and strength. It is sleep alone that can accomplish that.

This is an age when we hear a lot about "efficiency." I'm not so sure we should be crazy over this subject, but, of course, everybody should strive to do his job, whatever it is, just as well as possible. You cannot hope to have perfect health unless you observe the rules of hygiene. One of the most important of these rules is to have regular, restful, ample sleep.

Answers to Health Queries

A. B. Q.—What causes a coated tongue, unpleasant breath and constipation, although my stomach seems to be functioning properly otherwise?

Always Safe

When your Children Cry for It

Here's relief and comfort for crying, fretful, feverish babies or children that you don't need to urge or command them to take. They love the delicious taste of Fletcher's Castoria. Your doctor will tell you it's absolutely safe, so you can give it as freely and as often as needed to keep your children happy and well. A few drops is all it takes to quiet fretful, feverish, colicky babies; relieve their biliousness, gas on stomach, constipation, etc.; soothe them to sleep in a jiffy. For like disorders in older children, you simply use a little larger dose of the same reliable Fletcher's Castoria. Don't use grown-folks' medicine; with babies or children, specialists say. Ninety per cent of them recommend Fletcher's Castoria; and thirty years of steadily increasing popularity proves they're right. To protect you from imitations, the Fletcher signature is on every bottle of genuine Fletcher's Castoria.

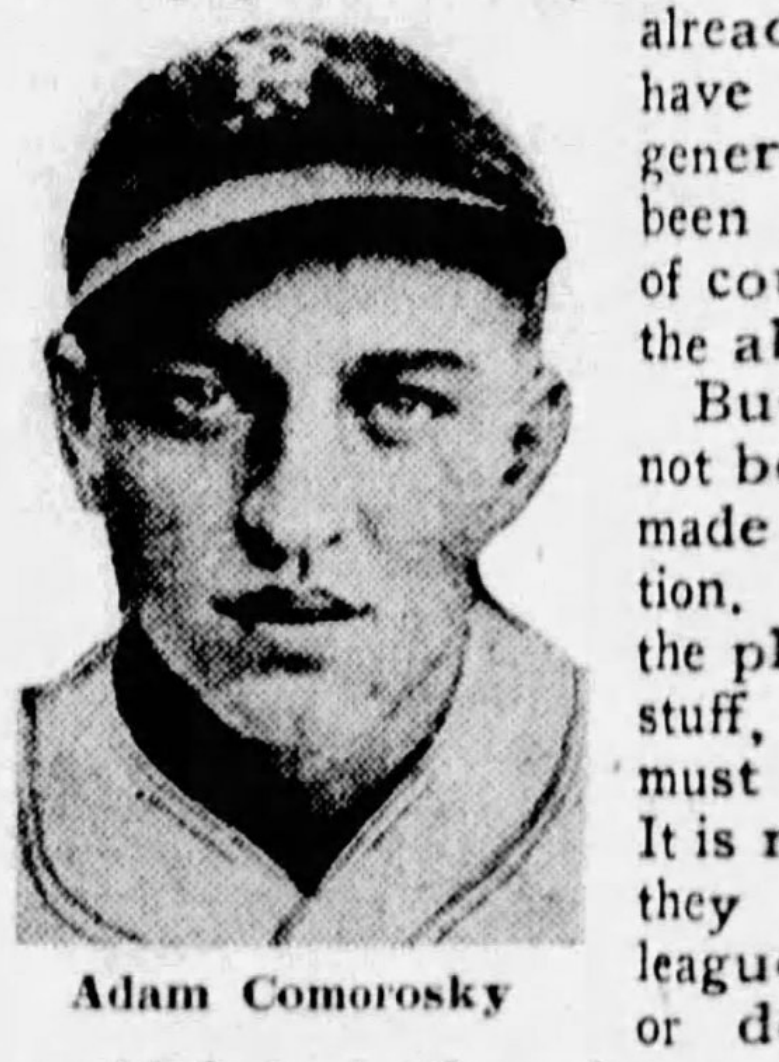
FIELDS LOOKS LIKE WINNER TONIGHT



Adam Comorosky

THIS week will carry the Pittsburgh baseball club into the most important part of their training operations thus far. In a physical sense, the Pirates are in almost perfect shape already, their pitching is the best they have known in several springs, and in general respects their ball playing has been all that could be desired, barring, of course, what is still lacking through the absence of Paul Waner.

But the showing of the regulars has not been convincing because it has been made against only minor league opposition. The real test does not come until the players are facing real major league stuff, the same kind of ball that they must cope with after the race begins. It is not a real test of the pitchers when they are hurling against only minor league batters. The latter are inferior or defective hitters, otherwise they wouldn't be in the minors. Nor is it a real test of the batters to be hitting against only minor league pitching. Just because some young batters, Adam Comorosky, for instance, are showing up well against minor league pitchers, it does not follow that they will be able to keep it up when they find themselves opposed to major league moundsmen.

IT TAKES the test of actual major league conditions to determine the actual form of a player or a team. And even if it doesn't uncover any weak spots or flaws, it takes opposition of that sort to fit individuals and clubs for the kind of competition to be expected during the regular season.

That's why this week means so much to the Buccaneers, for it will mark the first time since the 1928 season closed that they have faced a major league team. The opening test will come tomorrow, when the Bushmen will hook up with the Detroit Tigers at Phoenix, Ariz., and after spending Wednesday traveling they will get two more big league workouts on Wednesday and Thursday against the New York Giants at San Antonio. These games will be more on the order of real conditioners than any that the Corsairs have played to date, and we ought to know considerably more about them and their prospects by next Friday night than we have learned up to this time.

AN ADDED feature of the University of Pennsylvania's thirty-fifth relays at Franklin Field in Philadelphia this year will be the appearance of Paavo Nurmi as a contestant.

Though he lost a decision to Ray Conger in a one-mile race during his present visit to this country, the phantom Finn is said to be still the speed and endurance marvel of old at two miles and longer distances, and his appearance against the best amateur stars in these events will add not a little interest to the big annual meet.

Paavo Nurmi

NURMI has run before in Philadelphia, as well as in Pittsburgh and other Pennsylvania cities, but always his performances were given indoors and his appearance in the Penn relays on April 26 and 27 will be his first in the Quaker City on an outdoor track. He will run two miles the first day and three miles the second day. Incidentally, the famous Finn is also going to make his debut as a coach in connection with this meet, as he has arranged to train on Franklin Field for a week or 10 days prior to the carnival and during his training period he will also advise in the coaching of Penn's distance runners—provided, of course, that the A. A. U., which only recently reinstated him, doesn't find some reason for objecting to an amateur acting as a coach, even though he gets no compensation for it.

AS THE baseball training period progresses, evidence continues to pile up that the Chicago White Sox made a costly blunder in sending First Baseman Earl Sheely to the minors, and that the Pirates made a ten-strike in picking him up and bringing him back to the big show. Everybody realizes now that Sheely is going to do some star first-basing for the Bucs, and the prospect is bringing the White Sox in for plenty of joshing and criticism.

Jack Kieran, New York critic, is the latest to take a fling at the Pale Hose for letting Sheely escape. "The White Sox let Earl Sheely go because Clancy was such a great first baseman," he says, "and now they have moved Clancy out of the way to make room for Shires, who is said to be even a better first baseman. If they keep on changing they may get a first baseman who is as good as Sheely."

THE manner in which Dazzy Vance's salary has risen gradually to the present sum that makes it a record for a National League pitcher offers an interesting study. His won-and-lost record has not improved steadily, but his pay has grown $22,000 in seven years.

Dazzy Vance

In 1922, his first year with the Robins, Dazzy drew down $3,000; in 1923, his stipend was boosted to $5,750; in 1924, he was given another raise to $9,000; Vance signed a $47,600 three-year contract covering the seasons of 1925, 1926 and 1927, giving him about $15,867 per year; last year he drew $20,000, and this season he will get $25,000.

THE majority of boxing fans will refuse to accept the edict of the National Boxing Commission or the assertion of Promoter Jim Mullen that the winner of the Jackie Fields-Young Jack Thompson bout in Chicago tonight will supplant Joe Dundee as world welterweight champion. Championships can be lost only in the ring, no boxing body has any more power to pronounce Fields or Thompson champion than it has to pick out any other welterweight for the honor. But it is an interesting and important bout, nevertheless, and one that will come in for a great deal of attention. Possibly, the next welterweight champion—by conquest instead of by empty awards—will come out of it. Fields has already defeated Thompson, and looks like the winner again tonight, as he is even better now than he was then, but it is likely to be a real fight all the way.

IT HAD been a foregone conclusion that there would be a change on the Carnegie Tech basketball coaching job at the end of the season just gone. When a team goes through a whole season without winning a single game and then wins only a very few in the following campaign, a shift generally results.

Coach John H. Irwin's friends knew that he would want to retire from the coaching post just because he felt that the school might do better with another coach. It was a fine spirit that prompted Irwin to resign, and it is to be hoped that the results he hoped for with the Plaid team in new hands will be forthcoming. Carnegie Tech's basketball rank has not been in keeping with her high rating in other sports.

BOXING champions have varied ambitions apart from continued success in the ring. Now comes Tod Morgan, holder of the junior lightweight championship, with a new one. He wants to be an avocado king, reports from the coast say. An avocado king, it may not be out of place to explain, is a farmer who grows avocado trees.

One Open Grid Date On St. Vincent's Card

LATROBE, Pa., March 25.—Except for a mixup in the business office of St. Thomas College at Scranton, the St. Vincent's College football schedule for next fall would be completed. The game scheduled for November 2, which St. Vincent's has agreed to call off, leaves the locals still with the date open.

Edinboro State Teachers College has been booked for October 5 here, which completes the schedule, with the exception of November 2.

TOURNEY PLAY ADDS COLOR TO SEASON

By JESS CARVER

The district basketball season, over and done as far as school and college circles are concerned, was a health one, especially in the declining moments. It took eleventh-hour games to decide the collegiate titles for the year and the staging of the W. P. I. A. L. and P. I. A. A. tournaments here, along with the Dukes' state Catholic High School event, brought the scholastic campaign more color than it has ever before owned, furnishing a very proper setting for its demise.

Pete Bowen.

Hazleton, retaining the state title with a valiant display of basketball here, Friday and Saturday, stamped itself as a true champion, presented for the edification of the local folks two of the finest school performers of the year in Weston and Serany. Fegley and Hildebrand were not far behind, nor was young Powell any sort of a bum.

SHARON OUTCLASSED

Sharon, a team that gained what might be termed undeserved support through its defeat of Homestead, a team that was very muchly over-rated, especially as a criterion by which to rate another team, could not cope with Hazleton, either on the attack or the defense. Sharon lost none of its honor in the defeat, for the boys fought back hard, but aside from what can be awarded them for putting up a battle, didn't pick up much glory.

Homestead, with its slow attack, built around Birch, would not have fared as well as Sharon against Hazleton, for Homestead's team was not as well balanced as the Mercer county entry.

OFFICIALS FINE

Both the W. P. I. A. L. and state tourneys were well handled. Arrangements at the Stadium were as O. K. as was possible. The press box was crowded at times, but as the situation could not be helped, there was no kick coming. Ollie Stiff, of the Stadium official family, in charge of arrangements, and his assistant, Walter Ridley, deserve great credit and praise for their efforts to make the boys feel at home. The crowds were handled well, only one case of arrogance on the part of the police coming to hand, but the coppers become excited, too—at times.

BOWEN BUSY MAN

Not satisfied to confine his efforts to sprinting, Pete Bowen, Pitt's flyer, football player and student, has taken up the putting of the shot, and in his first appearance as a weight man on Saturday at the invitation meet at West Virginia, placed fourth in the open event. He also won the two 70-yard races, and was set to take part in the hurdles had Coach Frank Shea been so minded.

The week previous, Pete journeyed to the K. of C. games in New York and essayed to run 600 yards. He didn't win, but he wasn't distanced, either.

Pete runs the 70-yard indoors, the 100, 200 and 440 outdoor, puts the shot, broad jumps, can hurdle a bit and will try anything from the hammer to drawing to an inside straight. He's a versatile gent, this Bowen.

NEW YORK, March 25.—(INS.)—Leo P. Flynn, veteran boxing manager, trainer and matchmaker, has been signed as matchmaker for the new fistic combine of Jack Dempsey, Humbert Fugazy and Company.

Flynn trained Dempsey for the second Tunney fight and has managed a large stable of fighters, including Jack Renault, Tiger Payne and Bud Gorman. He once was matchmaker for old Madison Square Garden.

STAR'S DEATH CASTS PALL OVER LEAGUE

By CHARLES J. DOYLE,
Staff Correspondent.

LOS ANGELES, March 25.—The death of Outfielder Denny Williams, of the Portland club, in an auto smashup of Saturday night, has cast a pall of sorrow all over the Coast League circuit. Included among the five injured players was Infielder Mack Hillis, Pirate of last year, who was sent to Portland in the French deal.

Denny Williams is a Portland boy, but last year he played with the Boston Red Sox before being sold to the Beavers. Portland is slated to open the season against the Seals in San Francisco tomorrow. In view of the death of their comrade, the Beavers won't have any of the holiday spirit that generally goes with occasions of this kind.

LIKE MULLIGAN, SCOTT

The last prominent baseball star to be killed in an auto smashup was Norman (Tony) Boeckel, Braves' third baseman. Tony was also killed in the vicinity of the accident of Saturday.

D. E. BENJAMIN BURLEIGH GRIMES

LEE MEADOWS SLATED FOR MOUND

By CHARLES J. DOYLE,
Staff Correspondent.

LOS ANGELES, March 25.—The big Pirate party reached Los Angeles this morning, the athletes traveling all night from San Francisco. After a brief stopover in the city of Angels, the Pittsburghers will hustle toward Santa Ana, where this afternoon the Bucs will take on the Portland club of the Pacific Coast League. The Freebooters are carded to meet the Tigers in Phoenix tomorrow.

Lee Meadows.

The Pirates yesterday completed their 13-game exhibition series with the San Francisco Seals and Missions by breaking even in a dual bill. With rookies playing in both lineups in a loose game with the Seals in the forenoon, the Pirates lost, 9-to-7. In the afternoon the big-leaguers copped another from the Missions, the score being, 6-to-2. Less than two hours after the completion of the last contest, the Bucs were on their way.

PLAYERS IN SHAPE

California was good to the Bushwhackers, despite the cold breezes that prevailed at every game. True the Pittsburgh owners sustained a financial loss in the small attendances, but the players left the Golden Gate in remarkable physical condition, especially the pitchers.

It was considered quite remarkable to play each one of the 13 games slated with the two coast league clubs. Eleven were staged at Recreation Park in San Francisco, one in Monterey and one at Paso Robles. And the Pirates were able to win eight of the 13. They were bested by the Seals, four games to three, but they made lots of hay against the Missions, winning five of the six encounters.

FREY, BARTELL STAR

Carl Frey and Dick Bartell were the big rackets in the closing success of the Pirates. The two youngsters collected seven hits, Daredevil Dick clicking on four occasions. Frey connected for two doubles and a single and he was hit with a pitched ball. Carmen Hill and Larry French were puzzles to Red Killefer's hitters.

Manager Bush expects to use Lee Meadows and Ervin Brame on the mound against Portland today. Meadows has not done much pitching, but the veteran says he feels fine.

Bush decided to let some of his first string pitchers enjoy an off day in Los Angeles. Among those excused from the trip to Santa Ana, were Hill, Grimes, Petty, Kremer and French.

Kestner Impresses New Orleans Pilot

Elmer Kestner, popular Pittsburgh shortstop, who is receiving a trial with the New Orleans Pelicans, has made a decided impression on Manager Larry Gilbert of the Southern Association club, according to reports received here.

Kestner is fielding sensationally and is hitting timely. If he continues his present pace Kestner likely will win a regular berth at short.

Sports Editor.

Amateur mitt-wielders vie with the professionals for attention tonight, when the preliminaries of the Allegheny Mountain Association of the A. A. U. senior championships are listed for Motor Square Garden. The semi-finals and finals will be fought tomorrow night. A list of 120 entries has been rolled up for the event which is being staged under the auspices of Islam Grotto. The winners, in addition to being acclaimed the district champions, will represent Pittsburgh in the national championships in Boston, April 8, 9 and 10.

MANY PRO BATTLES

Midget Wolgast, of Philadelphia, and Frisco Grande, of Buffalo, box the windup in the New Castle Jolly Bowl, with George Rohanna meeting George Kerston and Romeo Pacelli battling Young Kaiser in the six-round preliminaries, and Tom O'Leary facing Bobby Burns and Mickey Donato opposing Young Stemple in the four-rounders.

At Washington, Leo Kyburski boxes Lee Sala and Allen Beatty battles Mickey Solmen in the two eight-round feature bouts, and Johnny Smackey meets Ken Hargrave in the six-round bout, while Scotty Graham meets Nat Litfin and Young Andy Radd mixes with Young Gunboat Smith in two four-rounders.

AMATEURS WIN TITLES

BOX FOR "CROWN"

Jackie Fields and Young Jack Thompson, California welters, fight for the National Boxing Association world championship in the Chicago Coliseum tonight, the Association having ruled out Joe Dundee, the titleholder, for failure to defend his laurels. Benny Bass boxes Harry Forbes and Baby Joe Gans meets Young Ketchel in 10-round bouts in Philadelphia. Floyd Hybert boxes Vincent Street and Bruce Flowers meets Joey Kaufman in Brooklyn, while Stanislaus Loayza battles Freddie Mueller in Buffalo.

With the signing of an opponent for Terry Lingo in the semi-final, the Motor Square Club will complete its card today for its reopening show in Motor Square Garden next Monday night. Andy Martin and Midget Mike O'Dowd will meet in the windup in a "natural" as a result of the victories scored by this pair in the same ring earlier in the season.

ODDS AND ENDS

Phillies are a 50-to-1 bet. Double that and you can beat Billy Barton.

New York finally gets a break. Every day takes the bunioneers that much farther away from the big town.

Last year they were getting closer for three months.

Bill Busch, Millvale's famous pedaler, is married in Boston. His feet may belong to Mr. Pyle, but his soul belongs to the missus.

Jack Dempsey finally has gone into retirement. Signs up with Signor Fugazy, which is the same thing.

FLYNN IN DETROIT

Society note: Francis Flynn, our Moose Temple boxing promoter week-ended in Detroit. Denies he's trying to steal the play away from Dempsey there.

He's merely looking for an opponent for Tiger Joe Randall for his show next week.

Pirates are headed East to open the season. Get a tough break by opening in Chicago. Even a pennant boom is likely to be shot to pieces there.

What we need in these enlightened times is some basketball tournaments.

$10,000 in $1 Bills Paid to Paulino

The knockout came in 1 minute and 29 seconds.

The fight was staged after difficulties had been overcome by the promoters. First Paulino demanded his purse of $10,000 in advance in $1 bills. After these had been delivered, Cruz was nowhere to be found.

A search revealed that he was at home in bed. He also wanted cash in advance, and went to the arena after $1,750 was delivered to him.

The gate receipts were $20,000.

MID-ATLANTIC SCHEDULE HELD OVER

UNIONTOWN, Pa., March 25.—(AP.)—The Middle Atlantic League, at a meeting here yesterday, failed to adopt the 1929 schedule, as had been planned, pending decision on the question of whether the Johnstown entry will be able to play Sunday ball this year. Another meeting was called for Uniontown next Sunday.

Johnstown plays its week-day games inside the city and the Sunday contests outside. The club has so far been unable to negotiate rental of the outside park for this year, but it was expected the situation would be cleared up by next Sunday, when it is hoped a schedule can be adopted.

Forfeits of $2,000 were posted by each of the eight clubs in the league.

It was announced Saturday at Cumberland that the Maryland city would be in the circuit again this year after months of uncertainty. A campaign sponsored by Dr. H. B. Walker, Cumberland sportsman, and M. F. Prendergast resulted in the raising of nearly $8,000 to purchase the interests of James McGuire in the Mid-City Baseball Association, which held the Cumberland franchise. Dr. Walker, who was named president of the new organization, was at the meeting here.

John Byrne, field manager and first baseman for Cumberland last year and made a free agent since, also was present. Both Johnstown and Cumberland were reported to be angling for his services.

TITLE FIGHTS IN CHICAGO

Fields-Thompson scrap as the legitimate champion.

Thompson knocked out Dundee some months ago in a non-title bout at Chicago, but later took a trimming from Fields on the Coast. The Negro contender, weighing around 141 pounds, probably will be forced to give away at least five pounds to Fields.

DULL IN NEW YORK

The Fields-Thompson battle has been overshadowed, of course, by Thursday's lightheavyweight titular fracas between Tommy Loughran, the champion, and Mickey Walker, king of the middleweights. This battle, for 10 rounds, will be staged in Paddy Harmon's new Chicago Coliseum. Walker probably will be outweighed nine or 10 pounds by the champion, but the "Toy Bulldog" never has found that very harmful to him.

He packs a tremendous punch, but he may find it more than a little difficult to pierce the cagey Loughran's defense. As a boxer, Loughran has few equals, but he does not punch hard enough to bother Walker.

New York's boxing fans are in for a dull week. Madison Square Garden will be dark so far as boxing is concerned for the next five weeks, while the circus makes its annual stay and the smaller fight clubs have little to offer in the way of high class fistic entertainment.

FIGHTERS SET TO GO

CHICAGO, March 25.—(AP.)—Young Jack Thompson, sinewy image of the immortal Joe Gans, battles Jackie Fields, pride of Chicago, for the N. B. A. world welterweight championship in the Coliseum here tonight. They will clash in a contest scheduled to go 10 rounds or less at the welterweight limit of 147 pounds. The National Boxing Association, which ruled Joe Dundee's title vacated because he refused to defend it since winning it two years ago, will recognize the winner as the legitimate champion.

Promoter Jim Mullen will present the winner with a $5,000 diamond studded belt, emblematic of the championship. Paul Prehn, president of the N. B. A. and chairman of the Illinois State Athletic Commission, will make the presentation in the ring after the verdict has been reached.

Thompson, a spectacular and hard-hitting boxer, knocked out Dundee in two rounds in a match fought over the weight here last fall. Thompson, at that time, was forced to weigh, officially, 148 pounds, a pound over the class limit, but actually he weighed 129½ pounds. This morning he scaled 146½, indicating he will be well under the championship figure when the scales are set at 3 o'clock this afternoon. Fields also figures to be under weight.

Davis Tourney Gets Under Way

Bowlers from all sections of the tri-state district started rolling in the annual Davis sweepstakes, which got under way this afternoon on the Club alleys, downtown, with Lou Carroll directing.

Events for men and women bowlers are carded and indications are that some record scores will be made before the tournament comes to a close.

ENTRIES CLOSE TONIGHT

Bill Mehlhorn To Compete in British Open

MIAMI, Fla., March 25.—Eleven homebred professional golfers, 10 of whom participated in the $15,000 La Gorce tournament, ending yesterday, will represent America in the British Open championship, to be played at Muirfield, Scotland, beginning May 6. It has been announced here. Of this troup, 10 are members of the U. S. Ryder Cup team, which will play the British team at Moortown, near Leeds, April 26 and 27.

Bill Mehlhorn.

The Ryder Cup squad players are Johnny Farrell, national open champion; Walter Hagen, the defending British titleholder; Gene Sarazen, Ed Dudley, Al Espinosa, John Golden, Horton Smith, winner of the La Gorce event, Joe Turnesa, Al Watrous and Leo Diegel.

Wild Bill Mehlhorn, ignored in the Ryder Cup selection, also will play in the British Open.

FINE COURT YEAR OVER

added to the list of those who've been mentioned as possible successors to John Irwin at Carnegie Tech. Irwin's resignation, announced by Graduate Manager of Athletics Overend yesterday, leaves the head basketball coaching job at Tech up in the air.

At the start of last season, it was rumored that Davies was to leave the Dukes and replace Francis Stadsvold at West Virginia. In fact, Chick did dicker a bit with the Morgantown people, but the Dukes raised the ante and Davies did his cussing of the referees on the Bluff for another campaign. With the difficult schedule that confronts the Bluffites for next year, it is hardly possible that the Duquesne authorities will care to make a coaching change.

Pressure of business was given as the reason for Irwin's resigning. Taylor Allderdice High School, where Irwin is physical director, is to become a senior high school next year, and John's tasks will become so great that he will not be able to spare the time to coach at Carnegie.

W. & J. SPRING GRID DRILLS IN OFFING

WASHINGTON, Pa., March 25.—While some uncertainty prevails regarding the inauguration of spring football practice at Washington and Jefferson, Head Coach Andy Kerr said there was a possibility that the candidates would be called out for early drill immediately. The one possible obstacle to the start of the spring drill is the test period for many students coming immediately before the Easter recess, which extends from next Wednesday until Thursday, April 4.

Andy Kerr

Coach Kerr said the splendid weather of the past few days prompted a call for candidates at once. But that he would not post a notice for drill until he made certain what effect examinations would have in the restriction of the activities of prospective players, particularly those who are coming up from last year's freshman eleven.

Not much can be accomplished, however, at this time. And it would not be suprising if Kerr deferred his formal call for varsity aspirants until after the Easter vacation.

But it is certain that next week will see the Presidents in action and it is equally sure that when they do get started they will have a somewhat strenuous siege of workouts as Kerr is anxious to get a lot of men developed to fill vacancies created by graduations in June.

Handball Crown Goes to West Coast

NEW YORK, March 25.—(AP.)—The national four-wall handball championships have been shifted from Detroit to San Francisco, chiefly because of the sensational play of a 19-year-old Spanish boy from the Olympic Club, Alfred Banuet.

Banuet dethroned the defending titleholder, Joe Griffin, of Detroit, in the singles of the national championships here Saturday in straight games, 21-17, 21-17, and then dominated play in the doubles final in which he and his clubmate, Lane McMillan, upset the titleholders, Willis Kammann and Al Schuefelberger, of Detroit, 21-12, 21-19.

Long's Sport Comment

These trees bear a pulpy fruit, resembling a large pear in size and shape, that is generally served as a salad, with vinegar.

Recently Morgan sold his home in Seattle, bought some land on La Habra Heights in California and moved his mother, wife and 4-year-old son to Fullerton, Cal. He owns three acres now, and the bulk of the $15,500 that he is to get for risking his title against Santiago Zorilla in Los Angeles on April 2 will be devoted to the purchase of more.

Tod Morgan

BUT though he plans to be a gentleman farmer, Morgan has no thought of quitting the ring. He says he means to hang on to the game and his title just as long as he possibly can. Indeed, he hopes to shine more brilliantly in 1929 than in any previous year, as he has had an operation performed to restore the full use of his left thumb, injured several years ago, and declares he is in better shape than ever. Morgan has been a real fighting champion, even though his title may be called only a synthetic one. Moreover, it may surprise you to learn that he is the oldest champion now in the ring, with regard to the length of time that he has held his title.

TOD, who is a Scotch-American, and whose proper name, by the way is Bert Pilkington, won the junior lightweight crown from Mike Ballerino in 1925. All of the other present champions won their titles later. Sammy Mandell, and Mushy Callahan won the lightweight and junior welterweight crowns in 1926; Joe Dundee, welterweight, Mickey Walker, middleweight, and Tommy Loughran, light heavyweight, in 1927, and Andre Routis, featherweight, in 1928.

Gene Tunney, retired, won the heavyweight title in 1926, and it was only a few weeks ago that Spider Pladner qualified for recognition as the flyweight champion and the possible bantamweight title holder as well.

VOTEL EIGHTH IN A. B. C. TOURNEY

CHICAGO, March 25.—Ed Votel, of East Pittsburgh, who won the American Bowling Congress singles championship in 1926 with a 731 count, rolled into eighth place of Louis P. Peterson's individual classic yesterday. Votel dropped below the 200 mark on three occasions, opening with a 178 count. In his third and fourth games he ran into two splits, which gave him only 174 and 180 games. He came back with 231 in the fifth session, his high mark of the event.

Bill Adolphson of Greensburg, appearing on the same squad, failed to land among the leaders with total of 1,590. He counted the high individual game of the tourney in his third effort, 277. Their scores:

E. Votel, 178, 224, 174, 180, 231, 214, 227, 204; total, 1632.

W. Adolphson 177, 226, 277, 184, 188, 178, 183, 177, total, 1590.

NEW DOUBLES LEADERS

Art Kasal and Jimmy Mitchell, of St. Paul, Minn., crashed their way to the top of the heap in the doubles event in the A. B. C. tourney by hanging up counts of 420, 465 and 441, a total of 1,326 pins.

Their score gave the St. Paul pair the lead by a margin of 11 pins over Eddie Carey and Charles O'Gorman, Saginaw, Mich., the previous pacemakers.

H. Yahn, Milwaukee, slid into fifth place in the singles with a 679 score, while G. Bricker, Cleveland, toppled 676 to go into a tie with Charley Parr, of Jackson, Mich., for sixth place in the event.

Jeff Davis, Chicago, holds a tight grip on first place in the singles, however, with a record-breaking score of 723 pins. The standings:

Bowler, 77, Sets Pace for Elks

ST. LOUIS, March 25.—(AP.)—Capt. F. Newbeddy, of Detroit, despite his 77 years, rolled 713 for first place in the opening of the singles of the twelfth annual Elks national bowling tournament here, yesterday. He had one open frame in his three games, a split.

The Cherry Pickers, of Toledo, went into first place in the five-men event with an even 2,800 pins. The Toledo team of J. Hagerty and Ringeisen scored 1,271 for first place in the doubles.

Robbie Offers Henline for Infielder

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 25.—(INS.)—Manager Robinson of the Brooklyn Dodgers is willing to trade Catcher Butch Henline or Outfielder Gink Hendrick for a good utility infielder or southpaw. He revealed that the Boston Braves had refused to give up Shortstop Eddie Farrell for Henline. Robbie said that the Phillies and another club wanted Henline, but would not part with the players sought by Brooklyn.

Grantham's Son Ill; Boots Pays Him Visit

LOS ANGELES, March 25.—Sickness in his home at Phoenix caused Outfielder George Grantham of the Pirates to depart for that city yesterday. Among the sick is George Grantham, Jr.

The Tigers are training at George's home town.

ALL-STAR FIVE MEETS CHAMPS

By JULIUS LEVIN.

Boots Klinzing, star forward of the Goldensons, will lead a group of prominent County League players against the Duquesne Lafayettes at Duquesne High School tonight in a benefit game for Wesley Pfieffer, Lafayette veteran, who was seriously injured in a recent contest at Steubenville.

Klinzing has gathered together the best players enrolled in the County League and the all-stars should present a strong front against the loop champions. Pfiefer, one of the most popular players in local professional circles, boasts a large following of supporters and many of them will be out to see the game tonight.

The entire proceeds of the contest will be turned over to the injured athlete. Bill Griffith, veteran Tri-State Officials' Association referee, has agreed to handle the game free of charge.

DRIBBLES

North Side Community House, with Charley Hyatt in its lineup, will entertain the Penn Five, of Sharpsburg, on the Community floor tomorrow night.

The South Side Falcons meet the Knickerbockers at the Falcon Hall tonight in the second game of the West Penn League playoffs. A victory for the Knickers will end the series as the Strippers copped the first decision.

STAR'S DEATH CASTS PALL

are well-liked in San Francisco. Mulligan long was a favorite in the lineup of the season. The senior club has had the "play" at the Golden Gate City, but Red Killefer bids fair to make a flag contender of the Missions.

Carl Frey has made a fine impression on the Pirates. The absence of the Waner boys gave Carl his chance and the Pittsburgher jumped at it. He has played all three of the outfield posts with neatness and dispatch and his batting has been hard and timely.

THREE WEAR SPECS

Frey wears spectacles much of the time when he is not on the ball lot. His eyes feel the strain of reading and he has taken on the "specs" as a precautionary measure. Carl is a studious young man, who likes to keep posted on things other than of baseball. In Frey, Hill and Meadows, the Buccos are unique in having three athletes who use spectacles.

A ball hawk does not need days and weeks of preparation to "do his stuff." Lloyd Waner is one of the best fly-chasers in the big league, and Lloyd gave his San Francisco friends a sample of his skill in snaring Ernie Nevers' mad liner in the afternoon game. Nevers, by the way, seems to be better as a hitter than as a pitcher. His liner to Lloyd almost threw the wee center fielder for a 10 yard loss.

Independent Quints Play at Greensburg

GREENSBURG, Pa., March 25.—Mt. Pleasant, Scottdale, and Latrobe won their first round battles in the Westmoreland County independent basketball tournament here, Saturday night, defeating the Greensburg Phantom five, the Templar Club and Bovard respectively.

Magyars to Play Local Soccer Club

CLEVELAND, March 25.—(AP.)—The Cleveland Magyars entered the western final of the National Amateur Soccer Cup competition for the second straight year by defeating the Detroit Albions, 5 to 0.

NEW YORK, March 25.—(INS.)—The Hakoah soccer team, of New York, will meet the Madisons, of St. Louis, western champions, at St. Louis next Sunday in the first game of the final round for the national championship. The Jewish team defeated the New York Giants in Brooklyn yesterday by a score of 1 to 0 in the eastern final of the national challenge cup competition.

DE LA SALLE COPS CATHOLIC CAGE TITLE

CHICAGO, March 25.—(AP.)—Thomas Godfrey, blond passing star of the St. Michael's basketball team of Union City, N. J., was voted the Daniel A. Laughlin Trophy awarded the player considered of most value to his team in the national Catholic high school basketball tournament at Loyola University.

The Thomas D. Nash trophy, given the team making the smallest average number of fouls, was won by Ho. Redeemer, of Portsmouth, O. The team made two fouls in its only game with Decatur Catholic High, of Decatur, Ind. St. Theresa, of Detroit, won the award for showing the highest caliber of sportsmanship, in and out of play.

De La Salle, of Chicago, won the national Catholic championship in whipping St. Stanislaus, of Bay St. Louis, Miss., 25 to 16, in the final game last night.

Spalding Institute, of Peoria, Ill., state Catholic champions, won third place, defeating Decatur Catholic High, of Decatur, Ind., 24 to 14.

LOCAL RAILROAD BOXERS WIN

Maloney Dogs Win Bench Show Honors

Tomorrow night—Rangers at Toronto.

Saturday—(If third game is necessary, scene of battle will be announced Wednesday.)

NEW YORK, March 25.—(AP.)—The New York Rangers, champions of the hocky world, took another step toward their second Stanley Cup final by winning the first game of the semi-final play-offs from the Toronto Maple Leafs. The score was 1-0.

Paul Thompson and Butch Keeling, the same pair who accomplished the defeat of the Americans in the second place preliminary, accounted for the only goal, scoring early in the first period.

KEELING SCORES

After only seven and one-half minutes of the opening frame had passed, the tall young Thompson took advantage of a Toronto penalty to break through the Leaf defense. Carrying the puck down the right side of the rink, he passed across the goal mouth to Keeling, who was waiting in perfect position for a shot. Lorne Chabot, Toronto goalie, had no chance to make the save.

For the rest of the time, the champions were on the defensive, clinging grimly to the narrow margin. They battled on even terms through the second period, which was as fast and exciting as the first, then slowed up the play in the final frame.

Eleven penalties were called, four of them going to Ching Johnson, of the Rangers.

MOVE TO TORONTO

The Rangers, winner of the second place preliminary, have to win only one more game from Toronto to reach the final rounds. The series is of the best two out of three games. The second contest will be played in Toronto tomorrow night.

The winner will go into the final three-game series against the Boston Bruins, who reached the last round by a stirring 3 to 2 victory over Les Canadiens, of Montreal. It was Bostons' third successive victory over their French rivals in the first place series. The lineups:

New York—1.		Toronto—0.
Roach	G.	Chabot
Abel	D.	Smith
Johnson	D.	Day
Boucher	C.	Blair
Bill Cook	W.	Bailey
Bun Cook	W.	Cox

Spares—Rangers, Murdock, Thompson, Keeling, Vail, Oatman, Carson, Bourgault. Toronto, Horne, Duncan, Grant, Pettinger, Horner, Cotton.

Summary—First period, scoring, Keeling, Rangers, 7:83; second and third periods, no scoring. Penalties, first period, Johnson 2 for 4 minutes; Pettinger, 2 minutes; Duncan 2 minutes; second period, Johnson 2 for 4 minutes; Cox 2 minutes; Vail 2 minutes; third period, Bailey 2 minutes; Cox 2 minutes; Bun Cook 2 minutes.

BOXER INJURED IN BOUT DIES

FAIRMONT, W. Va., March 25.—(AP.)—John Securro, 24, Fairmont, who was injured in a four-round bout with Lonnie McCale, also of Fairmont, here Saturday night, died today of a cerebral hemorrhage.

McCale was arrested on a charge of felonious assault and authorities were searching for Morgan Lytton, Washington, Pa., promoter of the bout, who disappeared Saturday night after the fight.

Securro, who was not believed to have been injured seriously, took a turn for the worse today and died shortly afterward.

Do You Want to Succeed? Here's How One Man Did.

By B. C. FORBES

KANSAS CITY, Mo., March 24. Kansas City, unusually go-ahead, is fortunate in having a number of very outstanding citizens, men nationally known, who have achieved greatly, men who, though no longer young in years, are extraordinarily young in mind and, therefore, enterprisingly forward-looking.

To her elder business statesmen the city owes much of its very pronounced progress.

R. A. LONG upbuilder of the Long-Bell Lumber Company, one of the most gigantic lumber enterprises in the world, lives here. This is headquarters for the Woods Brothers Corporation, a unique organization which tames rivers and makes their wandering waters create new land, which dares to launch novel undertakings which make millions, and always, everywhere it functions, makes friends. William T. Kemper, chairman of the Commerce Trust Company, has the distinction of being the father of three bank presidents, James M., Rufus Crosby, and William T., Jr.

Walter S. Dickey has done much to develop local natural resources and to encourage civic enterprise. A. H. Loomis is another outstanding citizen.

One Kansan I was particularly eager to meet because of his record and reputation in large-scale business, in high politics and in public spirited work for city and state, the man who gave Missouri her wonderful network of highways—Theodore Gary.

THEODORE GARY, because of his influential standing in the strategic Middle West, has been a president-maker oftener than once. He has developed notably successful enterprises. I sought him out to get from him some of his philosophy of business and of life. Here are tangy observations:

"If you are not successful, do not hesitate to change your business, your occupation or your location."

"Frequently young persons say they want to get settled. The man seeks a job that permits him to be at home. There is one steady, settled job in every sizeable business—that of janitor. The better the job, the more the activity."

"The real dividing line between successful and mediocre activities is willingness to take any reasonable risk involved in a given undertaking."

"Determine to be prosperous. Be sanely ambitious. Omit all unnecessary thoughts, words and deeds. Reliability rates ahead of ability. It is not enough to be truthful, it is essential to know what the truth is, especially in business matters. Absolute fearlessness is essential in great accomplishment; it can be enjoyed to the full only by honesty in all things."

"Tell the truth to those entitled to know; to others tell nothing."

"Whatever is within your power, do. Whatever is without your power (death, etc.) accept in full confidence of the outcome."

"Think constructively. If you are earning $1,000 a year, do not consume too much time on how to save $100. Rather, think, plan and determine to increase your earnings. This state of mind is paramount."

"Be examined every six months by your physician and your dentist. Determine that you are well and that you will keep well."

"Plan your thinking. Cultivate a good voice and clear expression. Practice reading aloud. Language is our most important possession."

"Avoid the negative. Confine your expressions to what you believe; rarely give expression to what you do not believe."

"To succeed, please the man above you and train a man below you to take your place."

"To him that can drive, the reins are generally given. Therefore show your ability to drive."

"Some things are your business; others are not. Be governed accordingly."

HOW'S this for foresight? When I asked him, this giant oak in the human forest admitted, "Yes, I'm building both a lake and an air field at my home so that my grandchildren, traveling by air, will come and see me."

FINANCIAL NEWS AND VIEWS

Money Test At Hand.

14 per cent call money rate jolted the market severely today, but despite some rather broad declines the list maintained an orderly appearance and it was evident late in the day that powerful interests were throwing in support here and there to prevent a really dangerous slump. Some interests in stock market circles were outspoken in their criticism of the situation arising out of the Federal Reserve Board's "spooky" proceedure over the past few days. Mysterious confernces daily and no official announcements had tightened the nerves of the Street to the extent that, as one observer put it today, "everybody is scared is death and nobody knows just why." The money market test is at hand, conditions are accentuated by the usual month-end and quarter-end demands from corporations and others. With the restrictive measures of the past several weeks, the open supply of funds for all purposes has been diminished. The expanded stock market is, of course, taking a larger share than ever, but the operations to curb this activity has naturally resulted in a curtailment of funds available for commercial uses as well. Whether tiday's 14 per cent will be exceeded late remains to be seen, but there is a possibility that those corporations whose cash holdings exceed their requirements will accept the opportunity of turning a nice penny by placing their funds in the call market.

Taxes Boosted Loans.

From best information obtainable at Washington it appears that the Federal Reserve Board meetings held here last week were to review the credit situation and not so much in contemplation of definite action. The impression is that undue significance was attached to these meetings. In view of the strong reserve position of the system, with a ratio of 71.7 there is the feeling that no strong reason is present for discount rate action. Reserve officials are especially reluctant to take rate action because of fear that business and industry might be impaired. The heavy increase in brokers' loans last week is not regarded as serious or unusual in view of income tax payments at that time. Brokerage firms did a huge business in 1928 and therefore these tax payments are unusually large, necessitating considerable temporary borrowings. It would have been rather surprising had not the total increased at that period.

No Reserve Announcement.

Gov. Young, of the Federal Reserve Board, refused to comment on meetings of the board held Friday and Saturday. It was indicated, however, that whatever subject was discussed had been settled, since it was said that if a meeting were held today it would be routine. Indications were that no statement or announcement will be forthcoming from the board concerning its activities of the latter part of last week.

Should the Federal Reserve rediscount rates be raised and cut down the supply of bank funds available for loans against securities, Wall street believes the deficiency, in part at least, would be made up by increased loans for account of "others," chiefly corporations. Annual reports of corporations have shown, in many instances, large cash reserves and some statisticians estimate cash resources of big industrial, railroad and utility companies to be more than $10,000,000,000, or three and one-half times as great as the loans for "others" reported by the Federal Reserve Bank of New York.

Municipal Offerings.

Municipal security offerings scheduled for this week total $58,031,253, the largest since the second week of January when $58,076,994 in bonds were offered. Included in today's offerings are $4,000,000 State of Tennessee bridge bonds due in 15 years and callable after seven years. State issues rarely are callable. Another unusual feature is that they are redeemable at 101. The largest issue for the week is $28,000,000 State or Arkansas 4½ per cent highway and toll bridge bonds.

Protecting England's Gold.

The London Financial News discussing the international monetary situation and the gold movement says: "It appears that new tactics have been adopted to prevent the shipment of gold from London to New York. When South African gold is available, sterling receives support and appreciates to a level which enables the Bank of England to purchase the metal at a comparatively low price. Subsequently sterling is allowed to relapse until the next Cape gold arrival. Possibly support is provided by American authorities desirous of preventing the shipment of gold from Europe or, again, timely recoveries may be due to French selling of dollars."

Amsterdam reported today that there are no signs of uneasiness in financial circles there over the advance in the discount rate of the Bank of the Netherlands and the viewpoint is that foreign influences, especially the high call money rates in New York, were the sole cause of the rise. It is expected that other European rates will now be advanced.

LIQUOR ARRESTS MEAN JAIL

An immediate taste of jail life is in store for all accused violators of the prohibition law, it was evident from a change in policy announced today at prohibition headquarters.

Hereafter all persons arrested in raids must post bonds personally with the United States Commissioner, rather than with the arresting officers. Until the bonds are posted the defendants will be kept in jail. This new proceedure in most cases will mean that the prisoners will spend one night, if not more, in jail.

The order went into effect Saturday when nine men, including Harry Dippel, were taken in raids. They had to spend the week-end in jail, bonds not being acceptable on Sunday.

Dippel was taken in a raid on the St. Clair Inn at 5700 Penn avenue. The place was enjoying the peak of the Saturday night trade, prohibition agents say, when they rushed in. A score or more of women customers were escorted to the street and tests made of dark-colored liquids.

HONOR FOR GEN. SARRAIL LOST IN TRIBUTE TO FOCH

PARIS, March 25.—(AP.)—Gen. Maurice Emmanuel Sarrail, who might have had the job given Marshal Foch had a government of the left ruled France in 1917, lay in death today virtually unperceived in the midst of the national mourning over the marshal.

Huge throngs stormed the Arc de Triomphe for a glimpse of the coffin of Foch while only a handful journeyed to the house in Boulevard Pereire to view the body of the general who was slated to be supreme chief of the French army had Joseph Caillaux succeeded in his political ambitions.

Known as the victor in the first Verdun battle in 1914, then as commander-in-chief of the Salonica campaign, and still later as the man who bombarded Damascus, even the most bitter political enemies of Gen. Sarrail admitted that he was a great military leader.

There ended his resemblance to Marshal Foch. In other features of life they were as far apart as the North and South poles. Gen. Sarrail was an active politician and a candidate for parliament on a radical ticket that bordered upon Red. Marshal Foch always eschewed politics severely.

Sarrail was a noted anti-clerical and free thinker and had jailed most of the Catholic leaders in Syria; Foch was a fervent Catholic with a brother a Jesuit priest, himself educated by Jesuits and with the habit of attending mass every morning while in Paris.

A taxi driver on route to the home of General Sarrail and wearing the emblem of the Communist party in his coat lapel, said rather sadly today as he passed immense crowds en route to the other: "He picked out a bad time to die." This seemed to him to sum up the situation of his beloved radical, Chief General Sarrail.

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, March 25.—(AP.)—The bond market today turned irregular when banks called more than $15,000,000 in loans with a resulting advance in the call loan rate to 10 per cent. Trading was on a restricted scale.

The Federal Reserve Board, which met in Washington Saturday, again went into session today, and traders also began to become apprehensive over the New York and Chicago bank meetings this week. Bankers' acceptance rates were advanced for the second time in a week.

Anaconda Copper 7s opened 2 points higher at 256, but in the later selling slumped to 253. Chile Copper 5s were off nearly a point despite 24 cents for the red metal.

International Telephone convertible 4½s were an individual strong performer, pushing up to 119 for an over the week-end gain of more than 2 points. Later profit-taking reduced this gain. Other utilities were inactive.

There was little trading in the rails. St. Paul adjustment 5s held around 78, Saturday's closing level. In the transactions, Brooklyn Manhattan Transfer sinking fund 6s lost a point.

U. S. government securities were mixed. Liberty first 4¼s were under pressure, but Liberty 3½s, Liberty fourth 4¼s and Treasury 4¼s advanced.

NEW YORK, March 25—(AP.)—Transactions in the most active bonds on the New York Stock Exchange today were as follows, 000 omitted in sales column (United States bonds in dollars and thirty-seconds of dollars).

STOCKS BREAK TO NEW LOWS FOR YEAR

NEW YORK, March 25.—(AP.)—Heavy selling for both accounts imparted a decidedly reactionary trend to the price movement in today's stock market. Scores of leading industrials and rails broke through their February lows, the previous resistance points, and at least 30 dropped into new low ground for the year. A few issues were run up 3 to 9 points in the early trading, but these gains were practically wiped out, and by early afternoon a long list of issues were selling 2 to 10 points below last week's final quotations.

Call money renewed at 9 per cent, but the rate was advanced to 10, when banks called from $15,000,000 to $20,000,000 in loans, and was expected to go higher within the next few days. Heavy withdrawals of funds from New York have been made by out-of-town institutions, particularly Chicago, where individuals and corporations were asked to make available their surplus funds for collateral loans in that city.

BOARD MEETS AGAIN

With the Federal Reserve Board meeting again in Washington today, Wall Street traders continued to show alarm over the credit situation. Unconfirmed reports were in circulation around Wall Street, that banking and stock exchange authorities had virtually served notice on pools to suspend operations, because of the seriousness of the state of credit. As a result, there was heavy liquidation of pool stocks, which was stimulated by reports that some of the large operators, previously identified with the "Bull" campaign, had either liquidated their speculative holdings or taken a short position in the market.

Another advance of ¼ of 1 per cent in bankers' acceptances, placing them ½ of 1 per cent above the prevailing federal reserve discount rates, also had a depressing effect on sentiment.

AUTO SHARES LOWER

Selling was particularly urgent in the merchandising and automotive groups, many issues in the former group having sold at 20 to 30 times their earnings, while the liquidation in the latter group was inspired by reports of unusually large stocks of cars in dealers' hands.

Among the many issues to establish new low prices for the year were Union Pacific, Rock Island and Reading railroads, Sears Roebuck, Kresge, Jordan, Brockway Motors, Gardner Motors, Coca Cola, Postum, Fisk Rubber, International Match Preferred, Johns Manville and Anaconda Copper (New Stock).

LOSE GAINS

International Telephone practically canceled an early gain of 9 points and Curtiss, Goodyear, General Electric and Radio also were unable to hold their early advances. American and Foreign Power dropped 9 points below Saturday's close, A. M. Byers 7, Chile and Anaconda Coppers and Union Carbide 6 each and Kennecott, Detroit Edison, Safeway Stores and Warren Bros. 5 points or more. U. S. Steel common dropped below $180 a share.

CHICAGO BOARD

CHICAGO, March 25.—With reports current that in some sections the conditions of domestic winter wheat was the best in years, wheat prices averaged lower today. Advices were also at hand indicating that in Western Nebraska and Western Kansas the plant was everywhere alive. Opening unchanged to ⅝c lower, wheat afterward scored rallies. Corn and oats were relatively strong, with corn starting unchanged to ½c higher and subsequently showing some advance all around. Provisions inclined downward.

Although bearish domestic wheat crop reports were plentiful today, the news from field observers was by no means entirely one-sided. Kansas reports of high winds counted as a bullish factor and a leading expert telegraphed that between Great Bend and Sylvia, Kan., wheat was spotted, some fields having a good stand, but that the general condition was thin with small growth. He added there was ample moisture an inch below the surface, but the top soil was caked and dry, and the crop would show rapid improvement with rain to soften top soil.

Despite weakness which the wheat market showed at times today with connection with disposal of accumulated selling orders, readiness with which offerings were absorbed helped to cause subsequent upturns. It was pointed out the market had suffered a decline of 8c in the last week, and that at least a temporary recovery was natural. Besides, Liverpool quotations were failing to reflect weakness here, and the amount of wheat on ocean passage showed 2,408,000 bushels falling off, compared with a week ago.

Gimble Brothers.

Presenting their annual statement to stockholders, Gimbel Brothers have announced net sales for the year ended January 31, 1929, were $121,109,396. Inventories at the end of the year were $17,617,793.93, which compares with $22,020,774.64 two years ago, a total reduction of over $4,400,000, giving the company its best turnover. Cash on hand was $2,806,417.49, and it was noted that the current liabilities have been reduced more than $2,000,000 from the figure of last year. Sixty-three hundred shares of preferred stock were repurchased by the company, reducing the annual outstanding to $19,740,000. A new branch of Saks Fifth Avenue was opened in Chicago on March 11 and is exceeding the expectations of the company. The president, Bernard F. Gimbel, in his report issued to the stockholders today, states: "On behalf of the officers and directors, I herewith report the operations of your company for the fiscal year ending January 31, 1929. During the year, the management has made changes in methods and personnel and believes that the business is now organized along sounder lines. The changes made have already begun to justify themselves and should in the future be gradually reflected in the volume of sales and in the profits. The volume of sales has been approximately maintained. The net loss of $909,795 during this period, as shown on the attached statement, is due not only to the cost of the changes but also to the considerable reduction in inventory which was deemed advisable. A branch of Saks & Co., Fifth avenue, was opened on March 11, at the corner of Michigan avenue and Chestnut street in Chicago, where about 40,000 square feet have been leased. Your company has obtained an option to purchase this building if desired."

Moody Sees Changed Bond Market.

The day when the bond market as a whole can be looked upon as holding possibilities of capital appreciation, when new issues are "snapped up" and go quickly to a big premium over the offering price, is fairly definitely past, subject, of course, to the trend of money rates, according to John Moody, president of Moody's Investors Service, who states that if such factors as the European experience are taken into consideration, influence of customer and employe ownership of stocks, development of investment trusts, etc., that there appears to be definite reason for believing that bonds as a class will never regain the preponderant popularity they once held. "If new financing is to be done through stocks, and if old bond issues are to be gradually retired, then, at least, we must not expect an oversupply of bonds and debentures for those who still demand or need that sort of investment," says Mr. Moody. "Probably, in the course of years, the bond market will become synonymous with a 'gilt edge' market and will not include a hundred and one different shades of quality, which now characterizes it. These are definitely bullish points. Putting both sides together, it appears that this broad change is distinctly to the good, so far as bond investors are concerned. It should result in a relative stabilization of the bond market conditions." According to Mr. Moody, there is no reason to suppose that foreign bonds, either governmental or company obligations, will fall off in quantity or quality in the near future. They may, he says, decline temporarily in popularity, as they have done recently, on account of so much interest in stocks, but their merits as income producers will sooner or later be clearly seen.

Bankers For Dairy Chain.

Moore, Leonard & Lynch and George M. Forman & Co. are bankers for Foremost Dairy Products, Inc., a newly formed dairy company which will be one of the largest of its kind operating in the South. J. C. Penney, founder and chairman of the chain-store organization bearing his name, will be chairman of the board of the new company. The capital structure will consist of 1,473,250 purchase money obligations, 500,000 shares of convertible preference stock, of which 125,000 shares will be outstanding, and 1,000,000 shares of common stock, of which 250,000 shares will be outstanding. The valuation of the company's securities at the outset of operations will be in excess of $5,000,000. Proceeds of the purchase money obligations, preference and common stocks will be used in part to pay for the acquisition of existing properties and to supply the company with working capital.

Portugal Reduces Interest on Bonds

LISBON, Portugal, March 25.—(AP.)—The Portuguese minister of finance, in view of the situation in the treasury, today decreed that interest on government treasury bonds shall be reduced to six and one half per cent. The government recently has been paying 10 per cent interest on these securities.

OUTPUT CHECK ALONE CAN AID OIL BUSINESS

By GEORGE H. SNYDER.

OPINIONS on the future trend of oil production and prices are many but there is very little agreement, even among those whose ears are close to conditions in the producing fields. Whether the depression of 1927 is to be repeated this year depends largely on the success of movements now under way to further curtail the output of crude oil.

Prices of oil slumped sharply two years ago under the pressure of a production far in excess of demand and the accumulation of enormous amounts of oil in storage. The year was disastrous for most companies but conditions were improved in 1928 by concerted attempts to curtail the output. The crude oil market was strengthened and gasoline prices materially improved. The amount of oil being raised to the surface was brought into line with demand although the stocks still remained large.

ALL would have gone well had not new fields in California, Oklahoma and Texas been developed. The initial production of new wells in January was 675,551 barrels which was 43 per cent more than the initial output in the same month of 1928. This, together with the fact that stocks of crude had been increased sharply in November and December was responsible for reductions in the prices of crude oil last January.

The American Petroleum Institute is now trying to induce the producers to bring their production on April 1 down to the level which prevailed on that date a year ago. This would mean that output in this country would be cut 8 per cent.

SOME success has already been obtained in new proration agreements but several of the large fields are still to be brought into line. The nation's production in the week ended March 16 averaged 2,631,519 barrels a day, a reduction of 72,000 barrels from the peak of two weeks before.

The greatest reduction has taken place in Oklahoma through the establishment of a six-day week. The closing of wells on Sunday resulted in a drop of 63,000 a day in that area's output in two weeks. California has made some progress by cutting its output 10,000 barrels a day. Further curtailment is expected there. The statistics show that Texas has not been successful so far in bringing its flow of oil into check.

The pessimists doubt that proration efforts will be sufficiently successful to prevent further cuts in crude prices while the optimists are confident that real progress can be made. The latter group points to the fact that some of the new fields have not been fully up to expectations. In addition, much of the present stocks consists of low grade crude from which the gasoline recovery will be small.

AS FURTHER points on the favorable side, the companies controlling Venezuelan oil are reducing their imports. Crude from this source can be laid down at refineries on the Atlantic Seaboard for less than California crude so that Venezuela must be considered as an important part of our supply for domestic use.

The oil policy announced by President Hoover is another bullish factor. The United States government is the largest owner of oil lands. Production from government fields is now 6 per cent of the country's total. The policy of not disposing of additional government oil lands will act as an important check to future production.

MODERN road building and the trend toward fireproof building construction have made concrete one of the most important building materials of the present day. There are practically no construction jobs that do not use a large amount of concrete in some manner. The growth of the cement industry to keep pace with this is common knowledge. But few know that another industry has been growing with it and has become one of the fundamental sources of the nation's raw materials.

Sand and gravel are necessary components of concrete. The increased use of cement and the fact that modern engineering requires precise standards have made the digging and preparation of sand a gigantic business handled by large companies with substantial capital investments behind them.

One of the largest sand companies in the United States which is the dominant organization in the industry in Eastern Pennsylvania is to be refinanced by a leading international banking house this week. The company has total assets of $22,000,000 which indicates that the digging sand is "big business."

NEW YORK CURB MARKET

NEW YORK, March 25.—(AP.)—The curb market was generally unsettled today, reflecting widespread nervousness over the credit situation. Bullish operations in a few issues in the late forenoon were abandoned when call money touched 10 per cent. Still higher rates for bankers' acceptances were announced, and the Federal Reserve Board again went into session in Washington.

Declines appeared throughout the list, but generally the situation was kept well in hand. The stocks also traded on the Chicago Stock Exchange were steadied by a statement from R. Arthur Wood, president of the Chicago institution, that there is nothing critical about the money situation in Chicago, and denying reports that a money pool had been formed and further stock listing refused.

Firestone Tire was pushed up 9, and Ford Motor of Canada 8 points in the forenoon. Aviation Corp. of the Americas moved up 5 points, and Goldman Sachs Trading made a moderate gain. These gains were not all maintained later however, and the motors developed 5 points. Hiram Walker was another weak spot, dropping more than 3 points.

The oils were irregular, but fairly well supported. Continental dropped 2 points but rallied somewhat. Indiana sagged, then turned firm. Humble moved up 4 points, then ran into selling. Mines turned weak, Newmont dropping 6 and Noranda 3 points.

Following is the list of transactions on the New York Curb Exchange, giving all stocks and bonds traded (00 omitted in sales column of stock list; 000 omitted in sales column of bond list):

LOCAL MARKET IGNORES EARLY DECLINE IN N. Y.

The lowering tendency of prices in the eastern market had only moderate influence on securities on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange today.

While there were several fractional declines noted at the opening of business here this morning, there was a noticeable absence of selling pressure, mainly attributable to the assumption that there has been practically no inflation of prices in the local market. During the past few months of hectic trading in New York and other markets, the Pittsburgh list has indulged in very little pyrotechnics with the result that the technical position is sound and the market is usually able to withstand the temporary periods of nervousness created by the intermittent breaks on other exchanges.

The volume of trading in the early market here was fairly heavy, but the price swings failed to break out of the fractional scope. Most of the recently active leaders were handled at about the same quotations prevailing at the close of last week with slight advances in some issues being offset by equally slight declines in others. The Arkansas Gas stocks were practically unchanged. The common was handled at 5¼ and was steady at that figure while the preferred sold again at 8¼, the price at which it has been selling for a week or more.

There were no changes of note in the heavy industrial group. United Engineering, Vanadium Alloy and Blaw Knox changed hands at last week's figures, while the specialties came into the market firm in some cases and slightly lower in others, but in no instance selling as much as a point away from Saturday's finals.

RIVERS BATTER AT LEVEES

CHICAGO, March 25.—(AP.)—The Mississippi and Missouri rivers still threatened to batter down levees and overrun their banks today as patrolmen and apprehensive residents watched eagerly for signs of relief.

The Quincy, Ill., district that had watched expectantly for the Mississippi to fall for several days was again disappointed last night when the river reached 20.3 feet, the highest since 1903. The belief persisted that the crest would soon be reached.

Reports from Keokuk, Ia., that the river had fallen six inches were gratefully received by levee patrolmen, especially in the Gregory, Mo., district, where the fight had been almost given up as hopeless yesterday.

Canton, Mo., also was threatened by the exceedingly high stage of the river. A hastily-constructed sandbag crown on the levee protecting a large section of the town was within two inches of being overflowed.

Members of the National Guard and Naval Militia patrolled the flooded Indian Grave district near Quincy to prevent looting when the water recedes and to assist the families driven from their homes.

DIAMOND DRILL CUTS OIL COST

WICHITA, Kan.—Gone are the days when oil companies spent millions of dollars drilling wells simply on indications of surface geology.

Now prospective oil areas are examined by miniature drilling operations, known to the industry as "core drilling."

The core drill, three inches in diameter, has a diamond-edged bit. It bores into the shale and rock far beneath the surface, bringing up in a small receptacle samples of the formations at various depths for examination by trained geologists.

In Kansas, oil companies have core-drilled from Wichita west to the Colorado line, a territory where more than 100 "wild cat" tests are under way. The recently discovered oil pools in the state are mainly in core-drilled fields.

VETERAN IN FORD THEATER AT LINCOLN SHOOTING, DIES

WASHINGTON, March 25.—(AP.)—Myron M. Parker, who was in Ford's Theater the night that Abraham Lincoln was assassinated and has been prominent in local civic activities for more than 50 years, is dead at the age of 82.

In 1885 he was in charge of the Masonic ceremonies at the dedication of the Washington monument, and subsequently he was a member of the commission which went to Cuba to investigate and report on the incidents which led up to the Spanish-American war.

Born in Fairfax, Vt., Mr. Parker's great-grandfather fought in the Revolutionary war and his grandfathers both fought in the War of 1812. He enlisted in the first Vermont Cavalry in 1866 and War Department records show he fought bravely in many civil war battles. Thrice his horse was shot from under him.

Before being mustered out in 1865, he had served as orderly both to Gen. George A. Custer and Maj. Gen. Winfield Scott Hancock. He was at one time a commissioner for the District of Columbia, served twice as Republican national committeeman from here and was a member of the inaugural committees for Presidents Garfield, Cleveland and Harrison.

MISSING PLANE HUNT SPREADS

CURTISS FIELD, N. Y., March 25.—(INS.)—Three planes took off here today to renew the search for the missing Sikorsky amphibian, which disappeared shortly after it left Norfolk, Va., with four men aboard early Friday.

Two of the planes were scheduled to fly over Waretown, N. J., where their searching activities were to be supplemented by a ground force of 25 coast guardsmen. The third ship headed for Lakehurst, N. J.

The ships were ordered to head for Waretown as a result of a report by John Walk, of Atlantic City, that he saw a plane wobble into a nosedive over the weeds near that town.

The planes sent to Waretown are Ireland amphibians, piloted by Clifford Webster and Robert Crew and Harold McMahon and George Berry.

The third ship, a Cesna monoplane, piloted by Randolph Enslow and Kindon Normington, is being sent to Lakehurst to await developments.

LOITERER SHOT BY POLICEMAN

Shot by a policeman who had ordered him to move from the sidewalk in Eighth avenue, Homestead, early today, Theodore Tomasello, 20, of 201 West Eighth avenue, Homestead, is in Homestead Hospital with a bullet wound in the left leg.

Patrolman Steven Barron, who is alleged to have shot the youth, was suspended from duty and for a time detained at the borough police station. Burgess John J. Cavanaugh later ordered his release on his own recognizance. Both Cavanaugh and Police Chief Michael Maloney are investigating the shooting.

According to the police report, Tomasello and several companions were standing in Eighth avenue, near Amity street, at an early hour. The patrolman ordered them to move on and all except Tomasello obeyed. When the officer grasped the young man by the arm, Tomasello pushed him aside and ran. Patrolman Barron then shot him in the leg, according to the report.

WOMAN LEAVES $42,000

Mrs. Mary M. Kober, 327 Hastings street, left a $42,000 estate by her will probated today. She leaves her son, William A. Kober, what cash she had, saying he was a prospective business man and did not need funds. To two grandchildren, John L. and Louis T. Weis, she left her home and 20 shares of Washington Trust Company stock. A son-in-law George J. Andrews, receives the income from 40 shares during his life. At his death the stock goes to two other grandchildren, George C. Kober and Mrs. Mary K. Ladly, each of whom is given 20 shares outright. Michael J. Ehrenfeld is named executor.

British Miners' Fund Will Close Shortly

LONDON, March 25.—(AP.)—The Lord Mayors' Fund for relief of distress in the mining areas is expected to close shortly. Public subscriptions amount to $3,840,000, which with the government's pound-for-pound grant provides $7,680,000.

This amount is believed to be sufficient to meet the present needs and the conservative government does not wish to commit the next government, if it should be defeated in the elections, to the continuance of the 50-50 grant.

Slashes Ill Wife's Throat, Ends Life

PHILADELPHIA, March 25.—Apparently temporarily insane from brooding over the illness of his wife, C. E. Caravelli, 28, slashed her throat with a razor and then, after severing the veins in both wrists, cut his own throat. He died soon afterward and it was said at the hospital, where the woman was taken, that she probably would not live.

Town Minus Phones As Fire Threatens

JEANNETTE, Pa., March 25.—Without night telephone service, the village of Claridge sent automobile messengers to nearby towns early today when fire swept the grocery and apartment of Julio Zucilli, and the home of Frank Hazak, adjoining, causing $25,000 loss. Firemen from Harrison City, Manor and Jeannette prevented further spread of the flames.

LINER SLIGHTLY DAMAGED

LONDON, March 25.—(AP.)—The S. S. Minnewaska of the Atlantic Transport line, New York for London, had a slight mishap during a fog yesterday evening near the treacherous Goodwin sands. She was damaged on her port side above the waterline when she touched an unknown vessel.

Passengers were not disturbed and the liner continued to Tilbury docks. All her passengers reached London before noon.

It was at first reported that the Minnewaska had been in collision with the Danish steamer, Nicoline Maersk, but this ship was at the Panama Canal on March 21 and was reported in the martime register of New York at Callao, Peru, March 2.

So far as could be learned at steamship agencies here, no Pittsburghers were aboard the Minnewaska.

Three Nurses Held In Colonel's Death

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, March 25.—(AP.)—Three nurses at the Kuttenberg Hospital, near Prague, have been arrested on a charge of placing ground glass in the food of Col. Alexander Zimbaloff, formerly a member of Wrangel's army, and a physician in the hospital, resulting in his death.

Chicago Barbers Want $1 a Head For Haircuts

CHICAGO, March 25.—(AP.)—The "cut" in "haircut" has nothing to do with the retail price of that operation, the master barbers made clear today as they called a meeting to discuss raising the price to $1. Chicago now buys its haircuts for 75 cents a head.

Demands of journeymen barbers for a five-day week and a higher wage guarantee makes a higher price necessary, the master barbers said.

NEW IDEA IN MARKETING FOOD PRODUCTS
SUCCESS AND PROFIT PROVED OVER FOUR-YEAR PERIOD
CAPITAL NEEDED FOR EXPANSION
A system of manufacturing and direct merchandising which is now operating profitably in our city has proved a great success because it saves the householder about 20 per cent on products used daily in the home.
Additional capital is required to introduce these units in other centers. A few able executives or non-active investors, men or women, are invited to join in expanding this proposition. Only persons of highest integrity and standing considered. Any resident of company will be glad to meet any one able to prove his good faith and interest in the project. Can give the best of references and expect the same. This is a most unusual opportunity for those with capital to invest on a basis of positive safety and maximum profit. Address Box D 286, Sun-Telegraph.

BUGS BAER Says

GETTING DISTANCE WITH A LEAD PENCIL.

THE fact that spring was almost here has encouraged the interurban golfer to don his juvenile wardrobe and go in for big real estate developments with a niblick.

"Bugs" Baer

There are some powerful tourists who can golf all winter in California where the birds mutter in the trees and the orange blossoms twitter in the glasses.

But your Eastern-by-Northern golfer cannot become an influential excursionist on the playgrounds of America. He must stay indoors during December, January and March and wait for the snow to melt on the replaced divots.

Next month will be the glorious chronological inauguration of the dufferinos who possess semi-detached memberships in outdoor sanitariums.

April is the big month for the boy who has some distance hooked on to his slice.

It is then that he can play either winter rules or golf.

Winter rules mean that honesty is merely a matter of temperature.

The fairways are in bad shape in spring and the dufferoso blames it on the weather. Around July he becomes an accessory after the fact.

But, while winter rules are on, he can tee up his ball and tee down the number of his strokes.

There are at least 76 recorded cases of turf sluggers who got sunstrokes while playing winter rules in August.

The best way to improve your game is to play winter rules all the year round.

Some golfers subsidize their consciences by compelling their caddies to wear raccoon coats during heat waves.

There are more men who can afford to play golf than there are golfers.

The result is that big golf clubs with thousands of members are never crowded. Except in the rough.

Which has compelled the rules committee to legislate against the forward pass within the 10-yard zone and to outlaw the dropkick from behind scrub oak and lilac bushes.

So he subtracts the 91 and gives himself a grand tee-total of 85.

Which indicates that even sport has a strange interlude.

Sitting high above the bank of river,
Upon tall stone uppermost of tree tops,
It surely is supreme, and bliss,
To wander in thought about everything.
Asking to your thoughts,
With sweet interrogation,
"What of the many things which have happened?"

II.

Let There Be Reward For Forney's Capture

In a ringing letter to each of the members of the Board of County Commissioners Presiding Judge James B. Drew, of the Court of Common Pleas, implies his dissatisfaction with the lack of response to his request that a reward be offered for the capture of Alfred F. Forney, fugitive slot machine king.

''The public conscience is shocked,'' Judge Drew states in his letter, ''by the brazen effrontery of this man. His conduct is an insult to our court. He has treated our law with contempt, and under these extraordinary circumstances it seems to me to be the plain duty of the Board of County Commissioners, in the fair exercise of their discretion, to immediately offer a reward for his apprehension. If this is done I am certain he will be brought to justice.''

The court, justly incensed by the defiance and contempt of it shown by this culprit, who fled from its jurisdiction on the eve of his trial, is entitled to the assurance that it is supported. Offering of a reward would be evidence of the support.

Possibly Forney might be captured eventually without resorting to extraordinary means, but just now he seems to be laughing at the law. If only for the preservation of the dignity of the court he should be shown that such effrontery as he has displayed is not to be tolerated.

It is the duty of the legal department of the county to make every effort possible to apprehend this bold fellow, and it is the duty of the County Commissioners to give the legal department such aid as lies within its power.

Relief Should Be Prompt For Mine Blast Needy

Privation, we read, adds to the plight of the families of victims of the Kinloch mine disaster. A widow is quoted as telling a Salvation Army worker that she and her family were without clothing. The two-week pay of $40 her husband received, she said, all went for food bought at the company store.

Clothing and other necessities, as may be required, should be supplied to this family and others that may be in want speedily. Not as charity, but as recognition of something earned but not paid. Not the coal company alone, but society, as represented in economic and industrial conditions, put this widow's husband at work in a hazardous occupation, where he could earn $40 in two weeks, and had to spend it all in a company store.

Such compensation as the law allows will be available to the family eventually, but just now it is badly in need of payment of the debt society owes. It never can be wholly paid, but surely there will be response to the proclaimed urgent need of clothing.

He Didn't Know Enough To Quit

BRINGING HOME THE TWO-TOED SLOTH

This photograph was taken by the Crane Pacific Expedition, sent to discover strange things for the admirable museum that Marshall Field gave to the city of Chicago.

The sloths, a numerous family, slow in motion, walk with great difficulty on the ground, live up in the trees, crawling from limb to limb, and, strangest of all, throughout their lives THEY HANG HEAD DOWNWARD, as you see this sloth hanging to Mr. Schmidt's pole.

What happened to this sloth later we don't know. Probably he was killed, and stuffed, to adorn, still head down, an artificial tree branch in the Field Museum.

From this listless sloth we human beings may learn TO DROP A THING WHEN DROPPING IT IS WISE.

Many go through life hanging, as it were, head downward, never letting go, never making a desirable change.

If this sloth had known enough TO LET GO, drop the pole, scuttle as best he could into the bushes, he might be free in his happy Pacific home.

Some of US, if we knew enough to let go of that which we now hold, and try something better, would find a life more worth while.

On the other hand, the wise thing for the man who is really of the sloth type is to HANG ON. If he let go, he might be worse off than he is. The thing to do is to know WHEN to hold on, and WHEN to let go.

No two-toed sloth ever knew that, and many men never know it.

For one man that makes a failure in life because he holds on too long, half a dozen, perhaps, make fifty or a hundred failures, because they NEVER HOLD ON LONG ENOUGH.

Bible Passages

Kingdom of Christ

(PSALM 2)

WHY do the heathen rage, and the people imagine a vain thing?

The kings of the earth set themselves, and the rulers take counsel together, against the Lord, and against his anointed, saying,

Let us break their bands asunder, and cast away their cords from us.

He that sitteth in the heavens shall laugh: the Lord shall have them in derision.

Then shall he speak unto them in his wrath, and vex them in his sore displeasure.

Yet have I set my king upon my holy hill of Zion.

I will declare the decree: the Lord hath said unto me, Thou art My Son; this day have I begotten Thee.

Ask of me, and I shall give Thee the heathen for thine inheritance, and the uttermost parts of the earth for thy possession.

Serve the Lord with fear, and rejoice with trembling.

Kiss the Son, lest He be angry, and ye perish from the way, when His wrath is kindled but a little. Blessed are all they that put their trust in Him.

The Rhyming Optimist

Song Before Spring

NOW old Winter's grim ranks draw away,
Cloud and cold, sleet and snow;
Growing thinner and weaker each day
The defeated hosts go.
Men forget Winter's joys, Winter's cheer,
As they gaze to the south;
To the south whence gay Spring will appear
With a rose in her mouth.
For their hearts have grown weary of cold
And they thirst for the sheen
Of the slim willow-buds that unfold,
Their pale, shimmering green.
And their ears are all straining to hear
Robin's song on the air.
They wait, breathless, for Spring to draw near,
With a rose in her hair.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Elsie Robinson

EVERY so often I slump.

Go blah.

Not actually sick, not even tired, but as empty of ideas and energy as a busted balloon.

Whenever a slump came, I threw up my hands and didn't even try to do anything until the spell had passed. As a consequence, I always emerged from the slump with a lot of unfinished work and a bad temper. I'd have barely caught up with the work by the time another slump arrived. As a consequence, I wasted great spaces of life in having slumps, and getting over them.

Then, gradually, I began to get wise. I perceived with much reluctance that there was nothing unusual or distinctive in slumps. I had no monopoly on them as a writer. Everyone had slumps. Even people who are commonly supposed to possess no nerves or temperament had slumps.

It was plain that more life was actually wasted through slumps than through sickness or accident.

And there seemed to be no way to prevent them. Sometimes, of course, they came from indigestion or weariness, but, even with these handicaps removed, people slumped.

Some people went steadily through life, continuously constructive, triumphant over slumps. I studied their method. It was simple.

THEY WENT RIGHT ON PERFORMING.

They did not perform with their usual speed or brilliance. They had no gusto for performance. They became for the time, quite dull, automatic machines. But they performed just the same. And when they came out of their slump they had a solid volume of work to their credit and they were not hampered, as I was, by a clamor and confusion of unfinished chores.

Also—and this was a most striking discovery—they came out of their slump even sooner if they went on working. Inactivity, instead of shortening slumps, actually prolonged them.

When a slump comes along, I keep plugging along. The ideas and words may cease to gush and sparkle—but I put them down, anyway. And when at last the tide does turn, I have achieved something upon which I can build. I know now that when I surrender to a slump it isn't because I'm a Great Soul caught in the throes of destiny. It's because I'm plain lazy. There's plenty I can do, even if I am a Great Soul slumping. And I deserve a swift kick if I don't do it.

HOT AND COLD MOON

By Garrett P. Serviss

"Your article on the hot and cold moon is very interesting (as are all your articles), but will you explain why the moon, because of lack of atmosphere, reverses similar conditions on the earth? Applying your remarks to the earth's surface, the sunlight should grow hotter the higher one goes; hence the tops of high mountains, where the atmosphere is thin, should be far too warm to permit snow to collect. Project the mountain tops to the limits of the atmosphere and they should be 'hotter than boiling water.' But none of our aviators complain of surface heat as they climb for high altitudes.—J. H., Gloucester, Mass."

IT seems to be very difficult to "hand over" the conception that heat may be reflected without being absorbed by the reflecting surface. Absorbed heat is reradiated from the absorbing body; reflected heat, so to speak, glances off. The experimenters have concluded that only about 6 per cent of the solar heat received on the moon is absorbed by its rocks; the rest is immediately reflected like light. Morover, the absorbed heat is not conserved, as on the earth, by a blanket of atmosphere, which prevents its free escape into space. Absorbed heat when reradiated from an opaque body is called "obscure" heat, because it is of a lower grade of vibration than sun heat, and, for that reason, is much more effectively retained by the atmosphere.

If you will spend a day among the snows and rocks of Mont Blanc, nearly 16,000 feet above sea-level, you will quickly become convinced of the paradoxical truth that snow can exist where the temperature is "burning hot." Exposed rock surfaces there become greatly heated, and the sun's rays, falling on the uncovered hands or face are painfully hot, especially if encountered in some sheltered place where the air is still. A protected thermometer there tells the same story. Yet the snow fields that you clamber over are in some places hundreds of feet in depth, and melting occurs only on the surface. The snow masses press down through great ravines and become consolidated into "rivers of ice," called glaciers. When the lower ends of these glaciers reach the valleys at the mountain foot, where the amount of heat received from the sun is practically the same as above, but where the increased density of the atmosphere retains it, as it does not above, the same snow and ice, which a few thousand feet higher defied the solar radiation, dissolve into rivers of water.

Strange misconceptions prevail concerning the nature of heat. Many will not remember that heat is only a vibration of the molecules that constitute the heated substance, whatever it may be—solid, liquid or gaseous. Some ask: "How is it possible for heat to come from the sun when space is said to be almost inconceivably cold?" Space is cold only because it contains no molecules to be agitated by the energy radiated from the sun. It is more exact to speak of the radiated energy of the sun than of its radiated heat. The energy rays do not produce heat until they encounter some material substance whose molecules can be thrown into vibration.

The sun itself is hot because its constituent molecules are kept in intense vibration. This vibration produces so-called "waves" of energy in the ether of space. These waves, meeting a material object, become manifest again as heat. There is a good deal of theory mixed in with all this, but the theoretical part is all the time being corrected and improved. If we do not, as Edison says, know a millionth part of 1 per cent of what is to be known, at least we are learning a little day by day.

Tales That Are Told

The Conundrum

A WELL-KNOWN clergyman is in the habit of repeating his sentences several times to enable the congregation to grasp their meaning. On one occasion he came to the words: "Who was John the Baptist?"

He brought them out slowly and distinctly, and then repeated them. After glancing round the church he once more repeated the words, "Who was John the Baptist?"

To his surprise, a seedy-looking individual at the back of the church shuffled to his feet and remarked, "Look here, parson, I know there's a catch somewhere; but come on, who was he?"

Quits

A YOUNG woman was sent by her father to buy a number of neckties. She was fairly certain of the kind she wanted, and, in any case, did not want too much help from the clerks.

But the latter was a pressing youth and had a deal of advice to give; also he tried to be bright, and succeeded in annoying his customer.

"There," he remarked, with a knowing smile, "I'm sure he'll like those. All young men like them."

The girl glanced at the ties indifferently; then:

"Oh, he's not so young as you are," she said, sweetly. "He's a full-grown man!"

Worst Story I Have Heard Today

By WILL ROGERS

ONE of the old-fashioned stories is about a guy that was visiting in Switzerland. He was going to write a book or a play or something about Switzerland, so he went out into the country and got himself board and room in a peasant's cottage. He wanted to live in the most picturesque way possible, so that all the American women would go crazy about him when he came back and wrote a book that would give the low-down on the private lives of the Swiss peasants.

So the first night when he sat down to supper, he spied an antique-looking wooden bowl over in the corner of the kitchen, and he said he must have that to eat out of.

The lady of the house said no, and all the kids laughed at him, but he said, "Yes, that wooden bowl is all I'm going to eat out of while I'm here. I'm no better than you are for the present, see? I'll be primitive or nothing. I'm looking for local color, don't you see?

So they finally let him have his way, rather than lose a boarder that paid so well.

The first time he sat down to eat, a billy-goat came rushing at him from behind and upset him off his stool.

He got up and went on eating again, thinking how nice and primitive he was getting, and the goat butted into him again. This kind of eating finally got on his nerves, and after the fourth time he says, "I wonder why that goat picks on me?"

"Why," says the hostess, "only because it makes him mad to see you eating out of his bowl while he waits for his supper."

Another Job for Hoover

By Herbert Kaufman

But paradoxically, unemployment figures keep rising, too.

One reason is that the Stock Exchange still absorbs too many billions. This diverts them from productive uses, and shortens the supply of loanable funds.

Therefore, interest rates begin to approach a point where it's unprofitable to execute many projected expansions—which naturally entails proportionate lay-offs.

Railroad managements will prove reckless stewards of their properties, if they compete in the borrowing markets against crazed speculation.

So, it's quite in the cards for them to tighten purse-strings, and postpone all but immediately necessary replacements and extensions.

The bigger banks and the Federal Reserve Board unite in the opinion that our stream of riches must be conserved for commercial flotations instead of further watering securities, which are already bloated beyond all reasonable value.

Neither factories nor retailers can maintain peak output and sales if folk go jobless, fail to consume customary ratios of merchandise, and lapse in their automobile, radio and furniture installment payments.

But, after all, Wall street is only a minor and temporary factor in the problem, which basically concerns economics rather than finance.

We are entering into a new era—the Robot has come upon us faster than balance sheets have realized.

Man eliminating machinery is chiefly to blame for the reduction of industrial personnels. In every quarter, operations that recently required manual skill are falling into mechanical hands.

Automatons of incredible capacity and deftness are filling containers, pasting labels, testing and inspecting products—performing all sorts of duties at such savings in time and cost, that corporations will increasingly be compelled to dispense with entire classifications of help, meanwhile abandoning them to shift and drift into livelihoods for which they utterly lack experience.

Capital isn't to blame for the compulsions of progress. Local and international competition leave the manufacturer with no alternative. He must adopt prevalent efficiencies or pass from the picture.

And since the next decade will witness a steady intensification of this practice, among Mr. Hoover's inevitable responsibilities is an early survey to establish the probable range of occupational dislocation, together with such plans to meet it as lie within Federal authority and advisory resource.

His knowledge of engineering, and the multiplicity of his contacts as Secretary of Commerce, uniquely qualify him for the task.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, March 25.—Diary of a modern Pepys: Lay abed lulled by the changing voices of the city and F. Ziegfeld telephoned and discussed the worries of a producer. And yet, like most of us grumbling over our job, nothing could persuade him to do something else.

To luncheon at Lindy's on Broadway and strolled along the Rialto observing fine feathered theatrical folk and saw a movie star who is quite a dandy take change from a snap purse for a newspaper. Home to my drudgery and found a letter from John Early, the leper, announcing he had been healed.

In the evening to see Bert Lytel's smooth acting in "Brothers" and to a dancing rendezvous where among others I saw Jesse Laskey, Anthony Biddle and that ever present jewelry salesman Whats-his-name. So ate two helpings of shrimp and to bed.

After an hour at the typewriter I am without an idea worthy of type. And I have to live. Do you mind? It has just struck me Nothing is at least different for a topic. Anybody can write about Something. Few readers—a bar of something shivery, professor—realize the agony of those moments of mental sterility as free of ideas as table d'hote salad of dressing. So I'm going to record every impression just as it comes until this space is filled. Jonathan, revolute the windlass!

My wife pops in to show me a new hair lotion for which she has just spent a whole dollar in a beauty parlor. She thinks it might be helpful in sprouting a little grass on that growing open space North of 36. Optimist.

My dog is admiring himself in a full-length mirror. He does that by the hour—the vain little such and such. Most kiyoodles are shy of mirrors.

The mail and a package of chocolates from St. Joseph, Mo., arrive. Letter from Racine, Wis., inquires if I know "the secret of the larger life." Yeah, I know. Be virile—eat yeast. Letter from Seattle spanks me for misusing a word. There is no help for that. My words continue to grow wronger and wronger. Letter from Providence wants to know what commission I'll charge for selling a gate-legged table. O, whatever you think is right. I also take in stone steps to scrub and do a little roofing.

The young lady in an office across the street is adjusting her hair. She is one of the vanishing unbobbed and is the only left-handed shorthand writer I ever beheld. When she catches my glances straying that way too often she discreetly puts a screen between us. And I fake a yawn and begin to dust imaginary stuff off my sleeve.

My prissy pooch, with that vacuous look dogs have while scratching, is after something under his left ear, but his eyes are still glued to the mirror.

On my desk as this is written is a foot high pile of letters and clippings, a dictionary, a knife, two pencil sharpeners, a pen and ink stand, two wire clips, an ash tray from Bermuda, a stick of chewing gum, three patent lighters, a tube of paste and a sample cake of soap which is a sort of mascot. It has been there so long I do not know where it came from, but now and then I dig it out to see if it is all right. Somehow I'd hate dreadfully to lose it. Who me? O, I'm all right. Just little dizzy spells and a slight ringing in the ears now and then.

A knock at the door reveals a man who wants to know where Mr. Waltham is on this hotel floor. I didn't tell him, but I don't know anyone on this or any other floor. I've only lived on this stage eight years.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

ARE you satisfied when you are commended for one good piece of work?

So elated that you relax in trying to gain other triumphs?

Do you use up too much time in talking and thinking about your one praiseworthy accomplishments, and lose opportunity to gain other commendable results?

Because you have gained one thing, should you stop to gloat over it?

Get your breath, to be sure, but a second wind should make for greater results, and so on, increasingly.

Self conquest may be your greatest need.

Then there is good to be gotten by comparison.

Have you used your time as advantageously as your associates and neighbors?

Perhaps you are too slow, and again you may be too swift; but in any case, keep on trying for more and better accomplishments.
